reign of Louis XVIII only one denomination in brass was issued this being a siege piece for one Decime emanating from the Strassburg mint. Charles X and Louis Philippe issued no copper money for France but pieces of 5 and 10 centimes bearing their portraits were coined for use in the colonial possessions.

During the Second Republic the only copper piece was a revival of the one centime of the First Republic with dates 1848-51.

The issues of Napoleon III of the Third Republic were next described. Very interesting biographical notes were given with regard to the various die engravers and also many of the mint marks and all inscriptions were explained. The paper was admirably illustrated by an almost complete series of types, many in the finest condition.

On the motion of Mr. G. L. Shackles, F.R.N.S. seconded by Mr. W. Sykes, the reader was heartily thanked for his interesting contribution.

Exhibits. Mr. T. Sheppard, M.Sc., F.G.S., exhibited and described a large collection of silver and white metal medals, engraved, and from dies, issued in connexion with Archery. Several of these belonged to Hull and other Archery Clubs, and to illustrate the popularity of this one-time pastime, he exhibited various documents, books, pamphlets, etc. relating to "Toxophilology". Many of these related to Yorkshire and were over a century old. He also showed the massive silver arrow, presented by Sir Clifford Constable to the Hull Archers, The Horn Spoon, and many other Archery trophies.

Mr. Sheppard also exhibited 17th century Yorkshire tokens not previously in the Hull Museum Collection, and a miniature toy purse, or "long stocking", containing six silver pennies of William IV, dated 1837, evidently a child's toy.

The President exhibited and described a collection of upwards of 40 miscellaneous pieces including carpenters' marks, love and memorial tokens, tavern checks, etc., including a scarce Portobello medallion in pinchbeck and a leaden Papal bulla.

Mr. Digby Firth described a series of silver and copper coins of curious module from Asia and Africa; also some scarce encased postage stamps used as currency during the period of the American Civil War. Also a number of 17th century tokens including an unpublished Cornish farthing, the only specimen known, with inscription, Henry Dagge in Bodmin, 1664.

AUSTRALIAN NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

The July Meeting was held in the Society's Room, Education Department, Sydney, on Thursday, 22nd. The Hon. John. Lane Mullins, M.L.C. in the Chair.

Apologies were received from the President, Dr. Andrews, as also from Mr. Herbert Priestley, both being indisposed. Correspondence having been received, the Chairman then called on Mr. Henry E. Parkes to read his paper.

This proved a continuation of Section 2 of his essay on "Modern Sources of History" the first being "On Inscriptions" and the second "Coins" of which Part I "Fabric and Materials" has already been communicated. The present paper, Part 2, treated of "The Art exhibited on Coins and its historic value" and as a groundwork the author divided Numismatic Chronology into eight periods the earlier of which are founded on, but do not quite coincide, with Dr. Head's periods the reasons for divergence being stated in the paper. Periods I to V were treated of (periods VI, VII and VIII forming the subject of a subsequent communication), the influence of the Greek and Roman characters impressed on the art exhibited on the coins being commented on and illustrated. References were supplied to readily accessible and trustworthy autotypes for illustration of the various periods and the remarks thereon and coins illustrating all five periods were on view from the author's cabinet.

There was also on view from the cabinets of Messrs. Wills, Weaver, Hillman and Parkes, an interesting and representative Collection of silver and copper coins of the first French Revolutionary era (1789-1815) which will be more satisfactorily reviewed later in connection with an exhibition of pre-revolutionary coins arranged for an early date.

The special exhibits for this meeting proved of more than ordinary interest and are as follows:—

By Mr. E. Wills:

I. Two fine proofs of the George I halfpenny of 1717 in silver and copper; type Montagu I.

II. A fine French political Jeton. Obv. Crowned Mediaeval bust to r. Leg. LVDO • FRAN • REGINOEAPR. Rev. Crowned shield of France (3 fleurs de lis). PERDAM • BABILLONIS NOMEN. Diam. 25 mm.

By Mr. C. B. Hillman:

I. A five franc piece of "Eridania" L'An 10, in excellent condition.

This is one of the Minor Republics that came into existence during the French Revolutionary epoch.

II. A pattern half Crown in bronze of George IV by W. Binfield. Type Murdoch 429 (almost unique).

By Mr. A. B. Triggs:

A number of original documents of great historical interest and value were forwarded for exhibition by Mr. A. B. Triggs of Yass, some being of the Revolutionary Period.

Executed to the order of the Lord Mayor and Executive of the Citizens Decoration and Illumination Committee.

Note. The technique of these ten medals is of the highest order and the busts on the obverses reflect the greatest credit on the artist modellers responsible for them.

An interesting exhibition of Roman bronze and silver coins of the 1st Cent. A.D. was on view from the cabinets of Messrs. P. Larsen, Henry E. Parkes & C. J. V. Weaver.

It would be impossible to find another period so short — the compass merely of one single long life — yet so fraught with human interest that it has changed and coloured the tide of human life for all eternity. Roman law — the foundations of modern civilization — was gradually consolidating but a yet distant age was to see its completed codification. The high standard of art-technique of this period gave to us the splendid gallery of portraits exhibited on the coinage of this and the succeeding century. One is thus enabled to gaze on the contemporary and almost speaking portraits of Augustus, who after Caesar's death wore the velvet glove over the iron hand of absolute power posing as first citizen of a Republic that was but a shadow; of Tiberius, the man of craft and secrecy, rotten with vice but a statesman notwithstanding; of Caligula, the homicidal maniac who drenched Rome with blood; of Claudius, the good natured pedant shamed before all the Empire by the infamous Messalina; of Nero, madman, musician and art connoisseur; of the aged Galba, a Roman of the old Republican type, with whose stern virtue the degenerate times were out of sympathy, and whose severity and parsimony towards the legions, whose strict stewardship of the public moneys, following one who had distributed the Roman equivalent of twenty-two millions in gifts which he sought to recover for the state, caused his assassination; of the Flavian Emperors Vespasian and Titus, great soldiers and emperors both, and the conquerors of Judaea; of Domitian, third madman to wield Imperial power, and Nerva, whose one great act, — the adoption of Trajan — made possible the golden era of the Antonines.

But a few small coins of the period under review, without art or intrinsic value, from the Eastern fringe of the Empire yet outwedge in interest the rarest and most beautiful pieces struck in Rome itself for they are the coins handled by and familiar as household words to Jesus of Nazareth.

Plato and Pythagoras, greatest of Greek philosophers, appealed to the intellect; the Roman stoics, the greatest and best of whom was the Emperor Marcus Aurelius, in their lives and writings strove after a perfect life on earth; but all were powerless to alter the tenor of human existence. Ancient and modern ideals are as darkness to light; for the precepts and example of the Man of Sorrows, born to poverty in obscure Nazareth, preaching the religion of all-embracing and all-sufficient Love, brought hope into the drab lives of the multitude, changing for ever man's outlook on the world.

The mere enumeration of these little coins (ex Parkes' Collection) will justify this introduction.

Procurators of Judaea Nos. 1 and 2. Annius Rufus under Augustus A.D. 12 and A.D. 13. No. 3. Valerius Gratus A.D. 24/25. Nos. 4 & 5. Pontius Pilate 30/31 A.D. and 31/32 A.D. All under Tiberius. No. 6. Herod the Great, King of Judaea under Augustus. No. 7. Herod Agrippa, Tetrarch of Samaria under Claudius.

THE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY OF VICTORIA.

The monthly meeting of the above Society was held on Tuesday 13th July 1920, at 237 Collins Street, Mr. E. S. Anthony, President in the chair. After the correspondence had been read and received, a vote of thanks was passed to Messrs. Stokes & Sons, Die Sinkers of Melbourne, for their presenting the Society with the City of Bendigo Medal as issued to the children on H. R. H. Prince of Wales visit to that City.

Short addresses and papers on Coins of the first twenty years of the 19th century were read. The President took French Coinage, Mr. Fisher copper coins of George III., Mr. Walters, Prussian, Mr. W. A. Hall gold and silver of George III.

Exhibits :

Miss Graydon. Next of kin badge issued by the Commonwealth Defence Department, a copper token of H. M. S. Victory made from copper taken from that vessel.

Mr L. Waters. Medal struck by the City of Leipzig in 1813 to commemorate Prussian victory.

Mr. E. S. Anthony. War Medal 42nd Royal Highland Regiment commemorating Battle of Corunna, Medal Prince of Wales visit to Sydney, Napoleon 5 Ffrancs, Charles IV. of Spain $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{1}{4}$ Dollar 1806, George III. Crown 1820.

The monthly meeting was held on Tuesday 10th August 1920, at the rooms 237 Collins Street; Mr. E. S. Anthony, President in the chair. Resolved that a letter be sent to Mr. P. C. Clements on behalf of the members, sympathising with him in his illness.

The Secretary reported that he had received three medals from the City of Bendigo, as issued to the children on the recent visit of H. R. H. Prince of Wales. At this stage the continuance of the papers on the first 20 years of the 19th century was resumed.

Mr. F. Gardner spoke on English dollars and Bank Tokens illustrated with specimens during the reign of George III.

The President read Mr. Schafer's short paper. "The Maid on The Cent."

The Government of the United States made an offer of 1000 dollars for the most acceptable design to be placed on the new Cent. Some Indians travelled from the North West to Washington, thence to Philadelphia, to see the mint whose engraver was James Burton Longacre who invited them to his house. The engraver's daughter Sar. ., aged 10, enjoyed the visit of her father's guests. During the evening one of the chiefs took off his feathered helmet and war bonnet and placed them on the child's head, in the company was an artist who immediately sketched her and handed the picture to her father. Mr. Longacre knowing of the competition for the design of the new Cent competed for the prize, the Government accepted the design and the face of his daughter appeared on the coin, which was circulated for about half a century — over 100 competitors took part.

The Cent bearing the face of Sarah Longacre can claim to have passed through more hands than any other American coin.

Exhibits :

Mr. E. S. Anthony. Spade Guinea in fine condition, two dumps 1813; Irish Bank Token tenpence 1803.

Mr. L. H. Walters. Lettland (Russia) 50 Kopeck postage stamp printed on Bank Note paper.

The meeting of the Society was held on Tuesday 13th Sept. 1920, at the rooms 237 Collins Street, Melbourne, Mr. E. S. Anthony, presiding.

Two new members were elected.

The evening having been set apart for the exhibition of Commonwealth of Australia Pennies of 1919. The Secretary Mr. W. A. Hall showed eight specimens as follows : —

No. 1. Struck in Melbourne from English made dies, the words Commonwealth of Australia are of the plain Roman type.

No. 2. A small bead perpendicular to centre of bottom scroll close up, top scroll distinct.

No. 3. The bead to right of centre of bottom scroll close up, top scroll over one penny blurred, beads on upper margin of Crown (obverse) leading to Orb, indistinct and blurred.

No. 4. The bead to left of centre of bottom scroll close up, blister over E in penny. Top scroll blurred-beads leading to Orb very indistinct.

No. 5. Bead to left of centre of bottom scroll and lower in position. Top scroll distinct, beads to Orb blurred. No B M on shoulder of King.

No. 6. Bead to left of centre of bottom scroll, low in position. Top scroll blurred, a slight dent over top scroll with a crack leading across to N in Commonwealth beads to Orb blurred.

No. 7. Bead perpendicular, close up to bottom scroll, slight crack across 191, Beads leading to Orb distinct.

No. 8. Bead to left and very close to centre of bottom scroll. Top scroll distinct, crack across Com. 1919, 'alia.

Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. Are struck from dies made at the Melbourne Mint and the words Commonwealth of Australia are of a more ornamental design.

The President reported that this was the first attempt in Australia to make dies. The dies were really made from old ones, and the bead was placed on them to distinguish the coins struck therefrom.

Other Exhibits :

Mr. Gardner exhibited a set of bronze coinage of the Commonwealth of Australia, from the first issue of 1911 to the latest issue of 1919, with the view of showing the variation in the dies in the way of mint marks, were such existed. The design of the coins needs no description and the mint marks all occur on the reverse. He described them as follows : —

1911. Both Pennies and Half Pennies were struck at the Royal Mint, London, and have no mint mark.

1912. Both Pennies and Half Pennies were struck by Messrs. Heaton and Sons, at Birmingham, and have a small capital H between the lower ornament and the inner circle.

1913. The issue for this years bears no mint mark.

1914. The first Pennies and Half Pennies have no mint mark; but there are also Half Pennies having the small H as above.

1915. Some of the Pennies have no mint marks, but others and the Half Pennies again bear a similar capital H.

1916. On account of the war activities in Great Britain, it was found expedient to have the Australian bronze struck in India and this issue bears as a mint mark, a small capital I between the lower ornament and the inner circle on both Pennies and Half Pennies.

1917. Pennies and Half Pennies bear the same mint mark.

1918. Pennies and Half Pennies are similar to those of 1916-17, having the mint mark I.

1919. This issue of bronze, marks a new departure in coinage in Australia, as both Pennies and Half Pennies were for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth, struck at the Royal Mints at Melbourne and Sydney. Pennies at Melbourne and Half Pennies at Sydney. Although the silver minted in Australia bears the mint mark M, the first issues of the Pennies and Half Pennies bear no distinguishing mark. The later issue of the Pennies however, have a small bead between the lower ornament and the inner circle. This, as our President pointed out at the last meeting, was adopted to distinguish the Pennies struck from Australian made dies from those made in England, marking them as the first regal bronze coins of the Commonwealth struck from dies made by Australian workmen.

Mr. E. S. Anthony. Collection of 18 Nickel coins bearing collection to the proposed nickel coinage for Australia.

Mr. F. H. Schaffer. 50 Centime note, Havre; 10 Centime note, Lille; 20 Sen note, Japanese.

Mr. P. C. Clements. A set of six greenbacks of America 1863, viz. two for 3 cents, one for five, one for ten, one for fifteen and one for twenty five.

These coins were struck by Antony for the use of his fleet and legions when he was preparing for the struggle with Octavius, which culminated in the battle of Actium, 2 Sept., B.C. 31. They are of baser metal than the ordinary currency of the time, and plated specimens are frequently met with, which prove that the coinage was a species of "money of necessity", struck to meet a special demand and in the midst of great military preparations.

AQUILLIA.

- 88250 — Manius Aquillius Manii f. Manii Nepos (B.C. 72). AR. Obv. Bust of Valour r., draped, wearing crested helmet with side feather; before, VIRTVS; behind, III VIR. R. W. AQVIL. W. Q. Caepio was quaestor urbanus in the year in which L. Appuleius Saturninus proposed his 'lex frumentaria de semissibus et trientibus', by which the state was to let the people buy corn at a semis and a triens for a modius. The chief opponent of this law was Q. Caepio, who protested against it, on the ground that such a largess would put too great a strain on the public treasury. To enable the quaestors to fulfil the provisions of the Appuleian law, as it was called, the senate ordered them to strike this special issue of coins. The order is expressed by the legend EX S. C., which now occurs for the first time.

The type—the head of Apollo and the horseman—refers to the Ludi Apollinares which were established in B.C. 212, and the annual celebration of which was proposed in the following year by the praetor L. Calpurnius Piso, an ancestor of the moneyer. The numerous symbols, numbers, letters, etc., on these coins show that this issue must have been one of the largest that occurred at the Roman mint; this may have been due to the great expenses incurred by the Social war and to the suppression of the local mints.

ROMAN IMPERIAL COINS.

ELAGABALUS.

A.D. 218-222. Varius Avitus Bassianus, surnamed Elagabalus, from the name of the divinity, whose worship he had introduced into Rome, was born at Emesa, in Syria, A.D. 205. The son of Julia Soaemias and niece of Julia Domna; consequently cousin-german to Caracalla. In 218, Julia Maesa, his grandmother, changed his names to Marcus Aurelius Antoninus and pretended that he was not the son of his mother's husband, but the fruit of Caracalla's intimacy with Soaemias. The soldiers, gained over by the riches of Julia Maesa, and perhaps giving credence to his adulterous parentage, proclaimed the new Antoninus emperor. The troops of Macrianus having been defeated, Elagabalus at fifteen became sole master of the Roman world. He made himself highly unpopular at Rome, and in A.D. 222 the praetorians having discovered that he was fully bent on the destruction of his cousin Alexander, whom, by the way, Elagabalus had adopted, put him and his principal confidants to death and proclaimed Alexander emperor in his stead.

JULIA PAULA.

Julia Cornelia Paula, daughter of Julius Paulus, of an illustrious family was the first wife of Elagabalus, whose Prætorian Prefect her father had become. Handsome, graceful, agreeable, well regulated in her conduct, she gave her hand in A.D. 219 to the most cruel and infamous wretch that ever disgraced humanity and polluted a throne, only to be a victim of his inconstancy. At the end of a year from the day of her marriage, she was repudiated by her husband.

AQUILIA SEVERA.

Julia Aquilia Severa, second wife of Elagabalus, is described as possessing great personal attractions. He took her from the sacred community of the Vestals, to the great consternation of the priests and people at Rome. In a few days she was divorced, but after taking three other ladies, whose fate was the same, he again married her.

JULIA MAESA.

Julia Maesa, daughter of Julius Bassianus, priest of the Sun, sister of Julia Domna, was grandmother of Elagabalus and Alexander Severus. She was a woman of great sagacity and courage, possessed of vast wealth. It was through her largesse to the soldiers that Elagabalus gained the throne; she fought at the head of his troops against Macrinus and proceeded to Rome, took her seat in the Senate, though contrary to custom. She it was who induced Elagabalus to adopt Alexander as his successor; and she died regretted in the latter's reign in 233.

ALEXANDER SEVERUS.

A.D. 222-235. Bassianus Alexander, born at Arca in Phoenicia, A.D. 205, was the son of Gessius Marcianus and Julia Mamaea. The care his mother bestowed on his education amply compensated for his early loss of a father, and he soon became a favourite with the best as well as the noblest society in Rome. Through the sagacious policy of Maesa, his grandmother, he was adopted by Elagabalus, whom he succeeded in A.D. 222. He engaged in very successful campaigns in Persia, during which he had a great victory over Artaxerxes, whom he drove back from the frontiers of the Empire. In 235 a band of factious soldiers (insti-

- gated by the Thracian savage, Maximinus) slew him and his mother Mamaea; his death was universally deplored.*

MAXIMINVS I.

A.D. 235-238. Caius Julius Verus Maximinus, born in Thrace in 173, of an obscure family. This herdsman entered the Roman cavalry and was raised to military dignities by Sept. Severus. Alexander made him a senator and gave him various appointments; accompanying that excellent Emperor into Germany, he basely procured his assassination; and then usurped the empire. Of gigantic stature and of prodigious muscular powers, his ferocity was equally manifested in his devastation of Germany by fire and sword. At length, justly abhorred for his cruelty, this sanguinary despot was massacred by his own soldiers.

CONSTANS II and family.

A.D. 641-668. Constans II (or Constantine III as he was first called) was the son of Heraclius Constantine and grandson of the great Heraclius. He was a man of energetic and independent character. During his reign the Arabs made many small invasions of his territory. He made himself rather unpopular at Constantinople so went to live at Syracuse, where he lived till assassinated by his bathing attendant.

CONSTANTINE IV, Pogonatus.

A.D. 668-685. He was son of Constans II and had been associated with his father as Augustus since 654 and it is from this year he reckons his regnal years when — as is only exceptionally the case — a date is inscribed on his coins. During this reign the Bulgarians settled to the south of the Danube and the Slavs more than once besieged Thessalonica. The Caliphate besieged Constantinople from 672-677 but was successfully resisted and in 678 an honourable peace was made.

- 88395 Δ. Solidus. Obv. ΘNCONST ANHSP (This is an unusually correct inscription for this type, on most the T or N are missed out; not one in the B.M. is correct). Bust of Constantine IV, beardless, facing; wears armour and helmet with plume; in r., spear held transversely; in l., shield. R. VICTORIA A VCHA. Cross potent on three steps; on l., Heraclius; on r., shorter figure of Tiberius; each holds in r., globus cr.; beneath, CONOB. B.M.C., xxxvi, 1. Sab., xxxv, 14. V. F. 1 15 »
- The extraordinary demand made by the Anatolic district that Constantine should associate his two brothers in his rule because — being believers in the doctrine of the Trinity — they wished to be governed by a Trinity of Emperors, may perhaps throw light on the feeling that inspired the frequent representation on Imperial coinage of groups of three. B.M.C., page xxx.*

JUSTINIAN II.

A.D. 685-695 and 705-711. He was the eldest son of Constantine IV and succeeded his father at the age of sixteen; he had been associated with his father since 680. He was successful in a war with the Bulgarians but suffered a bad defeat from the Caliph's forces in Cilicia and Cappadocia. By his own cruelty and his bad ministers he made himself extremely unpopular. In 695 he was overthrown by the general Leontius and banished, with his nose split, to Cherson. In 704 he managed to escape and in the following year, with the aid of the Bulgarian army, made himself master of the Capitol, where in the Hippodrome he put to death the two usurpers.

Justinian and Tiberius were eventually put to death by the Armenian Barbares, called Philippius, who had induced the army to revolt and seize Constantinople.

Justinian caused his young son Tiberius to be crowned Augustus and associated with himself on all coins struck after his restoration. Justinian during his first reign introduced the head of the Saviour, which now appears for the first time on the Imperial Coins.

LEO III, the Isaurian.

A.D. 717-741. Although known to history as the Isaurian, he was really a Syrian. He was a distinguished general and on the abdication of Anastasius II, he was proclaimed Emperor. He was one of the heroic defenders of the Empire and Christendom against the Moslem; he drove them from the walls of Constantinople and scattered them. He was a great reformer, reorganizing the army and devoting much attention to finance.

CONSTANTINE V.

A.D. 741-775. On Leo's death, his son Constantine V succeeded him. He was a good soldier and a vigorous and intelligent statesman. He was successful in defending his frontiers against the Slav, Saracen and Bulgarian, he however had reverses in Italy. It was during this reign that a Pope first struck a coinage independent of the Emperor.

LEO IV and CONSTANTINE VI.

A.D. 775-780. Leo, having ruled jointly with his father Constantine V since 751, succeeded him on the latter's death. His health was weak and special measures were taken to secure the succession to Constantine VI, his son by Irene, the beautiful Athenian. In 776 at the age of six Constantine was crowned at Constantinople.

CONSTANTINE VI and IRENE his mother.

A.D. 780-797. On the death of Leo IV, the boy Constantine and his mother Irene began a joint reign. The whole soul of Irene was possessed by ambition, but it was the ambition of reigning alone and not reigning well. In 797 she caused her son to be deposed and blinded, and then reigned alone till she was deposed herself.

NICEPHORUS I and STAURACIUS.

A.D. 802-811. Nicephorus, after deposing Irene, became Emperor and took his son Stauracius as a colleague. He turned his attention chiefly to finance; and he practised a well-judged economy as a set-off to the extravagance of his predecessor. The most interesting political event is his treaty with Charlemagne defining the limits of the eastern and the (new) western Empires. Nicephorus was killed in action against the Bulgars, and Stauracius was deposed by his brother-in-law, Michael I.

LEO V, the Armenian and CONSTANTINE VII.

A.D. 813-820. Leo V, the Armenian, the competent officer who had been chosen by the army to replace the weak Michael, drove back the Bulgarians when they appeared before Constantinople and after the death of Krum, their formidable ruler, concluded a thirty years' peace with king Omotag. Leo restored discipline in the army, purified the civil administration and enforced a stricter dispensation of justice. He met his death, in his own chapel, on Christmas Day 820 at the hand of a band of conspirators.

MICHAEL III, 'the Drunkard'.

A.D. 842-867. Theophilus was succeeded by his young son Michael, the regency being given to his widow Theodora, who proved a prudent and economical governor. On the early coins of this reign we get the reappearance of the type with the head of the Saviour on the reverse; the reappearance being clearly due to Theodora who restored the worship of images and brought the great controversy to an end by the overthrow of the iconoclasts. In 856 Theodora retired from the regency and her daughters Thecla, Anastasia and Anna were banished to a monastery. Michael himself had grown up dissolute and sottish; he plunged eagerly into the contests in the Hippodrome and lived on intimate terms with the charioteers. A noteworthy incident in this reign is the appearance in the Bosphorus of a new enemy, the Russians, who attacked Constantinople, though they were finally driven off. The end of the worthless Michael came on 23 Sept. 867, when 'in the hour of intoxication and sleep', he was murdered at the instigation of his familiar companion, the grand chamberlain Basil (I), whom he had associated with himself in the Empire since May, 866.

BASIL I, the Macedonian.

A.D. 867-886. Basil, the groom and horse-tamer, who had risen to be a high court official and then co-emperor, was the founder of the great Macedonian dynasty which was destined to rule the Eastern Empire for nearly two centuries. Though not himself a great soldier or man of culture, he was of acute and vigorous intelligence, and possessed the useful kingly art of choosing his agents wisely. He was a great builder and restorer of churches; he improved the navy and strove to regulate the public expenditure and relieve taxation.

By the fall of Syracuse in 878 Sicily was finally won by the Arabs, but they were defeated in southern Italy. He died on 29 Aug. 886, from an injury he received while engaged in his favourite pastime of hunting.

LEO VI, the Wise.

A.D. 886-912. He passed as the son of Basil, though generally supposed to be the son of Michael III by Eudocia Ingerina, who had been mistress of Michael before she became wife of Basil.

He was a weak ruler and the military history of the reign is a chapter of disasters; Thessalonica, the second city of the Empire, was captured by the Saracens (904). The empire had been left jointly to Leo and his brother Alexander, the latter, however, being a mere seeker of pleasure, naturally fell into the background. In 911 Leo crowned Constantine VII, his son by his fourth wife Zoe.

CONSTANTINE VII, Porphyrogenitus and ROMANUS I, Lecapenus.

A.D. 913-959. For the first six years after the death of his guardian Alexander, whom he succeeded, Constantine was under the tutelage of his mother Zoe and other regents. Between 919 and 944 Constantine still remains in the background while Romanus I (father of Constantine's wife Helena) who was crowned co-emperor becomes the ruling spirit. He raised his sons, Christopher, Stephen and Constantine to Imperial rank. Romanus I was deposed by his sons and they were themselves shortly afterwards banished to the island-monastery to which they had consigned their father. Constantine VII was at last independent and took his son Romanus II as co-emperor. Constantine was among the kings who reign but do not rule; yet his mild manners and the absence of great disasters under his government endeared him to his subjects. As a man of cultivation, as author, painter, architect, connoisseur and patron of the arts, he stands conspicuous amongst Byzantine emperors.

VARIA

THE NEW COINAGE.

SILVER THAT NO ONE CARES TO HANDLE.

Nobody likes or wants the new silver coinage. It is too various in its complexions, too unpleasant to the touch, to find a single friend. The money has had a public life of ten days only, and already the coins have lost their minted whiteness. They are disreputable in appearance and chameleon-like in habits. At the end of a week they change to a nasty sickly yellow tint, and then become a greasy, unhealthy black. They are dirtier to the hands and pockets than copper.

Shop assistants, booking clerks, omnibus conductors, and the people who are constantly changing money, are all enemies of the Mint's latest effort. They say the silver has that peculiar "soapy" feel previously associated with counterfeits.

Daily Express.

Specimens of the new 10 centavos in nickel, struck for Chili this year, have been sent to us by Mr. K. Newman of Killota, Chili, to whom we would express our thanks. The description of the coin is as follows:

Obv. REPUBLICA DE CHILE. Vulture with outspread wings standing on rock l.

THE PHILIPPINE MINT.

A correspondent writes, It may be of interest for you to know that the Philippine Mint has been coining pieces since July 15th 1920. The coins are the same as those formerly minted in San Francisco except that the Manila Mint coins have no Mint marks. I am enclosing a bronze one cent as a sample.

The Handbook of the Famous MITCHELL COLLECTION, which is part of the bequest of the late David Mitchell to the Public Library of New South Wales, as Trustees, and known as the "Mitchell Foundation".

The author, in cataloguing, has been guided by his own 40 years collecting and personal study of this subject, with the additional assistance of full access to the well-known collection of Mr. Wm. Dixon and its accumulated records and papers.

The editorial matter thus embraces the information gained in making the three finest collections extant.

As a compilation it brings together—

A complete history of the conditions leading to the different issues of the various Australasian Tokens and Coins.

Notes on several issues never previously published.

Full sketches of the history of the different issues.

Notes on the Medallists (Home and Colonial) engaged in the production of the Tokens, their designs, etc.

Detailed lists of nearly 800 pieces, including:

Holey dollars and dumps.

The Adelaide Gold Ingots and Pound pieces.

The Kangaroo Office issues.

The Australian Mints and their issues.

The Commonwealth Coinage.

250 Surcharged Coins.

Apart from its purpose as a Catalogue of one of the finest collections extant the book may be regarded as the first serious attempt to bring together much hitherto unpublished information, and provide a complete resumé of Australasian Numismatics.

GREEK COINS.

COINS OF THE CITIES VISITED BY ST. PAUL

ICONIUM, LYSTRA AND DERBE.

BRONZE COINS OF THE 1ST CENT. B.C. OF ICONIUM.

I. Obv. Size .85. Head of Perseus, Corinthian helmet, to right with harpa over his shoulder.

Rev. EICONIEΩN. Zeus seated to left holding fulmen.

II. Size .6. Obv. Head of Zeus laureate.

Rev. EIKONIEΩN. Perseus, nude, standing to left, helmeted, in his right hand the harpa or sickle, in his left the head of the Gorgon.

IMPERIAL BRONZE WITH HEADS OF EMPERORS.

Rev. Poppaea seated on a throne, in her right hand a poppy head, her left resting on a sceptre.

Rev. ΚΛΑΥΔΕΙΚΟΝΙΕΩΝ. Perseus, nude, standing to front, his head to right; in his raised right hand a head of the Gorgon, in his left a harpa, a chlamys over his left arm.

V. Size .55. Draped bust of bearded Heracles to right, behind his shoulders a club.

Rev. [CLAYD]ICONI[VM] Same rev. as No. III. This is a coin of Colonia Aelia Hadriana Augusta.

VI. Size .8. Obv. Head of Antoninus Pius to right laureate ANTONIN.....

Rev. COL—ICONI. Athena standing to front, in her right hand a Nike with wreath, her left resting on a spear. At her feet, to left, a serpent; to right, a shield.

The coins of the 1st cent. B.C. bear three types, viz. Zeus, Perseus, and a head of Dionysos.

Under Claudius the governor of Galatia was M. Annius Afrinus, whose name appears on the coins issued in Iconium in his time.

The coins of the empire bear the legend ΚΑΛΥΔΕΚΚΟΝΙΕΩΝ until the time of its colonization under Hadrian who called it Colonia Aelia Hadriana Augusta Iconensium.

The later colonial coins were issued until the time of Gallienus 260-268 A.D. From the time of Gordianus, 238 A.D., the coins bear the letters S.R. (Senatus Romanus). Reverse Types: Serapis enthroned, with turreted Female head. Head of Perseus with harpe; scimitar of Perseus (Euripides Ion 192). Bust of Athena with Ægis. Head of Medusa. Between the times of Antoninus and Gordian no coins appear to have been issued.

From the time of Hadrian Latin inscriptions took the place of the Greek; ICONIEN COLO or COL AEL HAD ICONIENSI S R.

BRONZE COINS OF LYSTRA.

Colonia Julia Felix Gemina Lystra.

AUGUSTUS.

I. Size 1.05. Obv. Head of Augustus to left, laureate: behind, a cornucopiae.

Rev. A Priest, veiled, ploughing to left, with yoke of humped oxen COL IVL FEIGEM LYSTRA (in exergue). The I between the E and the G is probably a malformed L.

FAUSTINA JUNIOR.

II. Size .8. Obv. Bust of Faustina Junior to right; above her head small disk and? horn.

The ornament was probably meant to associate the empress with the Tyche of the city whose image occurs on the reverse with a similar head attire.

Rev. Tyche wearing disk and horns on head, with a veil, long chiton and peplos, seated to left, her head facing, on a rock:

The question arises as to whether the emblems on the heads are those of Isis or of a native old cult.

The account of Prometheus making images of men from the mud left by the flood is most familiar from the lines of Ovid's Metamorphoseon Book 1.

Quem satus Iapetus, mistam fluvealibus undis
Pinxit in effigiem moderantum cuncta deorum.

Apollodorus also relates the story (l. VII, 8).

The legend concerning Perseus has been beautifully told in English by Charles Kingsley in his book "The Heroes". Those who desire to read it in Greek will find it in the works of Hyginus. In the Greek Anthology, B^k IX, No. 557 is a short poem of six lines on Perseus.

The Gorgon's head and the appearance of Perseus is also described in the poem on "the shield of Heracles" by Hesiod. Pausanias refers to the legend in his description of the chest of Cypselus and says the name of Perseus was seen by him. The tragic effects of a sight of the Gorgon's head is told by Ovid (Met., IV, 556) the giant Atlas being turned into a mountain.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES OF MEDALLISTS

Coin, Gem, and Seal Engravers, Ancient and Modern, with References to their Works.

Most of the previous articles have been revised and republished in the "Biographical Dictionary of Medallists". The references to that work in these supplementary articles will be indicated by the letters "B.D.M." together with the number of the volume and its page.

KLOUZING, G. (Germ.). Medallist of the early part of the nineteenth century, by whom are two medals commemorating the Consecration of a Church at Rysenburg, 1810.

KNAUER, RICHARD (Germ.). Court-Goldsmith at Oldenburg, by whom is a commemorative Plaque of the 60th Anniversary of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg.

KNEBEL, MATHIAS (Germ.). Mint-engraver at Luxemburg, 1488.

KNOPF, HEINRICH (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 185). At the Kunstgewerbe-Ausstellung, Dresden, 1906 two medals by this artist were exhibited: Johann Gottfried von Aschhausen, bishop of Bamberg, 1617; — Maria, between Henry and Kunigunde, with model of Dorn, 1610 (lead).

KNORR, ERNST (Germ.). Mint-master at Worms, under Georg von Schönenberg, 1595.

KNORRE, JOHANN HEINRICH (Germ.). Mint-master at Hamburg, 1761-1805.

KNUS (KNÜS), THOMAS (Swiss). Mint-master at Soleure; had to appear for judgment in 1517.

KOBURGER, ANTON BERNHARD (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 187). Mint-master at Eisleben and Rottleberode, 1669.

KOCH, JOHANN CHRISTIAN (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 188). There is a Portrait-medal of Luther of 1717, by him (Dr Friedrich, Münzen und Medaillen des Hauses Stolberg, 1911). I have also noticed one on the Pregnancy of the Queen, 1741 (cf. Fiala, op. cit., p. 574, n° 4382).

KOCK, JÜRGEN (Germ.). Mint-master at Malmö, 1518-1546.

KOCK, JÜRGEN (Germ.). Probably a son of the last; Mint-master at Flensburg, appointed for four years, 22. Jan. 1547.

KOEB, JOSEPH A. (Amer.). Contemporary Sculptor and Medallist of Rochester, N.Y., who designed the medal issued in commemoration of the dedication of a memorial for the reception and preservation of the relics of the battleship Maine, obtained for Pittsburgh, Pa., to be erected in the West Park, on the North Side of that city. The medal was struck at the establishment of Bastian Brothers Co. of Pittsburgh.

He also modelled a Portrait-medal of Dr Geo. P. French, founder and first President of the Rochester, N.Y. Numismatic Association, 1913; — Rochester Numismatic Association Third Anniversary Medal, with bust of George J. Bauer, President, 1914 (illustrated in "The Numismatist" for May 1915, p. 175); — Fourth Anniversary Medal of the Rochester Numismatic Association, with bust of the President Louis G. Amberg, 1915.

KOEHLER FRANCIS, X. (Amer.). Die-cutter of Baltimore, about whom we cull the following details in The Numismatist, September 1916, p. 399:

"Francis X. Koehler was born in Swabish Gmund, Württemberg, on October 8, 1818. He received his first instructions in the art of engraving from his mother, who was an engraver of jewelry in his native town. Later he went to Stuttgart, where he served an apprenticeship as a goldsmith and die-cutter, and where he was employed until 1850, when he came to Baltimore. For a short time after his arrival in the United States he was in the employ of Jacob Seeger, a silver-plater, with whose card all collectors are familiar. In 1851 he began business as a manufacturing jeweller and die-cutter.

on New Churchstreet near Sharp. In 1853 he removed to 124 West Fayette street, and the following year to 140 West Fayette street, and remained there until 1863. At that time the demand for his services as a die-cutter caused him to relinquish the manufacture of jewelry, and he removed to Liberty and Marion streets, and later to 11 North Liberty street, where he remained until 1869. In that year he removed to 54 German street, and in 1879 to 20 German street, where he conducted the business until a year before his death, which occurred March 22, 1886.

"One of the earliest pieces of work by Koehler was the Wreckers' Medal, struck for presentation to the lifesavers of our sea coast for services in saving the lives and property of shipwrecked mariners.

"Other pieces by Koehler were the Award Medal of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. for faithful services, on the obverse of which is shown the railroad viaduct on the B. & O. at Relay, Md.; the Award Medal of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association of Wilmington, N. C., and the Award Medal of the Jackson-Hope Virginia Military Institute, besides anniversary medals for local institutions and commemorative issues.

"Koehler enjoyed the friendship of and an intimate acquaintance with Anthony C. Paquet, one of the assistant engravers at the Philadelphia Mint under Longacre, and frequently entertained him at his home on the latter's visits to Baltimore.

"Koehler was a member of most of the German societies of Baltimore, and was for a number of years vice-president of the Concordia German Association. Most of these societies issued cards, the work of Koehler."

KOELBEL, RUDOLPH (Germ.). Born at Berlin in 1826, studied medal-engraving there under Professor Karl Fischer; was appointed Court-medallist and Engraver at Oldenburg in 1857, and filled that post for many years. His signature R. KÖLBEL occurs as late as 1878 on the silver Medal for Merit in Arts, instituted by the Grand Duke Nicolaus Friedrich Peter.

KONSÉ, GERRIT (Dutch). Mint-engraver at Harderwijk, 1807.

KONTI, ISIDORE (Austr.). Contemporary Sculptor and Medallist. Born in Vienna, Austria, July 9. 1862. At the age of fifteen he entered the Imperial Academy of Arts in Vienna and there obtained a scholarship, enabling him to study in Rome, Florence, Naples, and Venice. In 1891 he came to the United States, and making his home in Chicago, he assisted in executing some groups for the Agricultural and Administrative Buildings of the World's Columbian Exposition. In 1893 he settled in New York City. Among his important works are the group "West Indies", and the spandrels symbolizing the North and East rivers for the Dewey Arch; groups for the Temple of Music and the esplanade, Pan-American Exposition; the two side cascades of the great fountain at the St. Louis Exposition, for which he was awarded a gold medal, besides a special gold medal; the McKinley monument, Philadelphia, executed after a sketch by the late Charles Lopez; figures of Justinian and Alfred the Great for the Court House in Cleveland, Ohio; a frieze (festival procession) for the Gainsborough Studio Building, New York; a group representing South America and a historical relief for the International Bureau of American Republics Buildings, Washington D. C. A number of ideal figures and groups, such as "Inspiration", "The Brook", a fountain executed in marble at "Greystone", Yonkers, New York, "The Despotism Age" (in the Metropolitan Museum New York) "Orpheus", and "The Awakening of Spring" have been shown in exhibitions throughout the United States. He has also designed commemorative and other medals. Mr. Konti is vice-president of the National Sculpture Society, and a member of the Architectural League. He became an associate of the National Academy of Design in 1906, and was elected academician in 1909. He is a director of the Municipal Art Society, and the Member of the Salmagunda Club of the New York City. He exhibited the following works at the New York International Medallion Exhibition, held in March, 1910: — Medal commemorative of the morating the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of Jewish Settlement in the United States; — Isidor Memorial medal (Cat. Int. Medallie Exhibition).

KOPPELIN, HANS (B. D. M., Vol. III, p. 203). Probably the same person, acted as Mint-master at Flensburg for Schleswig-Holstein, 1566.

THE BRONZE COINAGE OF THE LATE ROMAN EMPIRE

BY HUGH GOODACRE F.R.N.S.

PREFATORY NOTE.

The articles to follow are compiled to supply a want which the writer himself experienced in his early collecting days and which he believes to be still existing. They are not intended for those to whom the standard works of Cohen and Sabatier are accessible, but simply for the collector whose purse does not admit of an outlay such as the acquisition of the books cited would entail.

With regard to the selection of the bronze coinage in preference to the gold or silver a word or two may not be out of place here. Naturally the first rank must be conceded to the premier metal upon which the Roman die-sinkers admittedly expended more care and elaboration than they did upon the baser; and perhaps the claim of the silver to the second place can be substantiated by the greater prevalence of coins in this metal than in bronze throughout the whole period covered by this treatise; but, with these admissions, the delights of the bronze coinage are no whit behind those of its prouder associates; and it must never be lost sight of that the humblest of the metals possesses a glory entirely its own—the glory of patina.

But apart altogether from these comparative considerations the bronze coinage of the Late Roman Empire, equally with the gold and silver, has a special interest for the student, for it brings him into close touch with that most fascinating chapter of the world's history when Christianity is breaking on the long night of heathenism and superstition, and the actors emerge from the cold outlines of a remoter age and appeal to us with the force of living realities. Feeble, cruel, dissolute, as many of the successors of Constantine the Great undoubtedly were, nowhere do we find amongst them such monsters of inhumanity as the Tiberius, Caligula, Nero and many another of the earlier records. The later emperors and their consorts lived their lives in an atmosphere we can understand, although we may not approve, and their loves and their hates, their virtues and their vices, are the passions of men and women, not of incarnate fiends, such as the records would lead us to conceive were the august personages to whom we have alluded.

The first interest of a coin centres round the life and character of the prince by whom it was issued or whose portrait it bears, and for this reason a biographical note has been prefaced to the list of coins of each reign.

For the lists themselves no originality is claimed. They are at best but compilations, mainly from Cohen and Sabatier, but in the values assigned to the several coins considerable adjustments will be found to have been made in order to conform to the prices at present ruling. The coin market, like most markets, is a fluctuating one, influenced not merely by demand and supply, but by fashion, which perhaps after all is only another name for demand. There is a decided tendency, however, for the price of all ancient coins to rise and since the publication of the last edition of Cohen's work, now more than twenty years ago, the value of many Roman coins has advanced enormously. The state of preservation, it should be added, has a material bearing upon the market value of a coin, although the historic interest of the piece may be unaffected thereby. As a general rule a specimen of a bronze Roman coin in mint state is worth from three to four times what it would command in average condition. The reason is apparent. In some reigns, such as those of Jovian and Magnus Maximus, bronze coins in the highest state of preservation are exceedingly hard to procure and proportionately larger prices are accordingly demanded for them. Patination, too, enhances the value.

It must be understood that in the lists given in this work, only the main types are set forth. There are innumerable smaller differences, some of which undoubtedly increase the value, but in the majority of instances the prices which are sometimes asked for these slight variations are out of all proportion to the interest occasioned by them and are undeserving of encouragement. It should also be noted that the prices here given are for coins in very fine condition, that is to say, well-struck and well-centred coins in which every detail is distinct.

From the commercial point of view it may be doubted whether it pays to buy Late Roman bronze coins separately. These are usually sold in lots at public auctions, but the commercial motive is not the one which should actuate the true numismatist. Still in most people the gambling spirit is inherent and the possibility of regarding a collection of coins as an investment may be justification for an indulgence which might otherwise lack justification. It is possible that as the store of Roman bronze coins becomes absorbed in public collections, the less common specimens may be sold singly, or in twos and threes, at even our public auctions and, if and when that day does come, it is certain that there will be a marked rise in their value.

In concluding this prefatory note a word of explanation may be given as to the period selected as constituting that of the Late Roman Empire. There is no universally accepted division between the "Higher" or "Early" and the "Lower" or "Late" Empires. From the numismatic point of view there is much to be said in favour of making the break at the restoration of the coinage under Diocletian, but the adoption of this course would have so increased the bulk and consequent cost of this work as to have defeated the object of its publication. If we exclude the issues of the commencement of his reign there is, however, a distinct cleavage from the past in the art and fabric of the coins of Constantine the Great, a cleavage which becomes more and more pronounced as, with the removal of the seat of government to Constantinople, eastern influences gain the ascendancy. It is this consideration which has determined me to select the reign of Constantine the Great as my starting point and, in closing the series with the name of Leon-tius, I am following the precedent of the British Museum authorities who in their catalogue of the Byzantine coins in the National Collection, maintain that the Byzantine Empire proper commences with the reign of Anastasius.

INTRODUCTION.

DENOMINATIONS.

It might have been more in accordance with the scope of this work to have commenced with the coinage issued on the removal of the capital from Rome to Constantinople. This course would, however, have necessitated an irruption in the middle of the reign, with difficulties and disadvantages at once apparent. On the other hand, by taking the commencement of the reign of Constantine the Great as the starting point of the Late Roman Empire, an insight into the systems immediately precedent is obtained.

Upon the acclamation of Constantine by his father's troops in Britain the bronze coinage in circulation was that of the system introduced by Diocletian in 296 A.D. when he reformed the currency. It consisted of coins of two dimensions, the larger called the "follis" and the smaller the "centenionalis". Diocletian's co-regents did not, however, adhere strictly to the new standard, and at Siscia issued centenionales of larger diameter. Similar coins with the heads of Divus Maximianus and Divus Romulus were also issued by Maxentius (G.F. Hill, Handbook of Greek and Roman Coins).

In 313 Constantine abandoned the follis. About 348 Constantine II established the "pecunia maiorina" weighing about 3.5 grammes and a centenionalis weighing about 3.5 grammes. The figures LXXII which are sometimes found on the pecunia maiorina are thought to indicate that it was worth 1/72 of the miliarensis, the silver coin which makes its appearance during the fourth century.

The system of Constantius II was superseded about 360 by a follis weighing from 8.50 to 9 grammes and a cententionalis and half cententionalis weighing about 1.5 and 1 gramme respectively.

Considerable discrepancies exist between the various authors as to the exact names of these later denominations. In actual practice it would appear that several systems were in use concurrently and that, in addition to the cententionalis and its half, other fractions were issued, and it is not improbable that the confusion which exists today was, if anything, more accentuated than now. Collectors have for their own convenience cut the knot by styling the coins First, Second and Third Brass (Æ^1 Æ^2 Æ^3) respectively, and by way of further precision have added to the last for coins of the smallest size the name "quinarius". This system will be followed in the accompanying lists. Larger coins than those already mentioned were issued in some of the reigns. Most of these are usually classed as medallions. In the reigns of Julian the Apostate, Magnentius and his brother Decentius, First Brass coins are met with, but in the majority of the reigns of the late Emperors this size of coin was not issued, and in some of the reigns the bronze coinage is represented solely by the quinarius.

PORTRAITURE.

The portraiture of the bronze coinage of the Late Empire leaves much to be desired, but it is by no means entirely conventional and in a few instances, such as the First Brass of Julian, rises to a considerable degree of excellence. Even the coins of some of the least known Emperors, as for instance Vetricius, Procopius, Eugenius and John, preserve for us distinctive and readily recognizable features sufficient to enable us to distinguish them were their attendant inscriptions entirely wanting. After the time of Arcadius and Honorius the bronze coinage becomes insignificant both in size and design until the commencement of the Byzantine Empire under Anastasius, and its chief interest consists in its extreme rarity and its reminder of the existence of the ephemeral personages whose names it bears.

TYPES.

The types of the coins of the Late Empire are less varied than those of the Early Empire, but the symbols and mint marks found on the reverse of the coins lend peculiar interest to this series. Comm. F. Gneecchi (Coin Types of Imperial Rome, translated by Emily A. Hands) shows that, with the introduction of Christianity under Constantine, the representation of gods, demi-gods and heroes on the coinage began rapidly to decline until, if we except the reigns of Julian and Jovian, Rome, used practically as we employ the figure of Britannia today, alone survived. The representation of Allegorical Personifications died harder, but the same process of attrition had already set in when Constantine came to the purple and, by the time of the division of the Empire between the sons of Theodosius, had practically been reduced to Securitas, Victoria and Virtus, while the last disappeared with the reign of Majorian.

INSCRIPTIONS.

From the time of Constantine the Great onwards the obverse of the coin, with a very few exceptions, bears the name and title of the Emperor, Empress or Caesar. The old prefix IMP(ERATOR) is frequent on the coins of Constantine, but after his reign it becomes less so, and is rapidly superseded by that of DOMINVS N(OSTER) which becomes the recognized formula. The name of the Emperor is at first generally followed by the titles P(IVS) F(ELIX) AVG(VSTVS), but towards the end of the fifth century these titles give place to PERP(ETVVS) AVG(VSTVS), often abbreviated to PP.AVG. Caesars have the title NOB(ILISSIMVS) CAES(AR). Empresses receive the title AVGVSTA, and in rare instances we meet with NOB(ILISSIMA) F(EMINA). Constantine the Great was the last Emperor to be described on the coins struck after his death as DIVVS.

During the reigns of this last named Emperor and his sons small brass coins were struck bearing the words CONSTANTINOPOLIS, VRBS ROMA and POP.ROMANVS, and in the reign of Julian the Apostate with DEO SANCTO SERAPIDI and ISIS FARIA with heads of Serapis and Isis.

The inscriptions found on the reverse of the bronze coins of the Late Empire are given in the accompanying lists and here it is only necessary to note the method of indicating the number of reigning Emperors by multiplying the G of AVG-- AVGG or AVGGG, indicating that at the time of issue there were two or three occupants of the throne.

A word, too, may be added in explanation of the public vows recorded on the coins. It was the custom to offer vows for the prosperity of the Empire on the kalends of January in each year, and other vows were issued for the health of the Emperor two days before the nones of the same month. Vows were also made on special occasions. In 27 B.C. Augustus assumed command of the provinces and promised that in ten years all the world would be at peace. These vows were extended from time to time for periods of five and ten years and his successors continued the practice, the public celebration of the quinquennial and the decennial vows henceforth becoming an institution. Later on vows were celebrated for twenty, thirty and more years for the past and also for the future, the distinction being expressed by the words VOTA SOLVTA (vows accomplished) and VOTA SVSCEPTA (vows undertaken). In the Late Empire the inscription usually reads VOT.V(X etc.) MVLT.XX(XXX etc.) and is placed inside a wreath, or on a shield borne by a figure of Victory, or by two female figures representing Rome and Constantinople. The number of the vows recorded on the coins cannot always be relied upon as a guide to the actual date of issue, for in the later period, in order to give occasion for a greater number of festivals, the periods were often abbreviated and the vows celebrated in excess of the number of the years of the reign; and it may be that they were also anticipated and celebrated in the hope of subsequent attainment.

Besides the main inscriptions and the mint-marks to be presently dealt with, certain letters and signs are frequently found on the field of the bronze coins of the Late Empire. The meaning of these letters and signs has been the subject of much speculation. M. Maurice has shewn that many of them are marks to differentiate the various issues from given mints. Probably the letters I and H, which are sometimes found, indicate that the Emperor belonged to the Jovian or Herculean dynasties. The palm branch, wreath, dot, crescent, star and lance-head are moneyers' private marks. The subject is full of interest, with ample scope for further research, and the student who may be desirous of following it up cannot do better than consult M. Maurice's Numismatique Constantinienne, where he will find a wealth of material.

MINT MARKS.

The names of the mints from which the coins were issued are as a rule to be found in an abbreviated form in the exergue (i.e. that part of the Reverse below the type) in combination with various letters and signs denoting the officinae and other particulars of issue. The number of the officina is generally written P(prima), S(secunda), T(tertia), Q(quarto) or A, B, Γ, Δ, Ε, etc., or I, II, III, IIII, etc.

The initial letter of the mint town is frequently accompanied by the abbreviation P for pecunia or percussa, M for moneta and S for sacra. Thus we have P.TR. standing for Pecunia Trevirensis (Money of Trèves) and S.M.TR. for Sacra Moneta Trevirensis (Sacred Money of Trèves). As an instance of the mint name with the number of the officina at which the coin was actually struck we may give M.OST.B. which must be read Moneta Ostenis B. (Money of Ostia from the second officina).

That the mint marks have been, and still are, a fruitful source of discussion may be gathered from the following list which has been compiled from H. Cohen's, Monnaies frappées sous l'Empire romain, 2nd edit; G.F. Hill's, Handbook of Greek and Roman Coins; Gneecchi's, Roman Coins, 2nd edit., translated by the Rev. A.W. Hands; and J. Maurice's, Numismatique Constantinienne.

From the above list it will be seen that in certain instances there is a consensus of opinion, in others there is a majority in favour of the attribution, while in yet others there is such a diversity of opinion as to leave the matter still in doubt. In some cases there may undoubtedly be more than one reading of a mint mark. It then becomes necessary to compare the art and execution displayed on the coins, which can only be done satisfactorily when recourse can be had to an extensive collection. But even this test may fail where the workmanship of two mints is practically identical.

In studying the mint marks of the coins of the Late Roman Empire — as in fact in studying the coins themselves — it must be remembered that in all probability an enormous number of the bronze coins which have come down to us are the work of barbaric imitators and forgers, and that too much reliance must not be placed on the evidence of isolated specimens.

CHRISTIAN EMBLEMS.

This introduction would not be complete without some reference to the first appearance of Christian emblems upon the Roman coinage. Naturally they will be first sought for during the reign of Constantine the Great, but as may well be imagined it will be only in the later issues of this reign that they will be found. Knowing the love of the Early Church for secret signs it is probable that the cross and monogram of Christ were at first introduced surreptitiously by a Christian die-sinker, for we find them worked into the ornamentation of the peculiar helmet worn by the Emperor on the obverse of the VICTORIAE LAETAE type. The cross is also sometimes to be seen on the altar on the reverse of this type. Later the labarum with the ☩ appears on the GLORIA EXERCITUS type and a curious cross-like form of X in the word "exercitus" has also been noticed.

Christian emblems, however, although frequent on the coinage of later reigns, are by no means common on that of the first, so-called, Christian Emperor. M. Maurice considers that the labarum with the ☩ was not introduced until 326, shortly after Constantine had united the whole Empire under himself, and Mr. Webb thinks that the coins bearing this device were the first official issue.

CONSTANTINE I (the Great).

Caesar 306. Augustus 368. Died 337.

Flavius Galerius Valerius Constantinus or — to give him the name by which he is more generally known in this country — Constantine the Great, stands out at one and the same time as one of the greatest generals and one of the greatest enigmas of history. The son of the Emperor Constantius Chlorus by the tavern girl Helena (the St. Helena of the Church) he is believed to have been born at Naissus (the Servian Nish) in 274. Endowed by Nature with her choicest gifts, he not merely added to a majestic presence the noble countenance which we see to this day on the prolific output of his many mints, but he excelled in all manly exercises. On the death of his father at York on the 25th July 307 he was acclaimed "Augustus" by the army in Britain to the consternation of the Co-Emperor Galerius, who had thought to succeed to supreme power, and from that moment the new Emperor found himself faced by a number of rivals, including such formidable antagonists as Maximian Hercules, Maximinus Daza, Maxentius and Licinius. How by masterly generalship he eventually bore down all opposition and became the sole ruler of the Roman world forms one of the most fascinating chapters of history and the most glorious chapter of Constantine's life, although his fame today probably rests more upon his founding the city which still perpetuates his name, or, possibly, upon his adoption of the Christian religion. It would be well if we could close this brief memoir of this extraordinary man with his triumph at the dedication of his new capital. "Then" as Gibbon remarks "his memory would have shone for all time, not merely as one of the most consummate generals the world has ever known, but as one of the most gifted and magnificent monarchs who have ever graced a mundane throne". But with the palm of victory and the removal of his capital from the sterner West to the more effeminate East Constantine became a cruel and dissolute sovereign, corrupted by his fortune or, what is more probable, raised by conquest above the necessity for dissimulation. As portrayed to us by the historian there are two Constantines, the Constantine of the West and the Constantine of the East; the one invincible, superb, ascetic; seeing in the sky the cross with its promise of victory; tracing with his spear the boundary of his new capital in obedience to the dictate of an invisible guide: the other the slave to Asiatic corruption, with false hair of various colours, laboriously arranged by skillful artists, wearing a profusion of gems and pearls, of collars and bracelets and flowing silks curiously embroidered with flowers of gold, and tarnishing his reputation with crimes of the darkest die. The deaths of the Emperors Maximian and Licinius may perhaps be justified, but there is a long list of murders to which no such extenuating circumstances can be ascribed. Crispus, his eldest son, Fausta, his second wife, Licinius junior, his nephew, and a host of other victims will for ever rise up in judgment against the first monarch of the world to whom posterity has appended the description "Christian".

But for all this the title of "Maximus" was accorded to Constantine in his life time, and posterity still terms him "the Great".

He died at Nicomedia on the 22nd of May 337 and by his last request his body was brought to Constantinople where, adorned with the symbols of his greatness, the purple and the diadem, it was deposited on a golden bed in one of the apartments of the palace. Here every day at the appointed hours the principal officers of the State, the Army and the Household, approaching the person of their sovereign with bended knees, offered their respectful homage as seriously as if he had been alive. This went on for some time and it was remarked that Constantine was the only monarch who continued to reign after his death. He was eventually buried in the stately tomb which he had prepared for himself in the church of the Holy Apostles at Constantinople which was destroyed by Mahomet, the Conqueror, to build the great mosque which bears his name.

Constantine was twice married, firstly to Minervina, of whom nothing is known, and secondly to Fausta, the daughter of the Emperor Maximian Hercules. By his first wife he had one son, Crispus, and by his second wife three sons, namely Constantine II, Constantius II and Constans; and three daughters, Constantina or Constantia who married Hannibalian and secondly Constantius Gallus; another daughter who became a nun, and Helena who married the Emperor Julian the Apostate.

The coins of Constantine the Great are by no means common in gold or silver or even in billon (i.e. base metal containing some silver but in which tin preponderates), but in bronze they are extremely numerous.

Below is a list of the reverse types in this last metal. The coins differ greatly in size and in weight and it is not easy to assign them to denominations or even, in some cases, to the numismatic divisions of Medallion, First, Second and Third Brass. The diversity of size throws some light upon the date of issue. The Second Brass resemble the coins of his predecessor and Co-Emperors and must therefore be assigned to the early part of his reign. The smaller Third Brass belong to the latter part of the reign because they approach the coinage of his successors. The title of "Maximus" was not given to Constantine until the end of his reign.

The portrait of Constantine appears in a number of forms on his bronze coinage; sometimes it is the head only, to right or to left, bare, laureate or diademed; sometimes it is the bust, also to right or left, laureate, diademed, radiate or helmeted, draped, cuirassed or wearing the imperial mantle. The legends, too, are equally varied from the single word CONSTANTINVS to IMP.C.FL.VAL. CONSTANTINVS.P.F.AVG. On some we read NOB.C. or CAES., on others FIL.AVG. or AVGG; on others MAX.AVG. or MAX.P.F.AVG., but the name CONSTANTINVS is nearly always present in full. We meet also with the legend IMP.GAL.VAL.CONSTANTINVS.F.AVG. On the memorial coins the reading is DIVO CONSTANTINO.

Note. The prices in the following lists are given in shillings. Bronze Medallions rarely appear in the Sale Room and the values assigned to these are based upon Cohen's unless otherwise stated. Probably at the present day Medallions would command considerably higher prices. It must be borne in mind that the prices given here are for coins in very fine condition.

BRITISH IMPERIAL BRONZE COINAGE, 1860-1920.

PART XII.

GEORGE V. 1910.

1. — FARTHING, 1911.

O. — Legend: — GEORGIUS V DEI GRA : BRITT : OMN : REX FID : DEF : IND : IMP : Head and truncated neck of the King and Emperor in profile and looking to the left. On the truncation of the neck: — B. M. (Bertram Mackennal). The hair on the head is parted. The whole within an ornamented rim.

R. — Legend: — FARTHING. The continuity of the legend is interrupted by the plumes on Britannia's helmet and the head of her trident. Emblem of Britannia looking to the right. The figure is wearing a helmet adorned with plumes. Some of her long thick wavy hair rests on her right shoulder. An ornament round her neck with each end terminating in a scroll. She is draped in a long flowing robe with an ornament on each shoulder, and fastened on her breast with a clasp and at her waist by a garnished girdle. She is seated upon a rock with the sea in front and behind. Her right hand rests on a convex oval shield which leans against the rock, her thumb touching the space between the cross of Saint George and the cross of Saint Patrick in the first quarter of the shield. The shield bears the cross of Saint George and the saltires of Saint Andrew and Saint Patrick, united, but not heraldically coloured. The cross of Saint George is fimbriated, but the cross of Saint Patrick is not. Her left hand firmly grasps a plain trident. A sandal is fastened to her right foot with straps. The rock on which she is seated is cut off by a straight line, forming an exergue, containing the date, 1911. The whole within an ornamented rim.

NUMISMATA MISCELLANEA.

24. AUSTRALIAN BRONZE COINAGE.

Under date of October 7th, 1920, a much esteemed Australian correspondent kindly writes as follows:—

His Excellency the Governor of New South Wales (Sir Walter Edward Davidson, K.C.M.G.), and Dame Margaret Davidson visited the Sydney branch of the Royal Mint on Wednesday, October 6th, 1920. A large coinage of Australian bronze pence is to be executed and Dame Margaret Davidson struck the first penny made in the Royal Mint, Sydney.

25. BRITISH COMMUNION TOKENS.

A correspondent in Scotland writing under date of October 30th 1920, kindly informs me that Major T.L. Beveridge, Findhorn Place, Edinburgh, has presented to the Corporation Museum, Edinburgh, the following British communion tokens:—

Abernethy (Perthshire) Associate Congregation, dated 1748.

Auchterarder (Perthshire) Parish Church (no date).

Denny (Stirlingshire) Associate Congregation, dated 1799.

Ecclefechan (Dumfries-shire) Associate Congregation, dated 1772.

Falkirk (Stirlingshire) Associate Congregation, dated 1824.

Kilnarnock (Ayrshire) Relief Church (no date).

Port-Glasgow (Renfrewshire) Associate Congregation, dated 1794.

Roseneath (Dumbartonshire) Free Church, dated 1843.

Torquay (Devonshire) Saint Andrew's Presbyterian Church (no date).

Mrs. Mc Intosh, Wellwood, Bonnyrigg, Midlothian, has also presented a Communion token of Lasswade (Midlothian) Parish Church, dated 1854, to the Corporation Museum, Edinburgh.

26. BRITISH WAR MEMORIAL PLAQUE.

The bronze War Memorial Plaque designed by Mr. E. Carter Preston of Liverpool and presented to the next-of-kin of Members of His Majesty's Forces who fell in the Great War of 1914-1918 is one hundred and twenty millimetres in diameter and bears the legend:— HE DIED FOR FREEDOM AND HONOUR. The design represents a draped figure of Britannia, standing. She is wearing a helmet, and holding a trident with her right hand. Her left hand holds a laurel wreath over the panel containing the name of the fallen hero. Before Britannia, the British lion looking to the right, with a branch of oak opposite, and behind her, a dolphin, emblematical of our dominion of the seas. In the exergue the British lion overcoming the German eagle. The edge of the plaque is plain. Each plaque is accompanied by a kind letter of sympathy from His Majesty the King and Emperor.

27. CHILEAN COINAGE.

A correspondent kindly informs me that the Government of Chile have accepted a tender for the minting in Paris of nickel coins of the value of Twenty, Ten, and Five Centavos and that this new money has been rendered necessary by the melting of Chilean silver coins. The replacement of silver by nickel in a South American silver producing country is well worth notice.

28. CLIPPING AND DEFACING COINS.

In the year 1278 six hundred men and their families were confined in the dungeons of the Keep of the Tower of London being accused of clipping and defacing the King's coin.

29. INDIAN SILVER COINS DATED 1911.

Numerous correspondents have written to me recently asking what denominations of silver coins bearing the date 1911 were minted in the Bombay and Calcutta Mints for general circulation in India. Through the kindness of my esteemed friends Messrs. Spink and Son, Limited, London, I am enabled to reply in the "Numismatic Circular".

BOMBAY MINT.

The Rupee was the only denomination in silver coined in the Bombay Mint. It bears a bead on the reverse in the space below the lower lotus and the inner concentric plain circle. A bead is the present mint mark of the Bombay Mint.

CALCUTTA MINT.

The Rupee, Half Rupee, Quarter Rupee, and Two Annas were the denominations in silver coined in the Calcutta Mint. These coins bear no mint mark.

All the silver coins of India dated 1911 were objected to by the general public owing to the elephant which forms part of the design of The Collar of the Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire on the King-Emperor's bust having a porcine appearance. Most of them have been withdrawn from circulation and melted.

30. MEXICAN COINAGE.

A correspondent kindly writes as follows:—

The silver miners in Mexico insist on being paid for their labour in Mexican silver dollars and recognise no other form of currency and they have in this respect the power to secure compliance with their wishes.

31. SIAMESE SILVER COINAGE.

A correspondent kindly informs me that on August 19th, 1920, the quality of the Siamese silver coinage was restored from 500 to 650 parts in the 1000 fine, and that coins of the lower quality are in course of being withdrawn from Circulation.

32. SWISS NICKEL AND COPPER-NICKEL COINS.

The Government of Switzerland have resumed the minting of nickel and copper-nickel coins which was interrupted during a period of the Great War when coins made of brass and dated 1918 and 1919 were issued for general circulation owing to the difficulty of obtaining nickel. I am indebted to my old and valued friend Mr. Leonard Forrer for kindly giving me this information.

33. UKRAINE CURRENCY.

A correspondent kindly informs me that the emblem on some stamps of The Ukraine which was thought to be an outline of a sacred candelabrum in the Cathedral of Saint Sophia in Kiev, and a symbol of the triumph of Christianity over Islam, has now been definitely identified as a three pronged pike in the Arms of Saint Vladimir, who preached Christianity in Kiev in the year 988. I have already referred to the fact that this design was printed on cardboard and the pieces used for general currency (See "Numismatic Circular", Volume 28 Column 106).

COINS OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

AUSTRALIA.

PENNY TOKEN (Undated).

O. — Legend: — WELLINGTON & ERIN GO BRAGH. Bust of the first Duke of Wellington (1769-1852) looking to the right. His Grace has thick curly hair and is wearing a wreath of laurel. The hair at the nape of his neck is long, coarse, and curly. The laurel wreath of ten leaves and three berries has its ends united at the rear of the head by ribbon, which is tied into a bow, the hanging parts being plain and flowing and one of them resting on the neck. The veins in the laurel leaves are single lines in relief. From the top of the head the laurel leaves are arranged in the following order: — 3 + 4 + 3, and the berries as follows: — 2 + 1. The bust is draped, and the drapery fastened on the shoulder with a clasp. The whole within an ornamented rim.

E. — Plain.

I am indebted to my friend Mr. L. G. P. Messenger for kindly lending me this token which I believe is unpublished.

HONG KONG.

BRITISH DOLLAR.

DOLLAR, 1895.

O. — Legend: — ONE DOLLAR. The continuity of the legend is interrupted by the shaft of the trident, Britannia's right hand and arm, and her helmet. A bead on the left, before the legend, and another on the right, after it. Emblem of Britannia looking to the left. The figure is wearing a helmet adorned with plumes. She is draped in a long robe with a portion flowing freely behind. She is standing upon a rock in the sea and holding a convex oval shield with her right hand, some of the fingers touching the upper part of the cross of Saint George. The shield bears the cross of Saint George and the saltires of Saint Andrew and Saint Patrick, united, but not heraldically coloured. The cross of Saint George is fimbriated but the cross of Saint Patrick is not. Her right hand firmly grasps a plain trident. In the upper part of the middle prong of the trident the mint mark B incuse (Bombay). Her feet are bare. In front of the figure, and in the distance, a three masted sailing ship fully rigged. In the exergue, below the rock, the date, 1895. The whole within a plain circle, encompassed by a beaded circle which is surrounded by a Chinese ornamental border, encircled by an ornamented rim.

R. — A compartment formed by a scroll containing the Chinese labyrinth. Two beads on the left and two on the right between the scroll and beaded circle. The value in Chinese above and below the labyrinth. The value in Malay on the left and right of the labyrinth. The whole within a beaded circle encompassed by a Chinese ornamental border, which is encircled by a plain rim.

E. — Milled with straight lines.

Similar coins are dated 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904, 1908, 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913.

Similar coins but with the mint mark B (Bombay), omitted from the middle prong of the trident are dated 1900 and 1901. These were coined in the Calcutta Mint.

VICTORIA I. 1837-1901.

FIFTY CENTS, 1890.

O. — Legend: — VICTORIA QUEEN. Head and truncated neck of the Queen in profile and looking to the left. Her Majesty is wearing a diadem richly jewelled and heightened with alternate crosses pattées, and united roses, thistles and shamrocks. The ends of the diadem are connected by an ornamented band. The diadem and band are partly hidden by her thick wavy hair which is parted on the forehead, carried over the ear, and collected into a knot behind the head. The hair is bound by a plain fillet, which is tied into a bow at the back of the head, the hanging parts being crimped, and one of them in contact with the neck. The hair at the nape of her neck is long, coarse, and wavy. The whole within a beaded circle encircled by a plain rim.

R. — Upper legend: — HONGKONG. 1890. Lower legend: — The value in Chinese characters. A bead on the left and another on the right between the legends. Inscription, in two lines: — 50 | CENTS. The numerals are decorated with horizontal lines, and the inscription is encompassed by a plain circle. The whole within a beaded circle encircled by a plain rim.

E. — Milled with straight lines.

Similar coins are dated 1891, 1892, 1893 and 1894.

Similar coins but bearing the mint mark H (Heaton) below the truncation of the Queen's neck are dated 1891 and 1892.

INDIA.

GEORGE V. 1910.

SOVEREIGN, 1918.

O. — Legend: — GEORGIUS V D. G. BRITT: OMN: REX F. D. IND: IMP: Head and truncated neck of the King and Emperor in profile and looking to the left. On the truncation of the neck: — B. M. (Bertram Mackennal). The hair on the head is parted. The whole within an ornamented rim.

R. — Saint George attacking the Dragon. The saintly knight is nearly nude, sitting on horseback and looking to the right, his left hand holding the bridle rein. He is wearing a crested helmet with a tail of hair floating behind. A chlamys flowing freely at the back is fastened in front by a fibula. On the right shoulder a balteus for suspending the gladius. The feet and lower portions of the legs are protected by armour, but the toes are uncovered. The horse apparently half advances, half shrinks, from the fabulous animal at its feet. Saint George has broken his lance by wounding the winged monster, and a portion of it remains in its body, the other part is lying upon the ground, with the initials W.W.P. (William Wellesley Pole) beneath it. The dragon is preparing itself for a deadly spring, and Saint George is about to slay it with the gladius he holds in his right hand. Below the ground, the date, 1918, and the initials B.P. (Benedetto Pistrucci). On the ground above the date the mint mark I (India). The whole within a plain circle, encircled by an ornamented rim.

E. — Milled with straight lines.

NUMISMATIC SOCIETIES, MUSEUMS, &c.

ROYAL NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

Jan. 20. Sir Charles Oman, K.B.E., M.P., in the Chair.

Mrs. J. Grafton Milne and Capt. S. Maurojani were elected Fellows of the Society.

The President referred to the great loss sustained by the Society through the death of Dr. Oliver Codrington, who had been its Librarian for over thirty years. He had done a great deal of work for the Society and his place would be very difficult to fill. He had always been ready to place his wide knowledge at the disposal of members of the Society. A vote of sympathy with his relatives was passed.

Mr. Percy H. Webb showed a very fine series of Roman third brass of the early fourth century from a Belgian find.

Mr. Fredk. A. Walters F.S.A., showed five brass coins of Valerian and Postumus restruck on older coins of denominations no longer current.

Mr. Leopold Messenger showed a third brass of Carausius overstruck on Claudius Gothicus, found at Cirencester and an unpublished brass coin of Ephesus, obv. jugate beads of Augustus and Livia and rev. Statue of Diana.

Mr. Henry Garside showed a mule between reverse of St. Helena halfpenny of 1821 and reverse of a Guernsey four doubles of 1830.

Mr. H. Mattingly read a paper by Mr. E.S.G. Robinson on an interesting tetradrachm of Alexander; types and legends recently acquired by the British Museum. It bore in the field the additional name Aspeias in the genitive. It is the earliest coin of this type to bear the name of the actual issuer in full and is to be attributed to Aspeias who was appointed Satrap of Susiana in 316 by Antigonus (Diod., XIX, 54) during the latter's stay in Susa.

Mr. L.A. Lawrence read a paper by Mr. L. Woosnam on the alleged Anglo-Saxon mints of Bridgnorth and Harwich. Both these attributions were shown to be impossible on philological grounds and it was suggested that the BRID coins should be attributed to Bridport. The coins bearing the mint-name HAMWIC were not of Harwich but should rather be attributed to Southampton. Many if not all of the HAMTUN coins should be attributed to Northampton.

BRITISH NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

Ordinary and anniversary meetings, November 30th, 1920. — Mr. F.A. Walters, F.S.A., President, in the Chair. Mr. H.A. Bennie Gray and Mr. B.W. Harris were elected Members. Mr. Lionel L. Fletcher presented The Later Nineteenth-Century Farthing Tokens of Ireland, by Dr. H.C. Hurry, to the library.

Anniversary meeting. — Mr. Andrew, as Secretary, presented The Council's Report. In this, our seventeenth annual report, we have the honour to congratulate the Members upon the addition to the Society's list of Royal Members of the name of the Prince of Wales. The correspondence, through Major Carlyon-Britton, which led to this happy and popular event has already been printed in the Proceedings.

During the year death has claimed its sad toll of six Members: Mr. Charles William Bartholomew, M.A., Mr. Harry Bertram Earle Fox, Mr. David Thomas Harris, Mr. F.W. Lawrence, Mr. Henry Clay Miller, and Mr. Edward Shepherd. Mr. Bartholomew joined the Society in 1904, Mr. Harris in 1916, Mr. Lawrence in 1904, and Mr. Miller as an original Member was one of the first of our American supporters.

Of our late Secretary, Mr. Fox, and our colleague, Mr. Shepherd, we can only repeat the feeling terms in which the President spoke of them at our Meetings of April and October, but even those words fail to express the regret shared by all the Members at losing them from our midst.

The Honorary List has been reduced by the retirement from this country of two of its Members.

During the war the names of all Members on service were retained, whether their contributions were continued or not, but now the List of Members has been adjusted, and it is found that on November 30th last year the Ordinary Members numbered 350 only; and of these ten have resigned during the year.

The year 1920 will be remembered by Members for two most welcome incidents which deserve their gratitude. On August 16th an English Member, who desires to remain anonymous, wrote to Mr. Andrew enclosing a bank-note for £100 as a contribution towards the greatly increased cost of printing and issuing the Society's Journal.

Only a few days later Mr. J. Sanford Saltus, of New York, Officier de la Légion d'Honneur, forwarded through Major Carlyon-Britton a donation to our funds to the value of £113 18s. 1d. in English money. He had been present at the June Meeting, and it was an honour to the Members to welcome their vice-President from over the Seas, to whom the Society is indebted for financial support constantly given it.

Award of the John Sanford Saltus Gold Medal. — The Scrutators also reported that the ballot for the John Sanford Saltus Medal, which is awarded by the ballot of the Members triennially to the Member whose paper, appearing in the Society's publication, is in their opinion the best in the interests of numismatic science, had resulted in a majority of votes for Lieut.-Colonel H.W. Morrieson, F.S.A.

Exhibitions and Notes.

Mr. G.R. Francis exhibited a silver penny of Athelstan of the Derby mint, reading + ÆDELSTAN REX TO BRI; reverse, + SIGFOLDES MOT ON DEOΓEΓ, and in a short paper identified it as from the same reverse die as the interesting fragment of Anlaf, the Danish King of Northumbria, described by Major P. Carlyon-Britton in Volume V of the Journal. Mr. Francis called attention to the historical importance of this evidence, that the same die was successively used at Derby for money bearing on the obverse the names of both Athelstan and Anlaf, the opposing kings at the Battle of Brunanburgh.

Mr. W.J. Andrew exhibited and read an account of a bronze talisman and silver penny of the time of Henry III, found by Mr. G.E. Clim, with the remains of a human skeleton, in his garden on the hill outside the West Gate of Winchester. The coin was by the moneyer Robert of Canterbury, much clipped, and of the sceptred long-cross issue. The burial was in unconsecrated ground, outside the city, the skeleton headless and placed north and south and covered by a layer of flints of uniform size. Mr. Andrew thought that these conditions, especially the last, which instanced the ancient superstition that flints laid evil spirits, pointed to the interment of a telon—even, perhaps, one of those executed at Winchester for clipping in the year 1278.

Miss H. Farquhar showed nine boxes made from coins between the sixteenth and nineteenth centuries and intended to hold portraits or, later, counters.

Also, thirty-seven pieces illustrative of Touching for the King's Evil, from the angels of the Tudors to copper examples plated with silver used by Cardinal York, probably after he was driven from Rome by the Napoleonic troops, including examples of all the known varieties, and one unpublished, of the admission passes issued to the patients from the reign of Charles I.

Surgeon-Captain Weightman exhibited two similar farthings of pewter and of copper of William and Mary, 1689, halfpennies of pewter and of copper, probably of 1690, and a copper halfpenny of 1694, all with portrait busts by Bowers and, like the halfpennies and farthings of Charles II, of Swedish copper. Also a copper piece with the busts of William and Mary, and, reverse, a shield with the combined crosses of St. George and St. Andrew; inscribed BRITISH COPPER, and possibly struck as an appeal for the use of British copper.

British copper, he explained, being less pure than Swedish, was blacker and harder, and therefore more difficult to strike. Rolling and punching out the flans increased the hardness of the metal, and so led the patentees to resort to casting the flans, thus obtaining the metal in its softest possible state. It was a mistake to describe the halfpennies and farthings of the period as "cast". The flans were cast, but the coins were struck.

KENT NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

The annual general meeting took place on Jan. 13th. 1921, and was the occasion of the official opening of the Society's Library and Council Room at the Bridge Officers, Maidstone, when J. Tomlin Esq. J.P. presided over a well represented meeting. The elections for the year were first taken and resulted in the re-election of the President, Vice-Presidents, and Officers, and the Mayor of Maidstone, W. Day Esq. J.P., became Vice-President, ex-officio. A slight change occurred in the council who were re-elected with the exception of the Rev^d. J.R. Hale and Miss Thomson; while A.T. Lewis Esq. and H. Mallett Esq. were added to the number, and J.W. Clark Esq. of 35, Albion Place, Maidstone, was appointed Hon. Collector; and the day for ordinary meetings was altered from Thursday to Friday. The Annual Report and Balance Sheet was presented and was received with general satisfaction by all members present, the balance standing at £15.14.5 with liabilities nil. The subject of the Society's coin exhibition case to be placed in the Museum was brought forward and very strongly supported, and J.W. Bridge Esq. F.R.M.S. very generously offered to present a suitable cabinet for the purpose.

We regret to record the departure from the town of one of our Earliest members S.H. Pavière Esq. A.R.D.S.; we are however glad to know that although he is called to London he is still retaining his membership and we have to gratefully acknowledge a large case of beautiful medallions which he presented to the Society at this meeting. As the Society's more valuable collections have now been catalogued a council meeting was convened for Jan. 20th to check the same prior to their deposit in the Rank. This concluded the business of the annual general meeting and the election gave the result as shewn below.

President: The Hon. H.A. Hannen J.P. Vice-Presidents: Richard Cooke Esq., G. Forster Clark Esq. J.P., J. Tomlin Esq. J.P., The Mayor of Maidstone, W. Day Esq. J.P. Director: H. Risch Esq. Hon. Treasurer: W. Jacob Esq. Hon. Librarian: W. Savage Esq. F.R.N.S. Hon. Secretary: E.T. Clark Esq. Council: E. Avery, J.W. Bridge F.R.M.S., R. Cooke, G. Forster Clark J.P., E.T. Clark, The Hon. H.A. YORKSHIRE MUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

An ordinary meeting of the Society was held in The Leeds Institute on December 11th 1920, the President (Mr. J. F. Musham, F.E.S.) occupying the chair.

Mr. A. M. Woodward, M.A. (Oxon.), Reader in Ancient History and Archaeology in the University of Leeds read a paper on "Some Features of Early Roman Imperial Coinage".

In an interesting manner the lecturer summarized some of the conclusions arrived at as a result of recent research, notably by British scholars, into the currency of this period. After a brief survey of the main features of the coinage of the Roman Republic the lecturer described as the most important results of this investigation the conclusions that neither Augustus nor Tiberius established an Imperial mint in Rome itself, and that the principal issues in these metals by the former Emperor are to be ascribed to mints in Asia Minor, Spain and Gaul, and those of the latter to the mint at Lugdunum (Lyon) in the last-named province. After describing the institution of an Imperial mint in Rome presumably by Caius, and important innovations and reforms by Nero, Mr. Woodward drew attention to the complicated numismatic problems connected with the revolt by Vindex and the Civil wars of 68-70, and emphasized the importance of the restoration of a simplified system of control of the coinage due to the Emperor Vespasian.

It was this Emperor, in fact, who carried out to a logical conclusion the tentative measures of Augustus with regard to securing an Imperial control of the issue of gold and silver currency, and relinquishing to the Senate their traditional prerogative of coining in the baser metals. The paper was admirably illustrated by a number of coins and sulphur casts from the cabinets of Mr. T. Pickersgill. Mr. Woodward was thanked for his valuable contribution on the motion of the President, seconded by Mr. Pickersgill and supported by Mr. T. Sheppard.

Mr. T. Sheppard, M.Sc., F.G.S. exhibited and described upwards of 50 medallions produced in Germany during the late war. Several of these were the work of well-known German artists such as Prof. Sturm, K. Götz, Eue, Löwenthal, Oertel, etc., and included both commemorative and satirical pieces. Mr. Sheppard also showed a large number of Yorkshire Transport tokens used formerly and at the present time in connection with Municipal tramways, harbours, etc. — most of the pieces were struck in a non-metallic composition.

Mr. W. Thornton showed two unpublished 19th century tokens of Hull and Bradford the former being a variety of the Pickard half-penny and the latter a three shilling Bank of England token countermarked "Bradford Workhouse".

The President exhibited an old 4 oz. avoirdupois weight, conical and ringed, the body being filled with lead and stamped G. R. and lion in shield; also a halfpenny of Henry V dug up at Selby; and a George II shilling and George IV Colonial shilling recently taken from circulation in the same town.

Mr. A. Rider had on view a selection of German pre-war commemorative and portrait medals, a caricature of a German Iron Cross made in Hull, the Hull special constable's war Ribbon and star together with many other interesting pieces.

Mr. Frank Heeley exhibited a number of rare pattern pieces of George III and Victoria, an unpublished Keighley 19th century token, a New South Wales "Fifteen Pence" 1813 and a Victorian florin (1859) countermarked G. P. and crown for currency in the Azores.

Mr. Frank Varley showed specimen Coins in Bronze, Nickel and Aluminium issued by The Mint, Ltd. Birmingham, formerly Ralph Heaton and Sons.

The Hon. Sec. showed a number of "Stamps-Coins" used in Rhodesia during the late South African War. These were officially issued by the Civil Commissioner at Bulawayo and passed current for a period of two months (Aug. 1st to Oct. 1st 1900). He also showed an Anti-Jacobite medal of 1745 and a scarce pattern dollar of the United States in pewter dated 1776.

These pieces were struck by Sulla after his successful campaign against Mithradates VI of Pontus in Greece and in Asia Minor. He believed himself to be under the protection of Venus, who had granted him victory in battle as well as in love. The reverse refers to his election to the college of augurs and the trophies to the battles of Chaeroneia, B.C. 86 and of Orchomenos B.C. 85. B.M.C., 2, 460.

GORDIAN III, Pius.

A.D. 238-244. On the death of Pupienus and Balbinus, the younger Gordian was declared Augustus by the unanimous voice of the Senate; he was the grandson of Gordianus I Africanus. He had a very popular and successful reign till the traitor Philip managed to turn the army against him and he was assassinated.

PHILIP I.

A.D. 244-249. He rose through the various grades of office in the Roman army till he became Praetorian Prefect under Gordian III. And when that young prince was (at his instigation) slain, Philip was proclaimed Emperor by the soldiers. He is supposed to have been a good soldier. Marching against Trajan Decius, who had been saluted Emperor by the army in Pannonia, Philip was killed at Verona by his own troops.

TREBONIANUS GALLUS.

A.D. 251-254. He was proclaimed emperor on Trajan's death and at once concluded an ignominious treaty of peace with the Gothic invaders. The pestilence which was then ravaging the world had attained its most frightful mortality. Trebonianus, ascribing this to the Christians, subjected them to a cruel persecution. In 253 Aemilian, commander of the legions in Thrace, was proclaimed emperor by his soldiers and in the next year he killed Trebonianus and his son.

GREEK COINS.

COINS OF ALEXANDRIA TROAS.

In the Acts of the Apostles this city is called Troas in some places, and Alexandria in others, and also Alexandria Troas.

Eski Stamboul, or old Stamboul as it is now called, is situated opposite the S.E. point of Tenedos, about fifteen miles south of ancient Troy or Ilium. When St Paul rested there it was a city of considerable extent, well watered by an aqueduct some remains of which still remain. There are also the ruins of baths built in the Roman Colonial period, and a great part of the walls are still in existence, several miles in circumference. Much marble has been carried away to Constantinople with which some of the public buildings were erected. The city was founded about 310 B.C. by Antigonos who became ruler of Phrygia on the death of Alexander the Great. The new city was at first called Antigoneia Troas after its founder, who settled in it the inhabitants of several of the neighbouring cities. It was Lysimachus who changed the name to Alexandria Troas when he had defeated Antigonos in 301 B.C., and he reigned there till his death in 281 B.C.

Strabo (XIII, p. 593) tells us that Lysimachus restored the ancient city of Troy, "and about that time directed his attention to Alexandria founded by Antigonos, and surnamed Antigonia, which he altered to Alexandria. For it appeared to be an act of pious duty in the successors of Alexander, first to found cities which should bear his name. Alexandria continued to exist, and became a large place: at present it has received a Roman Colony and is reckoned among celebrated cities".

Horace (Bk. III Odes) refers to the idea of restoring Troy as unwise. Probably this is a reference to what Suetonius tells us of Julius Caesar's idea of making Alexandria or Troy the seat of the Roman Empire. These references to the city of Troas shew it was of no small importance even in the eyes of Romans. Even in later times Zosimus (II, 30) refers to a similar intention on the part of Constantine to make Troas his capital.

THE COINS.

The earliest coins of Alexandria Troas are bronze, bearing types imitated from those of Hamaxitus, one of the cities whose population was received into Alexandria by Lysimachus. The type was that of Apollo Smintheus.

Another of these early types was that of the horse feeding which had been used in Neandria whose citizens also were received into the new Alexandria. The earliest silver coins attributable to that city are tetradrachms of Antiochus II (261 to 216 B.C.) bearing as mint mark a horse feeding.

L. Müller attributes the tetradrachms of Alexander and his successors which bear the same mintmark to this city; they were issued about 189 B.C.

Tetradrachms and drachms of Attic weight bearing the type of Apollo Smintheus were issued about the same type. Spanheim says they are dated from 300 B.C. probably the year in which Lysimachus changed the name of the city to Alexandria. Dates on coins known vary from 164 B.C. to 65 B.C.

De Witte has conjectured that the era should be 312 B.C., i.e. the Seleucid era, and the coins would then be those of from 176 B.C. to 77 B.C. Under Augustus the city became a Colonia and the coins known are a series extending from the time of Caracalla to that of Gallienus.

THE CULT OF THE SMINTHIAN APOLLO.

Hesychius and Stephanus of Byzantium teach us that the title Σμινθεύς is derived from the name of the city Σμίνθος or Σμίνθη in Troas.

Strabo (lib. XIII, c. 1, Casanb 604) says that "The name of Smintheus is to be found in many places, for near Hamaxitus itself, besides the Sminthian Apollo at the temple, there are two places called Sminthia, and others in the neighbouring district of Larissa. In the district also of Pariane is a place called Sminthia; others in Rhodes, Lindus and many places besides. The temple is now called Sminthium."

Strabo derives the name from the word for a mouse, speaking of the city Chrysa "on a rocky height above the sea with Hamaxitus lying below", he says: "The Temple of Apollo Smintheus is in this Chrysa, and the symbol, a mouse, which shews the etymology of the epithet Smintheus, lying under the foot of the statue. They are the workmanship of Scopas of Paros. They reconcile the history, and the fable about the mice in the following manner. The Teucris who came from Crete were directed by an oracle to settle where ever the earth-born inhabitants should attack them, which it is said occurred to them near Hamaxitus, for in the night time great multitudes of field-mice came out and devoured all arms or utensils made of leather; the colony therefore settled there".

The word σμινθεύς is said to be of Cretan origin in the Scholiast Ven. on Iliad I, 39.

Most of us heard of this god first when we read the prayer of the priest Chryses, "Hear me god of the silver bow that standest over Chrysa and holy Killa and rulest Tenedos with might, O Smintheus". Strabo also quotes Heracleides of Pontus as saying "that the mice which swarmed near the temple were considered as sacred, and the statue is represented as standing on a mouse".

The notes of Servius on Æneid lib. III, 105 relate the legends of the founding of Troy by Teucer from Crete. It is interesting to notice the similar legend, regarding mice destroying arms, told by Herodotus (lib. II, 141) about Sennacherib's army at Pelusium. "When they arrived there a number of field mice pouring in devoured their quivers and their bows and also the handles of their shields."

It is difficult to find out whether this Cult of Troas was indigenous, or whether it is only a Greek importation, and even then, whether Apollo was regarded as the destroyer of vermin, or as the god who afforded help, by warding off evil, the deliverer of men from disease. Mice and rats were emblems of plague in the east. The Philistines evidently so regarded them when they made the golden mice of which we read in I. Samuel VI. J. Meinhold has written on this subject in Die Jesajaarzahlungen, p. 34 ssq.

The facing types of the god's head on some of the coins show distinct traces of archaism. These can hardly have been copied from the work of Scopas spoken of by Strabo. The type of the god without the emblem of the rat or mouse appears on the coins of Mysian cities, as Apollonia ad Rhyndacum and Cyzicus. A legend of the discovery by a herdsman of a statue of the god in a cave is referred to on some types, and the same herdsman appears on others in the presence of a god, probably Apollo. The same figure appears also standing by a feeding horse. The legend has not apparently been mentioned in ancient literature.

THE TYPE OF THE FEEDING HORSE.

This type first appears on the Autonomous coins of the city issued about 300 B.C. and is derived from the coins of Neandria issued for about a hundred years previously. Cavedoni has suggested that it was meant to represent one of the horses of Erichthonius the father of Tros.

The fact that grass is represented on some of the coins is against the suggestion of M. Babelon that the horse is a wingless Pegasus.

This Erichthonius was not the mythical Athenian who introduced the worship of Athena, but a son of Dardanus who had 3000 mares which were so beautiful that Boreas fell in love with them.

He is mentioned as a king of Crete (Ovid, Fast IV, 31, 33) (Apollodorus, III, 12, § 2).

The Trojans were called by Homer horse-tamers ἵππῶταροι (Iliad, IV, 352) and probably the type represented one of the sources of wealth of the district.

THE TYPE OF AN EAGLE HOLDING A BULL'S HEAD.

This type probably represents a legend that the founder seeking guidance as to the site of his city saw an eagle carry off part of a sacrifice, and then founded his city wherever the eagle dropped the prey. A similar legend is told concerning the site of the Syrian Antioch by Libanius (Orat., XI, vol. I, p. 464, Ed Foerster).

A similar legend is also told concerning Nicomedia founded by Nicomedes I. of Bithynia (confer Wroth, Brit. Mus. Cat., Pontus, p. xx, p. 190, no. 62).

Tolstoi; — Ludwig Anzengruber; — Hedwig Freifrau von Wrangel; — Erik Schmedes; — G. Hauptmann; — G. Charpentier; — Peter Rosegger.

At the New York International Medallic Exhibition, March 1910, this artist exhibited the following works: Adolf Sonnenthal; — Emil Sauer; — Adolf Menzel; — Siegfried Wagner; — Mammon; — Neujahrswunsch; — Nietzsche; — Maxime Gorki; — G. Charpentier; — Erik Schmedes; — Hedwig Wrangel; — Multatuli; — Prof. Dr Mach; — Björnson; — Darwin, 105 mill.; — Richard Strauss; — Ibsen; — Theodor Mommsen; — Brahms; — Joachim; — Robert and Clara Schumann; — J. Kubelik; — Gustav Mahler; — Hugo Wolf; — New year's Plaquettes 1905, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910; — Merit medal; — Kaiser Medaille; — Horticulture; — Dr Ehrlich and Hata; R. Herakles and hydra; 65 mill.; — Dr Joseph Neumayer; — New Year's Plaquette 1911; — 600th Anniversary of the Hallstadt Saltworks, 1911 (in conjunction with Richard Placht); — Silver Calendar Box; — Vereinter Kräfte Arbeit-Segen; plaquette, 72 × 72 mill., 1911; — Josef Strauss; cast 55 × 91, etc.

KOWARZIK, JOSEPH (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 210). The artist was born on 1. March 1860 in Vienna, where he was first educated, died at Cannes on 14. March 1911 in his 51st year. From 1893 to 1897 he was a teacher at the Industrial School, Frankfort-on-M., and since 1905 Professor of modelling at the Institute of Fine Arts. He distinguished himself as a Portraitist and made himself a name outside the boundaries of his native country.

Portrait of the Artist.

His medallic works include further: Jubilee Medal of the City of Mannheim, 1907 (published by Sally Rosenberg, Frankfort-on-M.); — Portrait of the artist (illustrated); — Marriage medal of Hans Christian Lange, 1883; — Portrait-plaquette of Theodor Mommsen, 1903; — Dr Paul Ehrlich and Madame Hata (Japanese), joint discoverers of cure for syphilis; signed FK in monogram; — Dr Paul Ehrlich; signed: FKOWARZIK FRANKFURT.M.; — Dr J. G. Varrentrap, Frankfort-on-M.; signed: J. KOWARZIK; — Dr Carl Weigert, Frankfort-on-M.

At the Berlin Kunst Ausstellung, 1907, this artist exhibited 8 struck medals and plaquettes: Maximilian von Guaita; — Burgo-master of Frankfort-on-M.; — Weigert; — Female bust; — Hans Thoma; — Goethe; — Mannheim Jubilee Medal; — Stockhausen, and 8 cast medals and plaquettes: Monneron; — Kessler; — Mommsen; — Double female head; — W. Steinhausen, painter; — Self-portrait; — Sisters; — The artist's wife, etc.

KOWARZIK, R. (Germ.). Contemporary Sculptor and Medallist, residing at Karlsruhe. His signature R. KOWARZIK KARLSRUHE occurs on a Portrait-medal of Dr Herman Kuhnt, of Königsberg.

KRÄMER, A. (Germ.). Sculptor of Frankfort-on-M., later in Stettin. He modelled in 1913 for Pöllath of Schrobhausen a "Childrens' Souvenir Medal", WOHL DEM DER FREUDE AN SEINEM KINDE ERLEBT.

KRAENDL, WENZL (Austr.). Goldsmith of Meran, and Die-cutter at the Mint of Hall in Tyrol, circ. 1482-1492.

KRAFFT, HANS (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 213). Prof. B. Pick ascribes to this Nuremberg Master the Reichsadler of Frederick the Wise of Saxony, 1514; that of 1518, and the Charles V. 1521 medal, designed by Albrecht Dürer. R. Double eagle, and dedicated by the city of Nuremberg.

KRAFFT (Germ.). Engraver in Berlin, 1829-1865.

KRAIUCHIN (Russ.). Gem-engraver of the latter end of the eighteenth century and beginning of the nineteenth; worked at Petrograd. He is represented by signed gems in the Hermitage Collection, viz. portraits of the Empress Anne and the Emperor Alexander, and a Hercules with Antaeus (Dalton, B.M. Cat. of Engraved Gems, etc., LVI).

KRAHI, P. (Austr.). Contemporary Medallist, whose signature occurs on a Plaquette of the Zwettl Male Choir, 1911.

KRAUER, FRANZ KARL (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 218). Was authorised by the Landsgemeinde in Sarnen on 29. October 1724 in conjunction with his brother-in-law Gebhard Joh. Dub to coin gold, silver and billon currency. From August 1724 to 1737 he was Mint-master at Lucerne, and issued in 1727 the Ducats from Emmengold. He lost his office, on the accusation that he had exchanged all kinds of rough silver coins against his billon coins ("sich erfrechet, aller gattung grober silber Sorten gegen seine geringhaltigen Mützen aufzuwechseln"). Krauer coined however again for Obwald in 1742, and Appenzell 1743.

KRAUER (also KRAWER, CRAUER), HANS GEORG (JÖRG) senior (Swiss). Ancestor of the various members of this family who distinguished themselves as Goldsmiths and Die-engravers. In 1682 he furnished the City Council of Lucerne with gilt Scholastic Prize Medals. Cf. F. Heinemann, in Schweizer. Künstler-Lexikon, II, p. 192.

KRAUER, JOHANN GEORG (B.D.M., Vol. II, p. 218). Painter(?), Goldsmith and Mint-master; son of Hans Georg, K. Senior, and father of Wilhelm K.; was born at Lucerne, and was in the service of that city from 1673 to about 1702; Mint-master there 1673-1677 and 1682-1694; then at Sion, 1677 and 1683, and at Zoug, 1692/93. On 2. March 1676 K. complained to the Lucerne Council that if he was not allowed to coin other money than Rappen and Angster he could not afford to pay the rent of the mint, amounting to 60 Gulden. On 17. November 1690 he was succeeded at Lucerne by the Mint-master Franz Melch. Hartmann. He was still living in 1702. Cf. Heinemann, as above.

KRAUER, WILHELM (B.D.M., Vol. II, p. 218). Goldsmith, Die-engraver, and Mint-master; died on 20. January 1717. Besides the information I have given previously, I may mention that K. tried in vain to undertake the Strassburg mintage, but at the end of 1716 he leased the Mints of Montbéliard and Porrentruy, in which latter place he died, in the service of the Bishop of Basle.

K. confined himself to the striking of Heller. The better issues from the Montbéliard and Porrentruy were engraved by Hedlinger (until August 1816). Cf. Heinemann, as above.

THE BRONZE COINAGE OF THE LATE ROMAN EMPIRE

BY HUGH GOODACRE F.R.N.S.

MINERVINA.

First wife of Constantine I.

Practically nothing is known of this lady beyond the fact that she was the mother of Crispus, nor has her memory been perpetuated by the issue of coins bearing her name or effigy. It is a matter of doubt if she were ever legally married to Constantine.

FAUSTA.

Second wife of Constantine I.

Flavia Maxima Fausta, daughter of Maximianus I (Hercules) and Eutropia, married Constantine the Great as his second wife in 307 and became the mother of Constantine II, Constantius II and Constans. She was suffocated in her bath by order of her husband for some reason which has never been clearly understood.

The name of this empress as recorded on her coins, which are not uncommon in Third Brass, reads FLAVIA MAXIMA FAVSTA AVGVSTA, variously abbreviated, and her portrait is readily recognizable by the succession of waves in which she was accustomed to dress her hair. The Emperor Julian has recorded of her that "her personal beauty and nobility of character were such that it would be hard to find her match among women".

HELENA.

Mother of Constantine I.

Probably few of the Roman Empresses are better known today than Flavia Julia Helena, the mother of Constantine the Great. "The first of the Christian Empresses", as we sometimes find her described, Helena never shared the throne with her husband and it was not until long after his death that she received the title of Augusta at the hands of her son.

Much has been written concerning her origin and actual status, but the truth would appear to be that she was of humble birth and that her relationship with Constantius Chlorus never aspired to the dignity of marriage. St Ambrose tells us that she was said to have been a "stabularia", or girl at one of the taverns which served as temporary resting places for soldiers and others in the towns through which the great Roman roads ran. Tradition asserts that she was the daughter of the keeper of one of these houses at Drepanum on the road to Nicomedia. The probability is that it was while passing through this town that Constantius, an officer in the army of Aurelian, first saw and fell in love with her. The encounter, Mr. McCabe tells us in his "Empresses of Rome", is placed at the time that Aurelian was conducting his campaign against Zenobia, when Constantius would have been in his twenty third year and Helena a year or two older. That the love of the young officer was returned there can be no doubt, and the girl was content to accept such position as he could offer and to accompany him in his travels. In 274 she bore him a son, the future ruler of the Roman World.

But promotion came to the father, and with it came trouble. In 292 Constantius was raised to the Caesarship of the West, and the tavern girl, who had shared his fortunes up to this time, had to make room for an imperial consort, Flavia Maximiana Theodora, the step-daughter of the Emperor Maximian. Numismatics tempt one to believe that the unfortunate Helena received sympathetic treatment at the hands of her successor, for we know that when Constantine in later years caused coins to be struck in honour of his mother, whom he had raised to the imperial rank, he caused a similar distinction to be conferred upon his step-mother, a thing he would hardly have done had the former received ill-treatment at her hands.

On the marriage of Constantius and Theodora Helena passed into obscurity, but when her son had become master of the whole Empire we find her once more at Court and an enthusiastic supporter of the new faith. To the Church she became a munificent patron, and they tell of how she visited the Holy Land, and discovered the sepulchre of Our Lord and the remains of the true cross. She died at an advanced age about 328, and subsequently received canonization.

The coins of Helena divide themselves into two classes, those struck during her lifetime, consisting of Third Brass, and quinarii struck as memorial coins after her death. They present certain variations in portraiture and the manner in which the hair is dressed. Her name and title appear as FLAVIA HELENA AUGUSTA or FL JUL HELENA AUGUSTA, and in one instance her name reads AELENA.

THEODORA.

Step-mother of Constantine I.

The Empress Flavia Maximiana Theodora was the daughter of Galeria Valeria Eutropia, the second wife of the Emperor Maximian Hercules by a Syrian nobleman whose name has not been recorded. She became the wife of Constantius Chlorus on his elevation to the rank of Caesar and bore him three sons and three daughters. Little else is known of her.

All the coins of this Empress, with the exception of the two noted below, were struck during the reign of her step-son Constantine the Great. The legend on the obverse reads FL MAX THEODORA or THEODORA AVG.

HELENA, N.F. and FAUSTA, N.F.

During the Constantine period coins were struck in honour of two ladies, each bearing the title Nobilissima Femina. The name of one of these ladies was Helena, the name of the other Fausta. The coins were struck in Third Brass and have the same reverse type, namely a star within a wreath, and where a mint mark appears (which is not usually the case) it is that of Thessalonica. Both coins are extremely rare, that of Helena being slightly the rarer of the two. These coins have formed the subject of much discussion in numismatic circles. The coins of Helena have been given in turn to Helena the mother of Constantine the Great, to Helena the wife of his son Crispus; and to Helena the wife of Julian the Apostate; while those of Fausta have been assigned to the wife of Constantine, the first wife of Constantius II and to a supposed sister of Julian. Cohen attributes the Helena N.F. coins to St. Helena, the mother of Constantine the Great and those of Fausta to this Emperor's wife and is followed in this country by Mr. Percy Webb in both these attributions and in France by M. Maurice in the latter only. The Rev. A.W. Hands, who has also written in this country on the same subject, differs from all these authorities, and assigns the Helena coins to the wife of Julian and the Fausta to a sister of this Emperor, who would appear to be the same as the first wife of Constantius II.

With this record before me I have decided to place the N.F. coins under a separate heading.

Both Mr. Webb and Mr. Maurice appeal to the portraiture on the coins, but with the greatest deference to such eminent authorities, it seems to me that little reliance can be placed on this — at least as far as the features are concerned. The manner in which the hair is dressed is, however, of great moment. In this respect the coins of Helena Augusta differ entirely from those of Helena N.F. In the case of Fausta the difference is less marked, in fact there is a similarity almost amounting to identity in the absence of explanation. It must be borne in mind, however, that certain conventionalities prevailed in the representation of imperial personages, even extending to peculiarities associated with their names and rank. In all probability the ladies themselves assumed a style of head dress adopted by bearers of the same name. There is therefore nothing extraordinary in finding two ladies of the name of Fausta wearing their hair in a similar fashion. If we accept the Constantine period as the date of issue, what can be more reasonable than to assume that the mode of dressing the hair adopted by the young and beautiful Empress should be the accepted fashion of the day? It may also well be that there was a recognized style of coiffure for a Nobilissima Femina corresponding to the bare head of a Nobilissimus Caesar.

All numismatists would appear to be agreed that the N.F. coins were issued during the Constantine period, and it is only reasonable to conclude that the holder of the title was the wife of a Nobilissimus Caesar, the title usually reserved to the heir to the throne. Now within the period extending from the reign of Constantine the Great to Julian the Apostate, say from 306 to 363, there were three Caesars bearing this title who might have had wives bearing the names of Helena or Fausta. First, there is Crispus the eldest son of Constantine, whose wife's name there is some evidence to prove was Helena. Then there is Constantine II, who is known to have been twice married, but the names of whose wives have not descended to us, and lastly there is Constantius II, the name of whose first wife is equally unknown, although Mr. McCabe (The Empresses of Rome, p. 288) calls her Galla. In doing so I think he is confusing her with her mother. To the above must be added Helena, the wife of Julian the Apostate. It will be seen from this that, after accounting for the two Helenas, there are still three ladies left, any one of whom may well have been another Helena or Fausta. Both the Helena and the Fausta of the N.F. coinage appear as comparatively young women, while we know that St. Helena was beyond all question far advanced in years at the date at which her son caused coins to be struck in her honour. Further, there is no evidence that St. Helena ever had the title of Nobilissima Femina accorded her, but all the evidence we have goes to show that the striking of coins in her honour was decreed at the time that she was raised to the rank of Augusta.

Mr. Maurice assigns the Helena N.F. coins to the wife of Crispus and supports his contention by the fact that they were struck at Thessalonica where her husband was in charge of the fleet. Mr. Hands attributes these coins to the wife of Julian struck during her life-time and refers to the similarity of the reverse type to a silver coin of this Emperor. It is certainly a fact that both Julian and his brother Gallus issued silver coins with the reverse type a star within a wreath, a type which does not appear in the reigns of Constantine or his sons if we except the POP ROM type, the date of the issue of which is uncertain. Another point which might be urged in support of an attribution to the period of Julian is the absence of a diadem or other ornament on the hair. It may be said that as the ladies only possessed the inferior title, this is what would naturally be expected. But it was not the case with the sons of Constantine during their Caesarships; they appear laureate and diademed, as does also his nephew Delmatius. But with Gallus and Julian the practice of representing the Nobilissimus Caesar with his head bare was revived. If the coins of Helena stood alone the case for the attribution to the wife of Julian would be strong, but the resemblance of the representation of the lady on the Fausta N.F. coins to the Empress Fausta undoubtedly weakens it. Yet, as I have endeavoured to show, the resemblance rests in reality upon the manner in which the hair is dressed and may be explained away. It is difficult to conceive of the wife of Constantine having ever borne the title Nobilissima Femina, as it was on her marriage to him that he received from her step-father, Maximian Hercules, the title of Augustus. Is it likely that Constantine would have accorded to the wife who brought him his title a rank inferior to that he himself obtained with her hand?

Mr. Webb, who denies the comparative youth of the Helena represented on these coins, points out that the workmanship of the coins is of far too good a style and execution for the period of Julian. This may be true of the smaller bronze coins, but we must not forget that some of the gold and Large Brass of this Emperor show a degree of excellence which is not surpassed in the whole series of the Late Empire and that the execution of the N. F. coins may have been entrusted to craftsmen of the first rank.

The existence of a coin of Constantia, the sister of Constantine the Great, bearing the title N. F. would be some corroboration of the earlier date of the Helena and Fausta coins, were it not for the fact that numismatists are agreed that this coin is of later date than the reign of Constantine.

After careful consideration I have come to the conclusion that the portraits on the N. F. coins of Helena and Fausta do, as M. Cohen and Mr. Webb contend, represent the mother and wife of Constantine the Great, but that their issue was not a contemporaneous one. I have ventured to advance the theory (see Numismatic Circular, 1919, pp. 111 and 407 and Mr. Webb's reply, p. 183) that the coinage is a memorial one and was struck, either in the reign of Constantius II or in that of Julian the Apostate. My reasons for this conclusion will be found in the Journal referred to.

CONSTANTIA.
Sister of Constantine I.

Flavia Valeria Constantia was the daughter of the Emperor Constantius Chlorus and Theodora, and consequently half-sister to Constantine the Great, who married her to the Emperor Licinius.

After the outbreak of war between the brothers-in-law and the defeat of Licinius, Constantia obtained her husband's pardon from her brother, and although Licinius was subsequently put to death by Constantine's orders, yet this fact does not seem to have interrupted the affection which existed between Constantia and her brother to the day of her death.

At first an orthodox Christian, Constantia later espoused the Arian creed, and it was mainly through her influence with her brother that Arius was recalled from the exile to which he had been sent after the condemnation of his theories by the Council of Nicæa.

Constantia died somewhere between 328 and 330.

To numismatists Constantia is known by a single Third Brass coin, which in the opinion of most authorities, was struck at a considerably later date. The only specimen of which I am aware is that in the French National Collection and is thus described:—

Obv. CONSTANTIA N. F. Bust to r. with hair in coil at back of head.

CRISPUS (Caesar).

Flavius Julius Crispus, eldest son of Constantine the Great by Minervina, was born about 300 A.D. He was made Caesar by his father on the 1st of March 317, together with his half-brother Constantine II and Licinius the younger, and was nominated Consul the following year. He was a prince of great talents and virtue and early distinguished himself by his military achievements. In 323 he destroyed the fleet of the Emperor Licinius at Gallipoli. By a rash and cruel order of his father, probably prompted by jealousy, he was put to death in 326.

The coins of this prince are extremely numerous (and for the most part common) in bronze, excessively rare in gold, and unknown in silver. On them he is styled CRISPUS or JUL. CRISPUS or FL JUL CRISPUS NOB or NOBIL C or CAES.

DELMATIUS (Caesar).
(335 to 337).

Flavius Julius Delmatus was the son of Delmatus, the brother of Constantine the Great. Being a favourite with his uncle whom he is said to have resembled in character, he was elected Consul in 333 and created Caesar in 335.

On the partition of the Empire by Constantine, Delmatus received Thrace, Macedonia and Achaia, but shortly after the death of the Emperor he was assassinated by the soldiers with the connivance of his cousin Constantius II.

He is not known to have left any issue.

Cohen only gives sixteen varieties of the coins of this prince, four in gold, which he values at 1200 francs each, one in silver (400 fr.) and the remainder slight variants of the following types.

1820.

No. 61. — Rectangular oak-case, $5\frac{7}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{4} \times 1$ in. lid and base extending beyond the sides of the case, in front and at sides, iron-wire hinges, large decorated C-shaped hasp. The nails holding the ends and bottom of this case are clenched inwards, not driven home.

Inside lid : small oval label, with foliated border, enclosing the Royal Arms and the address.

Scale Makers
No. 10 Butcher Row
Temple Barr
London.

There are two rectangular pans for weights.

Scales. — A well finished set with oval tapering balance beam.

Pans. — Brass, dished, $1\frac{7}{8}$ in. diameter; cords stout, green, and twisted, with woven wire covered bone ring as collar below the loops.

Weights. — Two for sovereign and $\frac{1}{2}$ sovereign, stamped on obverse and reverse.

No. 62. — Oblong mahogany cut-out-of-the-solid round-ended case $5\frac{5}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{8} \times \frac{7}{8}$ in., with bottom piece glued on. Pair of small brass plates hinges, and snap-catch; inside case large circular well for pans in the centre, connected to two smaller ones at ends of case for beam heads, cut at a bevel on the further edge to give room to the cord tassels. The pens for the weights follow the outline of the edges of the case, the two smaller circles just described giving them two acute angles and one obtuse one.

Scales. — A well made and decorated set, the central portion of beam octagonal in section. Gallows and indicator to match.

Pans. — With rounded turned-over margins, copper, plated inside.

Cords. — Stout, dark green and braided, tassels, large greenish yellow.

Weights. — 5 round knobbed, for guinea, $\frac{1}{2}$ ditto, sovereign and $\frac{1}{4}$ ditto (infrequent in cases of this kind).

No. 63. — Rectangular mahogany case $6\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{4} \times 1$ in., with wire hinges and wire hasp and staple, the latter engaging through lid. Case unlined, 2 square pens for weights.

Scales. — All brass, pan cords buff, tassels green.

Weights. — 4 for 36/-, 18/-, 21/- and 10/6d. respectively.

An unusual type, suggests continental make.

No. 64. — Rectangular case, with rose-wood moulded lid. $8 \times 4 \times 1\frac{1}{2}$ in. 2 brass hinges, and front hasp. lined green velvet, with one pen for weights.

Scales. — A strong heavy set of conventional design, with large brass pans, 3 ins. in diameter.

Weights. — 9 sheet weights for grains, of the older type, with stamped lion.

This is evidently a Troy weight set.

Accompanying this set is a much smaller pair of money scales, in identical design, and evidently by the same maker.

No. 65. — The following is a copy of two labels, both apparently from the same box of scales. They are from steel plates and each label measures $4 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$ ins. The Royal Arms, supported by the lion and unicorn are at the head of each label.

No. 66. — Oblong cut-out-of-the-solid oak case $6\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{2} \times 1$ in. with arcuate ends, and rounded off overlapping edges to lid : contemporary large iron C- hasp, which is rare; brass wire-loop hinges and wire staple. Body lined green baize; two rectangular pens for weights are provided; forming part of the rear end of the case, the beam of the scales resting along the front edge of case when not in use.

Scales. — Balance beam long, slender, tapering and round; gallows : stout, flat-sided and tapering, with decorated end to arms, and no guard link.

Pan. — Cords : stout, yellow, and long.

Weights. — 5, for 36/-, 27/-, 21/-, 18/- and 13/6.

No. 67. — Octagonal mahogany case, $6\frac{3}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{2} \times 1$ in. cut-out-of-the-solid, lid with moulded edges overlapping back and front, 2 stout plate hinges secured to lid by means of a round headed brass rivet standing up like a stud; 2 iron wire staples engaging through holes in lid to contemporary pattern brass hasps.

Inside lid, rectangular label divided into three arched panels, the middle one depicting the sign of "Hand and Scales" the left side reading, "Thos. Harrison Scale Maker in Cannon St. London. Makes and Sells all sorts of Scales Weights and Steelyards and Do.

for exportation": the right, the standard weight of gold coins ranging from the 5 Moidore piece, the half guinea and 9/- piece. With note that "each Grain of Gold is Two Pence at four Pound p. ounce".

The body of the case has long narrow recess with circular terminals for balance beam, connected to large central circular well for pans.

Eleven shallow circular wells for the weights, with wooden slide covered grain weight locker, through the lid of which a brass pin enters to prevent any slipping out.

Weights. — Various in design from the £ 3. 12/, to $\frac{1}{2}$ guinea.

No. 68. — Rectangular mahogany case with moulded edge to lid and brass snap-catch.

Lined inside with red velvet; has double pen for weights.

Scales. — Balance beam plain finish, oval in section; box heads; gallows fitted with sliding cap to bearings; guard-link spur-shaped, screw studded instead of the more general hook-suspension.

Pans. — Large, plain, stamped 1 on underside.

Weights. — 2 knobbed, for sovereign and $\frac{1}{2}$ ditto similar in style to those usually met with in the oval japanned pocket sets; and not so frequent in boxes of this description.

1840.

No. 69. — Rectangular mahogany case $5\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{3}{8}$ ins., with decorated hasp and baize lined, overlapping lid; receptacle at each end for weights, with rounded-off edges.

Scales. — Inferior finish, in soft metal, badly balanced and fitted.

Beam. — Round in section, tapering to ends, hollowed out beneath centre; tip of indicator knobbed, with a collar just above the base; brass pans with three incised concentric lines; style of Scale approximating to modern forms; the hasp denotes greater age, but the box and contents suggest early Victorian.

No. 70. — Rectangular mahogany case, with moulded lid $7 \times 3\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$ in., "push-in" catch, scales with large pans, case fitted in one corner with pierced block of mahogany, holding two circular knobbed weights for sovereign and half sovereign, apparently a converted troy-weight set.

No. 71. — Rectangular oak case, $5\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{3}{4} \times 1$ in., lined green baize, with one locker for weights.

Inside lid, rectangular bordered label reading: —

The opposite end has a knobbed brass lidded square locker for grain weights.

The lid of the case is pierced inside to accommodate the knob of locker and those of the coin weights.

Scales. — A well finished set; pan cords; many stranded blue bound twist.

No. 78. — Mahogany round-ended case, $5\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{4} \times \frac{5}{8}$ ins. body cut-out-of-the-solid; bottom with extended edges, glued on, the lid has the edges to match but neatly rounded off, two brass plate-hinges and push catch.

A strip of padded pink silk extends across inside of the lid to protect the scales.

Case lined maroon velvet, fitted with a pierced wooden block carrying 2 knobbed Weights for guinea and half guinea.

Scales. — Beam, oval and tapering; oilcaps to gallows blued.

Pans. — Brass $1\frac{1}{4}$ in. diameter cords, green braided.

No. 78a. — Oblong mahogany case with rounded off corners, $5\frac{5}{8}$ by $2\frac{1}{2}$ by $\frac{7}{8}$ th, neatly cut out in piece to the shape of the scale beam and pans, with at each end corresponding pins for the weights to match the general design; glued-on bottom, lined inside green baize, plate hinges and snap catch.

Inside lid contemporary three-compartment-printed label reading: —

N.B. Likewise will agree to keep them in Repair, by the Year.

Completed with the usual list of standard weights of gold Coins ranging from the 5 moidore piece to the pistole, including the guinea and half-guinea.

Note. Each Grain of Gold is two pence at Four Pound per Ounce.

The scales and weights in this set are missing.

SECTION C.

BLACK JAPANNED TINNED IRON AND TIN OVAL CASES.

Oval flat japanned cases with scales and weights were common in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. The weights are usually stored in variously shaped receptacles or pens within the cases: frequently covered with light red paper. Many of the cases were japanned at Pontypool near Cardiff, and fine examples of this peculiar local industry, which included tea-caddies, knife-boxes, snuff-boxes, etc., are to be seen in the Cardiff Museum. Another similar industry existed near Wolverhampton. The accompanying illustrations show plans of the various varieties of receptacles, etc., for weights in these cases. Occasionally on the top of the lid a figure of Justice is painted, and at other times rural views:

Makers' names are rare, and we have only been able to trace "W. Turton, Compton St., Soho, London" (see no. 83). Jno. Amos and Wm. Parkes, Bilston (see no. 85).

Plans showing various methods of storing the weights in the oval boxes. In figures 1-8 the weights are represented by circles, the shaded portions by pieces of wood covered by red paper. Figs 9-12 show the shaped partitions for weights made by strips of metal.

No. 79. — Oval black japanned case, with 40 small purple blotches on lid (Pontypool); inside padded with pink silk, bottom lined with green baize.

Red papered block for three round knobbed weights.

Scales. — Of the usual pattern.

FIG. 38.

Weights. — Are of interest, the more usual guinea weight being replaced by two for the quarter guinea, which with the $\frac{1}{2}$ guinea weight, make up the amount required.

No. 80. — A similar set, case $3\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{4}$ ins., minus the purple blotches on lid.

Weights. — Two, for guinea and half-guinea (no. o8.63 National Museum of Wales).

No. 81. — The box in this instance is fitted with a rivetted-on sinuous pen, confining a wooden block pierced for three circular knobbed weights, contrasting the more frequent form which is minus the metallic support and simply glued to the bottom and sides.

Scales. — A well designed balance beam $4\frac{3}{4}$ in. long, hexagonal, slender, straight, tapering and acutely keeled its entire length above and below; ends oval in section, with round box head, and sides of beam decorated in the centre by a wide notch flanked by two finer ones.

Indicator. — Tapering and acute with bobbin-shaped base and two small collets below the tip.

Cords. — Suspended to large $\frac{5}{16}$ in. partially-split rings.

Pans. — $1\frac{5}{8}$ in. diameter, plain copper.

Weights. — Three, for guinea, half-guinea and quarter guinea.

No. 82. — Case containing a roughly finished set of guinea scales evidently for a farmer's use.

Balance beam. — Round and tapering.

Gallows. — With arched head, short and wide set.

Indicator. — Stout, tapering, with conical tips (tulip bud).

Weights. — Two for the guinea of 1772.

FIG.

No. 83. — Case without blotches, $6\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$ in. The usual pink padding inside lid, red papered block for weights.

Scales. — Balance beam long and tapering and acutely oval in section, box heads, "sight-hole".

Gallows. — With blued oil-caps, blued guard link.

Tassel. — Red and green.

Pans. — Brass 2 in. in diameter.

Cords. — Braided and green with woven silvered-wire covered collar below suspension ring.

Weights. — Two, for guinea and half-guinea, round knobbed, stamped anchor. Maker-W. Turton, Compton St., Soho, London.

A similar set, with an additional folding telescopic support for scales when in use, together with an extra weight for the quarter guinea, is in the Halifax Museum.

AN EXTREMELY RARE BRITISH IMPERIAL PATTERN CROWN DATED 1892.

O. — Legend : — VICTORIA.DEI.GRA.BRITT.REG.FID.
DEF.IND.IMP. Truncated bust of the Queen and Empress, in profile and looking to the left. Her Majesty is wearing a diadem richly jewelled and heightened with alternate crosses pattées and fleur-de-lys. The hair is parted on the forehead and carried behind the ear to the rear of the head. The diadem and hair are partly hidden by drapery arranged in folds, which fall gracefully upon the shoulders. A necklace of beads, with a pendant in front, encircles the neck. An ear-drop is suspended from the left ear. On the dress, which is decorated with a tucker, part of The Star of the Most Noble Order of The Garter on the left breast. The whole within an ornamented rim.

E. — Inscribed : — DECUS ET TUTAMEN ANNO REGNI LVI. An Imperial Crown after DECUS, TUTAMEN, and REGNI.

I believe this coin is unique and it differs from the crown issued for general currency in the year 1893 in having the abbreviation REG instead of the word REGINA in the legend on the obverse, and the initials T.B. (Sir Thomas Brock, K.C.B.), are omitted from the obverse. The reverse is similar to the reverse of the current coin except that it bears the date 1892.

The letters of the inscription on the edge of this pattern coin are smaller, and there is less space between them, and there is more space between the words than there is in the inscription on the crown minted for circulation in 1893.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Monsieur le Directeur,

Ayant visité dernièrement la Principauté de Liechtenstein, je suis allé entre autres au Palais du Gouvernement à Vaduz, où l'on m'a permis de relever sur le livre de la Caisse d'État, le nombre des pièces frappées à Vienne, à l'effigie de Jean II, Prince Souverain de Liechtenstein.

En publiant ce relevé, je suis sûr d'intéresser une partie de vos lecteurs.

Pour récapituler, le nombre de pièces frappées sous le règne de Jean II est le suivant : 20 couronnes. 1.500 pièces ; 10 couronnes. 1.500 pièces ; thaler. 1.920 pièces ; 5 couronnes. 45.000 pièces ; 2 couronnes. 87.500 pièces ; 1 couronne. 200.000 pièces.

La principauté ayant adopté le franc suisse depuis quelques mois, dorénavant les pièces qui seront frappées auront leur valeur en francs.

On ne voit pas de monnaies liechtensteinoises en circulation, par contre les négociants et particuliers en ont une certaine quantité dont ils ne se défont pas volontiers. Celles frappées au XVIII^e siècle sont introuvables dans le pays.

Lorsque le nouveau monnayage sera prêt, je ne manquerai pas de vous en informer.

REVIEWS.

DAS MÜNZWESEN HIERONS II VON SYRAKUS. Von Dr. Walter Giesecke. Berlin, 1920. 37 pp. + 3 plates.

A valuable monograph on the coinage of Hiero II. of Syracuse, with special reference to the monetary system of his reign, which owes its introduction to Magna Graecia and Sicily to Pyrrhus, and is, as Dr. Giesecke points out, the duodecimal scruple system, consisting of 24, 18, 12, 6, 4, 3, 2, 1, $\frac{3}{4}$ and $\frac{1}{2}$ scruple pieces. Attention should be drawn also to the interesting explanation of the numerals XII and .XIII on the well-known coins with name of Gelon, and of the period of the Democracy (B.C. 215-212).

NUMISMATIC NOTES AND MONOGRAPHS. COIN HOARDS. By Sydney P. Noe. The American Numismatic Society, New York, 1920. 47 pp.

The able monograph before us is devoted to the study of hoards and treasure trove. The author deals with the causes of hoarding, the reasons for the burial of hoards, and the laws regarding treasure trove, from Roman times to the present. He commends the English law governing treasure trove, by which the crown claims the right to finds, which are submitted to the British Museum for preservation and study, the finder being liberally remunerated, not on the bullion value of the pieces, but on their antiquarian value.

Interesting notes are given on the Madol find, Auriol hoard, Bosco Reale, Vicarello, Saida, Blackmorr, Economy, Vourla and other treasure troves.

MIRONE D'ELEUTERE. By Prof. Salvatore Mirone. Catania, 1921. 8°. 135 pp. + 11 Plates.

Price : 20 lire.

We recently drew the attention of our readers to Prof. Mirone's monograph on the ancient coins of Catana. The present work is intended as a biography of the famous greek sculptor Mirone. The author has collected all the material, literary as well as documentary, that has accumulated during the last 50 years, and submitted it to a minute comparison of ancient texts.

He enumerates and describes the works of Mirone, and where reproductions of these works occur on ancient coins, he illustrates these coins. Unfortunately the plates leave much to be desired and rather mar the value of the book.

We find representations on coins of the following works by Mirone : —

Hecate in Aegina (Æ of Sept. Severus and Plautilla).

Apollo in Agrigentum (coins of Agrigentum).

Group of Zeus, Athene and Herakles in Samos (coins of Samos of the time of Philip I and Gallienus).

Herakles in Rome (coins of Mallos).

Perseus on the Acropolis in Athens (coins of Amisus, Argos, and Imperial of Hadrian to Sept. Severus).

Cow (coins of Augustus, Vespasian and Titus, etc.).

Everything that is known of the great artist is recorded in Prof. Mirone's work, which, although not strictly numismatic, must appeal to coin-students also.

THE CURRENCY OF THE GREAT WAR. By Benjamin White, Fellow of the Institute of Bankers. London 1921. Cloth. $9\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$ ins. 104 + xiv pages. Illustrated.

The eight chapters of this volume represent eight articles published at irregular intervals in the Bankers' Magazine. The titles of the chapters will give an idea of the contents : War Currency in Enemy Countries, Emergency War Money issued in France, More Enemy War Currency, Belgian War Currency, Russian War Currency, Allied War Emergency money, Neutral War Emergency Money, British War Emergency money. The author states that he has made no attempt to cover the whole ground; but he has succeeded in writing a remarkably interesting account of the varied devices adopted to meet the need of currency during the war. There are illustrations on almost every page of coins and paper-money — the former in aluminium, brass, copper, gold, iron, nickel, silver, zinc; the latter in cardboard and paper of all shades and shapes. The book is very well printed and the illustrations of the notes are particularly fine. While it is in no sense a catalogue, the information it contains will add greatly to the interest of any collection. The work is dedicated to two of the author's colleagues who fell in the Great War; and when we add that the entire profits of the work are devoted to the Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Hostel, commonly known as St. Dunstan's, we have said enough to make it certain that a great many of our readers will order a copy which we shall be pleased to send at 11 s. post free.

NUMISMATIC SOCIETIES, MUSEUMS, &c.

ROYAL NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

Feb. 17. Sir Charles Oman, K.B.E., M.P., F.B.A., President in the Chair.

Mr. William Gilbert exhibited and read a note on an unpublished seventeenth century token of Staines, Middlesex.

Obv. RICHARD BARNATT.IN. (the Bakers' Arms).

Rev. STANES.MALLSTER.R.E.B.

The token was in very fine condition, the patina indicating its having been buried. The E in centre of reverse is the initial of his wife's name. This was Elizabeth as in the Parish register of Staines from 1654 to 1660 there is mention of the birth of Mary, Joseph, James and Sarah, children of Richard and Elizabeth Barnet.

Mr. Gilbert also has a token of a John Barnatt of Staines which is dated 1653, and which is described (incorrectly) in Williamson. He was probably the brother of the above Richard Barnatt. A John Barnet married Anne Pool at Staines on May 25th 1655. It is a curious fact that the surname Barnet (which is also a well known place-name) is very rarely met with on the seventeenth century tokens. Williamson only gives the one example (John Barnet mentioned above) for the whole of the British Isles.

Rev. Edgar Rogers exhibited three tetradrachms, three drachms of the Seleucid mint of Tyre of unpublished dates and officinae.

Mr. Frederick A. Harrison exhibited two very fine double thalers of Augustus Duke of Brunswick and Lüneburg 1665 and Adolph Duke of Holstein 1592.

The President exhibited six fine tetradrachms of Philip II of Macedon.

The following resolution had been passed unanimously at the Society's meeting in December and ordered to be forwarded to the Chancellor of the Exchequer:

"That this Meeting of the Royal Numismatic Society desires to call the attention of the Chancellor of the Exchequer to the appearance of the coinage recently produced by the Royal Mint, more especially of the latest issue of base silver. The execution of the British coinage, irrespective of the design, has during the last twenty-five years become steadily worse; and the latest issue is without exception the worst and most carelessly struck that has been produced in any great mint since the establishment of the coining-press in the seventeenth century. The Society would accordingly beg for the appointment of a commission to enquire into the possibility of remedying what is nothing less than a national disgrace".

The President read the following reply which he had received from the Chancellor.

Treasury Chambers

28 Jan. 1921.

Dear Oman,

I have considered the proposal made by the Royal Numismatic Society in their resolution of which you forwarded me a copy on December 20th.

The terms of the resolution invite comment, but I will confine myself to saying that the Society appears to have given insufficient attention to the difficulties attaching to the work of the Mint at the present time, and to the overriding necessity of speed of output. I hope that as the issue proceeds it will be improved, and without accepting the Society's criticisms as accurate or well-founded, I am free to admit that there is room for improvement. I am not, however, of opinion that any public advantage would be derived from the institution of a Commission at the present time.

Yours sincerely,
(Sd.) Austen Chamberlain.

Mr. John H. Pinches read a paper in which he surveyed the changes made by the introduction of machinery in the work of the medallist and die-engraver in the past fifty years. The most revolutionary measure had been the invention of the reducing machine which automatically engraved a die of the size required from a model of any size. The art of the medallist as formerly understood seemed at present to be threatened with extinction. An interesting discussion followed on the merits and demerits of the reducing machine with special reference to the deterioration in the art of the British coinage since its introduction. Among those who took part were the President, Mr. F.A. Harrison, Mr. John Pinches, junr. and Mr. J. Rochelle Thomas.

March 17. Sir Charles Oman, K.B.E., M.P., &c. &c. President in the Chair.

Mr. William James Faulkner was elected a Fellow of the Society.

The President exhibited a series of coins illustrating the Mint of London from Carausius to Constantine II including some early 'folles' of abnormal type.

The Rev. Edgar Rogers exhibited a series of Seleucid bronze coins remarkable for their preservation, including an unpublished half chalcous of Demetrius I of Tyre.

Mr. Lionel L. Fletcher showed twelve Irish seventeenth century tokens including one of Richard Greenwood, Dublin, with a figure of St. Patrick and unpublished varieties of Ballymena and Kilmalloch.

Mr. Henry Garside exhibited a specimen of the bronze memorial plaque, designed by E. Carter Preston and presented to the next-of-kin of members of His Majesty's forces who fell in the war 1914-1918.

Mr. Fredk. A. Walters, F.S.A. exhibited a Medallion of Marcus Aurelius, Cohen, no. 994. Gnechi, Plate LXIII, 8.

Obv. M. ANTONINVS AVG TRP XXVIII.

Rev. IMP VI COS III—VICT GERM. Victory in Quadriga.

Struck in lead, and described by Gnechi as a proof. He gives two examples of this type in lead — one found in Rome in 1908 — the other at Rheims in the Colson Collection.

Mr. Walters also showed a groat of the second coinage of Henry VIII of fine work. Mm. obv. & rev.: rose. Rev. has radiated ends and the Cross of exceptional design. The legends on both sides are of an ornate early Renaissance Type of Transitional Character. This coin is extremely rare and possibly unique, having both sides from corresponding dies — other rare examples have only one side of this type but the other from an ordinary die. A common rose-marked groat was shown for comparison.

Mr. Percy H. Webb then read a paper on "Roman Mints of the third century", which as he explained, was based on a close study of mint-marks and style, to be published shortly in the Numismatic Chronicle. He pointed out the interest that is added to the study of third century coins, when the problems of mintage are clearly realised, and proceeded to show how the chief mints may be recognised. The Eastern coins of Gallienus and his successors (of Antioch—Cyzicus mints) were specially considered in view of difficulties of attribution and the problem of the great mint of N. Italy (Mediolanum Ticinum—) erroneously identified as Tarraco in Spain was fully treated. The possibility of the existence of coins of Aureolus of the Milan Mint was mentioned. Mr. Webb devoted further attention to the coinage of the great "rebel" Postumus and his successors, established the existence of mints of his at Lugdunum and later at Cologne, and suggested that a small series, mainly of Victorinus, with letters "V" in field might belong to Vienna in S. Gaul.

A discussion followed in which the President, Sir Henry Howorth, Mr. F.A. Walters, the Rev. Edgar Rogers, Mr. L. Messenger and Mr. H. Mattingly took part.

BRITISH NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

January 26th, 1921. Mr. F.A. Walters, F.S.A., President, in the Chair. The President explained that as Colonel Morrieson was unable to be present that evening the presentation of the John Sanford Saltus medal to him would be postponed until February 23rd.

Exhibitions and Notes.

By Mr. H. A. Parsons: Henry I. Silver penny of the Canterbury mint, Hawkins, type 262, showing an annulet over the right shoulder. Mr. Parsons remarked that, with the exception of certain coins of Stamford, he knew of no other instance of the addition of a symbol upon this type. He also exhibited for comparison a penny of the same type and mint on which the symbol was absent.

By Miss H. Farquhar: Charles II. An unrecorded badge bearing the same bust as Medallic Illustrations, Vol. I, p. 453, No. 38, but with a different reverse.

Obv. Head of Charles II in profile to right, bare-headed, with hair long. No legend.

Rev. The royal arms within the garter, crowned. Incuse.

By Mr. H. Garside. A specimen of the bronze Memorial Plaque to those who fell in the Great War.

Papers.

Mr. Raymond Carlyon-Britton contributed a short paper upon a groat of the first coinage of Henry VIII which he had sent for inspection. Obv. hERRIC' VIII' DI' GR' REX' TGL' Z' FR' of the usual type of the first coinage, but with mint-mark portcullis-crowned, struck over σ-crowned. Rev. POSVI etc., but with an ornamented trefoil within each of the forks which terminate the arms of the cross; mint-mark portcullis-crowned. He suggested that the dies were originally, that is, before the alteration of the obverse mint-mark, intended for the Tournai issue of English type, following the two earlier Tournai issues of French workmanship but, being rejected in favour of the type actually struck, of which we have specimens, they were used for the ordinary English issue from the Tower mint, and the mint-mark on the obverse altered to the portcullis-crowned accordingly.

Mr. Alfred Anscombe read a paper intitled "The Golden solidus of Hama, called Rex Britanniae". The piece in question was found at Harlingen in Friesland, and engraved as No. 58 under "Bractees, etc.," in Stephens's Runic Monuments. It had always been regarded as a copy of an aureus of Theodosius the Great, A.D. 379-395, but Mr. Anscombe construed certain imitation letters in the legend as FIL A, for filius Arcadii, and attributed it to Theodosius the Younger. The curious divergences of opinion, he said, respecting the figure of Hama on the reverse were exposed and the light weight of the piece explained. The letters in the exergue were read as VG and he expanded them into Vandogara, which he identified as Bonchester in Roxburghshire. "This place-name need not be regarded as that of a mint town. It was much more likely to be the place at which Hama Rex Britanniae experienced the victory, the surprising and unexpected nature of which is indicated by the circumstances depicted on the reverse of Hama's aureus." The change in late Latin pronunciation from v to b was explained, and Vinovium, or Binchester, was proffered on the authority of the Holy Grail as the official residence of "Camaor seneschal of Orberique", or Binchester, in whom Mr. Anscombe recognised Hama. In the Morte d'Arthur he appeared as Duke Cambines, in a fifteenth-century manuscript of the Liber Historiae Francorum as Cham, King of the Bretons, A.D. 560; and, finally, subject to a very free correction of dates, he was claimed as the "Hama Rex Britanniae", of the title of the paper, stated in the Historia Danica of Saxo Grammaticus to have been father of Aella the ninth-century king of Northumbria. As King Arthur, said Mr. Anscombe, won a great victory over the Saxons at Cair Guinuin, or Binchester, shortly before A.D. 470, the approximate date of Hama's aureus would be A.D. 465.

The runes composing the name, which was placed in the legend to the left of the reverse design, were explained, and the third, which was in dispute and had been read d by recent authorities, was asserted to be m for the reasons that the point of intersection of the crossbars was above the centre of the letter, and the crossbars did not make an angle at the base of each staff.

The Meeting, however, did not accept Mr. Anscombe's theories. In the discussion that followed, Mr. Andrew thought that any such person as "Hama Rex Britanniae" was an historic myth. The alleged "golden solidus" was neither coin nor medal but, like the Scanomodu piece, the subject of Mr. Anscombe's previous and similar paper, it belonged to a numerous class of pendant ornaments worn as golden charms against sickness and evil. Any doubt as to this was set at rest by the fact that both ornaments still bore remains of the curious, but usual, barrel-shaped loop for their suspension from a cord round the neck. Both were copied from Roman coins, probably already rare in northern Europe, because of the cabalistic superstition attached to written characters of unknown meaning — a superstition that has survived almost to modern times. As such, they bore the Roman emperor's head on the obverse, and on the reverse an imitation of the then common design of the Roman emperor standing, holding a standard and the figure of Victory. In each case, in a position on the reverse where it would least spoil the picture, was the name in runes of the goldsmith who made the ornament. This, again, was certain, because other examples existed bearing the same reverse design, with the fuller runic inscription that so-and-so "made this for luck". Even the fylfor, the symbol of luck, was added to many; and one copied from a Byzantine aureus informed us in Latin that OTI ME FECIT.

Mr. Parsons was quite sure that the third rune ought to be read d, and not m. The upright staves projected equally above and below the crossbars, and the rare name Hama must give place to the then natural, and common name Hada. Also, the ornament was found in Friesland, where the d-rune in use was exactly as shown upon it.

Finally, the President believed that the ornament was copied from an aureus of Theodosius the Great — not the Younger — and that the letters VG in the exergue which Mr. Anscombe had expanded into Vandogara were taken from a worn or imperfect impression of the exergual legend AVG OB on the Roman prototype.

KENT NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

The monthly meeting was held on Friday, Feb. 11, when Mr. Bridge F.R.M.S. presided. A proposition was put to the meeting and carried that the Room shall be opened to the public every Monday evening from 7 to 9 for the benefit of all those seeking information in Numismatics or otherwise interested, one or more of the Officers undertaking to be in charge of the premises. The Hon. Librarian Mr. W. Savage F.R.N.S. reported to the meeting that the whole of the Society's property had now been transferred to this Room and that all items catalogued had been checked off ready for temporary deposit in the Bank, and a vote of thanks was accorded him for his good work and gift of notice boards. Nominations for new members were handed in and all accounts passed for payment. The Hon. Secretary then gave an exhibition of upwards of 90 Historical and Commemorative Medals in Silver and Bronze which comprised a large series of Queen Victoria, and including the Official Silver one of the Coronation, the Official Silver Medal of the Coronation of Charlotte, Queen of George III, the Silver Jubilee Medal of Hunton in Kent and many other items of interest.

The monthly meeting was held at the Society's Library on Friday, March 11th, when the chair was occupied by J.W. Bridge Esq. F.R.M.S., who produced a diagram of the exhibition cabinet which he is kindly presenting to this Society for use at the Maidstone Museum. The design was unanimously approved and the work is to be put in hand forthwith and a special vote of thanks was accorded the donor. The ordinary business included the appointment of three persons to sign the register at the Bank for the deposit and withdrawal of Society property, and H. Munn Esq. of Maidstone, who is a specialist in War Medals, was elected.

A summer visit to the Coin Room at the British Museum was proposed and a resolution was carried that the President would make suitable arrangement with the Museum authorities for the event to take place at the end of June is possible. A presentation of some Roman coins which had been found in the neighbourhood was made by H.C. Oliver Esq., and several donations in money and in kind were received toward the requirements of the Library now in use. J.W. Bridge Esq. had on view an Iron Cross with riband, of the first degree, and Dr. Spencer Edwards shewed a beautifully illustrated edition of Thorburn's Coins.

The October Meeting was held in the Society's Room. Education Department, Sydney, on Thursday, 28th.

The President, Dr. Arthur Andrews, being in the Chair.

After confirmation of Minutes and Correspondence the President invited Mr. W. A. Gullick to read his paper "On the Methods of the Mediaeval Moneyers".

A very instructive exhibition of coins of the cities of Mediaeval Europe issuing their own coinage from the Cabinets of Messrs. C. B. Hillman, Henry E. Parkes and Dr. A. Andrews was on view.

The special exhibits of much interest were as follows :

Dr. G. H. Abbott :

I. A beautiful specimen of the 'Augustale' issued by the Emperor Frederick II of Sicily. 'The Wonder of the World' A.D. 1220-1250; a revival of the ancient Roman gold aureus in the best style of Imperial art. On the obverse is a striking portrait in ancient Roman dress of this remarkable man who in knowledge and statesmanship was centuries a head of his time. The reverse bears the Imperial eagle. The legends also are strictly Roman being. Rev. FRIDERICVS. Obv. IMP ROM CESAR AVG. (Vide Macdonald's Coin Types, pl. X, 2.)

An addition containing many excellent examples of French Commemorative Medals has been made to our Art Gallery Collection, by bequest from the late President, The Hon. Sir James Fairfax, M.L.C., who always quietly interested himself in Numismatics, particularly of the Greek period. It will be a welcome addition to the growing numismatic nucleus in the national Art Collection.

Our Society is also fortuitously represented on the Trust by one of its Vice-Presidents, the Hon. John Lane Mullins, M.L.C., who is himself particularly interested in Medallic Art.

The usual monthly Meeting of the Society was held by arrangement with the Principal Librarian, Mr. Ifould, in the Mitchell Library, Macquarie Street, on Thursday, the 25th instant, the President, Dr. Arthur Andrews in the chair.

The meeting was held by permission of the Trustees in the Mitchell Library. Our President, Dr. Arthur Andrews, who has been for some considerable time engaged in arranging and cataloguing the Library Numismatic collection, had thus the opportunity of bringing under the notice of the Members of the Society the finished result duly set out in its handsome Cabinet of polished Blackwood.

At the conclusion of the evening a vote of thanks was moved to the Trustees of the Library by the President, Dr. Andrews, which was seconded by Messrs. Abbott, Priestley and Percy Marks, and in responding Mr. Wright reminded the Members that extensive as the Mitchell Collection was, the Trustees would still gladly avail themselves of any opportunities which might occur to fill the blanks. He trusted that the Society would feel such inherent pride in its value and completeness, that with their interest behind it, very few blanks would be left.

The Mitchell Numismatic Cabinet.

The Cabinet, originated in the desire of the Trustees of the Sydney Public Library to adequately display the splendid collection of Australian Numismata which is an important feature of the Mitchell Collection. It is arranged and the specimens numbered according to an exhaustive Handbook published by the Trustees. This Catalogue includes and brings up to date the indispensable material collected and published by earlier workers, Coleman P. Hyman, Dr. Long, Roth, Bassett, Hall and P. J. Marks, supplemented by collated notes from the three large collections of Australian tokens of Messrs. Andrews, Dixon and Chitty and also with much historical information hitherto unpublished. The work is profusely illustrated by plates showing many rare and interesting specimens and new historical matter. It will be reviewed when issued.

The special exhibits :

By Dr. G. H. Abbott :

Two very fine and rare Greek Imperial First Brass (formerly in Sir Hermann Weber's Collection) referring to the Cult of Asclepius.

I. Caracalla. Pergamum (Mysia). AE Medallion Size type B. M.C. 321, p. 154 Mysia.

II. Caracalla. Pergamum (Mysia). Æ. Type Brit. Mus. 326, p. 156 Mysia.

Historical Note : He (Caracalla) crossed the Hellespont, nearly perishing in a tempest, and repaired to Pergamus in order to get Aesculapius to heal him of his secret infirmity. He submitted to all the prescriptions then in use for wonderful cures. A miracle would this time have been of importance and of excellent profit but it could not be effected by ordinary procedures, the emperor being too much in public. The god turned a deaf ear and Caracalla retained his disease. At this visit Pergamus at least gained great privileges which Macrinus revoked.

By Mr. W. A. Gullick :

A series of medals illustrating an interesting, if unsuccessful experiment in acclimatization, awarded to Charles Ledger and now in the possession of Henry A. Ledger of Sydney, N.S.W.

I. Bronze Medal of the London Universal Exhibition of 1862 edge engraved CHAS^s LEDGER CLASS IV.

II. Silver Exhibitors' Prize Medal of above Exhibition edge engraved C LEGER ALPACAS.

III. Silver Medal of the Society of Arts, Manufacturers and Commerce, edge engraved CHAS LEDGER FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF THE ALPACA INTO THE AUSTRALIAN COLONIES 1861.

IV. Silver Medal of the Société Impériale d'Acclimatation LEDGER/LAMAS ET ALPAGAS/EN AUSTRALIE/1860. Engraved within wreath on Rev.

V. Gold Medal, unique. Obv. An Alpaca. Rev. engraved ARGVLE AGRICULTURAL & HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY round AWARDED TO/CHA^s LEDGER (old English letters)/FOR EXHIBITING/ALPACAS/1862. Diam., 31.7 mm. Weight, 10.5 grammes.

Historical Note : Charles Ledger.

A stirring and adventurous figure, much before the public as early as the middle of the last century. An Englishman who settled as a merchant at Yacua (Peru) where he devoted his attention to the breeding of the Llama and Alpaca intending ultimately to introduce a mixed flock into N.S.W. at the instance of the Government of that Colony.

The Peruvian Government prohibited the exportation of these animals under heavy penalties in consequence of which Mr. Ledger drove his flocks into Argentine territory from whence in 1858 he succeeded in landing in N.S.W. 276 Alpacas and Llamas, receiving £15,000 from Government as purchase money. The flock was sent to Saphienbury, the estate of the late J.H. Atkinson, M.L.A. near Liverpool, where it remained for some time, Mr. Ledger receiving £1300 a year for five years to supervise their management. Here in 1859 the first clip of Alpaca Wool was taken and the first Alpaca meat killed and partaken of by a large party of the élite of Sydney.

Mr. Ledger also distributed the seeds of the Chinchona (from which Quinine is procured) throughout Java and other countries, although like the Alpaca any export of seed from Peru was prohibited. For introducing this valuable plant into Java Mr. Ledger received £100 a year as a pension for life.

Another gold medal presented to Mr. Ledger by the British Government is in the possession of his daughter resident at Tacua (Peru).

Mr. Ledger died in Sydney aged 87 in 1905.

By Mr. E. Wills :

Two rare pattern farthings of Charles II.

I. Pattern farthing in silver, milled edge, as Murdoch 625. Date, 1665. Diam., 23.5 mm.

II. Another in silver, plain edge, as above. Date, 1676. Diam., 26 mm.

By Mr. W. J. McNeill :

An unique silver award medal; an important link with the early days of the Colony of New South Wales. Awarded to Mr. W. Bowman a member of the old Council and a man of great influence in his time.

Description. A Circular cushion-shaped medallion of silver, unfilled, diameter 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches and shewing later brooch mountings. Obv. Fieldscape shewing ploughman in smock frock and gaiters, following two-horse plough; in back-ground river and Windsor

Church and on far bank cattle resting. Above, a large cornucopia discharging corn-cobs. In ex. bee-hive and motto SPEED THE PLOUGH (Roman Capitals). Rev. In circle PRESIDENT/W. BOWMAN/ESQ. M.C./MEETING/HELD AT WINDSOR/13th SEP^r 1848. Second and third line in Old English characters the rest in writing script round which HAWKESBURY AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION (Roman Capitals).

The whole medal is engraved the obv. execution being crude but spirited. The lettering within the circle on reverse good.

- The Marcia gens claimed descent from Ancus Marcius, the fourth king of Rome, who is said to have been first to bring water to Rome by means of an aqueduct. The lituus may refer to the priestly offices and ceremonies instituted by the early kings. The* equestrian statue on the reverse is that of Q. Marcius Rex, who was commissioned by the Senate to repair the old aqueducts and to build one which would give a supply of water to the Capitol; this aqueduct is known as the Aqua Marcia; in commemoration of the great benefit derived from this new water supply the Senate placed an equestrian statue of Marcius on the aqueduct. The flower under the horse may be identified with the flower, Martialis, a punning allusion to the name Marcia.

The reverse is probably a tribute to the triumphs, more especially in connection with the victories over Brutus in the East. The bust of Victory is often described as bearing the features of Fulvia, the first wife of Antony.

-------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---	---	---

The reverse is an allusion to the part played by the moneyer's father in Sicily during the Social war, when he raised troops, organized a fleet and provisioned the town of Rhegium, by which means it was able to resist the attacks of the insurgents. The cult of Venus was especially honoured in Sicily.

-------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---	----	---

This moneyer is the only one of his gens of whom coins are known. He has been identified as Calus Numitorius, who was a distinguished member of the aristocratic party (i.e. of Sulla), and who was put to death by Marius and Cinna, B.C. 87.

PAPIA.

A plebeian family of consular rank, and originally belonging to Lanuvium. The Papii were the tribunes of the people, who passed the laws named Papiae respecting vestals and strangers.

-------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---	----	---

This moneyer is only known to us from his coins. The worship of Juno Sospita (or Caprotina) was introduced at Rome from Lanuvium, the birth-place of the Papi gens. She was the protecting genius of the female sex; she is always portrayed wearing a goat's skin. There is usually a relationship between the symbols on the obverse and reverse.

PLAETORIA.

- 92011 Marcus Plaetorius Marci f. Cestianus. Rome. B.C. 68. Female bust (Ceres) r., draped, wearing circular earring and necklace; hair in a bag or net, and ornamented with poppy heads; behind, symbol, shield. R. M. PLAETORI CEST. EX. S.C. divided by a winged caduceus. Bab., 6. B.M.C., I, 437. F. D. C. 1 15 *
- 92012 — R. Similar; symbol, ladle. V. F. 10 *
- 92013 — R. Obv. Similar; symbol, bee (?). R. Similar legend. Jug with handle and lighted torch. Bab., 7. B.M.C., I, 436. V. F. 4 *
- 92014 — R. Obv. Female bust (Fortuna) l., draped; behind, symbol (?). R. Pediment of temple within which anguiped monster, with r. hand raised, and holding club in l.; on base of pediment and below M. PLAETORI CEST. S.C. Bab., 9. B.M.C., I, 434. Very rare. V. F. 1 5 *

PLAUTIA.

A plebeian family, as is indicated by the tribunes of the people elected therefrom, but some of its members enjoyed the highest honours of the republic.

- 92015 Aulus Plautius. Rome. B.C. 54. R. Obv. Head of Cybele r., turreted; before, A. PLAVTIVS; behind, AED. CVR. S.C. R. Bearded figure, Bacchius, in eastern dress, kneeling r., with camel at his side; he holds in extended r. hand an olive branch, and bridle of camel in l.; in exergue, BACCHIVS; on r. IVDAEVS. Bab., 13. B.M.C., I, 490. E. F. 10 *
- The head of Cybele may refer to the Megalesian games which were under the direction of the curule aediles, and on the celebration of which these coins were probably struck. The rev. refers to the campaign of Pompey, in which Plautius took part as a commander.

POBLICIA.

A plebeian family, but of consular rank.

- 92016 Calus Publicius Quinti f. Rome. B.C. 79. Obv. ROMA. Bust of Roma r., wearing helmet ornamented with head of an eagle and two plumes; above, E. R. C. POBLICI. Q. F. Hercules slaying the Nemean lion; at his feet, his club; on r., a bow and arrow. B., 9. F. 3 6 *
- 92017 Marcus Publicius; Cnaeus [Pompeius] Magnus. Spain. B.C. 46-44. R. Obv. Head of Roma r., wearing crested helmet; around M. POBLICI. LEG. PRO. PR. R. Hispania or Bactica, draped, standing r., holding in l. hand two spears, to which a shield is attached, and with r. presenting a palm-branch to Cnaeus Pompey who stands l. on a prow; he is armed with a sword; below and on r., CN. MAGNVS. IMP. Bab., 10. B.M.C., I, 394. Scarce. F. 12 6 *
- M. Publicius was legatus pro praetore to Cn. Pompey in Spain, and it was in that capacity that he issued these coins for the use of the legions. Cn. Pompey was the eldest son of Pompey the Great.

POMPEIA.

- 92018 Sextus Pompeius Fostulus. Rome. B.C. 129. Obv. Bust of Roma, wearing winged helmet, and surmounted by the head of an eagle; behind, a milk jug; before, X. R. SEX. PO. FOSTVLS. ROMA. The Wolf suckling the Twins, under a fig tree, on which one sees three birds; to l., Faustulus, the shepherd leaning on his staff. B., 1. F. 2 6 *
- 92019 Quintus Pomponius Musa. Rome. B.C. 67. R. Obv. Head of Apollo r., laureate; before ear, ornament in shape of flower; behind, two pipes (tibiae) crossed. R. Q. POMPO- NI—MVSA divided by the Muse, Euterpe, in long flowing tunic and peplum, standing r., supporting her head with her l. hand, her elbow resting on a pedestal, and holding two pipes (tibiae) in r. hand. Bab., 13. B.M.C., I, 443. V. F. 12 6 *
- This moneyer had ten types of coins representing Hercules Musagetes and the nine Muses, which are no doubt intended as a punning allusion to his cognomen. It is possible we have in these representations a reproduction of the statues of Hercules and the nine Muses, which M. Fulvius Nobilior placed in the temple erected by him in the Circus Flaminius. The Muse represented on this coin is, Euterpe, the Muse of Lyric Poetry.
- 92020 — R. Obv. Similar; behind, tortoise. R. Q. POMPONI MVSA divided by the Muse, Terpsichore, in long flowing tunic and peplum, standing towards r., holding lyre in l. hand and plectrum in r. hand. Bab., 18. B.M.C., I, 444. V. F. 12 6 *
- This is the Muse of Dancing holding the plectrum and lyre, which she is said to have invented.
- 92021 — R. Obv. Similar; behind, eight pointed star. R. Q. POMPONI MVSA divided by the Muse, Urania, in long flowing tunic and peplum, standing l., and touching with wand in r. hand, globe resting on a tripod. Bab., 22. B.M.C., I, 445. E. F. 17 6 *
- Urania is the Muse of Astronomy.

- 92022 Marcus Porcius Cato. Italy. B.C. 90. R. Obv. Young head r., crowned with ivy-wreath; behind, M. CAO; below, Q. R. VICRIX (in ex.). Victory, draped, seated r., holding patera in extended r. hand and palm-branch, in l. hand. Bab., 7. B.M.C., 2, 304. F. 2 *

- 93061 Irish Proof Halfpenny, 1736. Similar. An exquisite proof with a perfect tone. R. F. D. C. 2 " "

Irish Pattern Halfpenny, 1742.

- 93062 Irish Pattern Halfpenny, 1742. Obv. GEORGIUS. II. REX. Elderly bust of the King, laureate, to left, undraped, and with the hair falling below the truncation. R. HIBERNIA above a crowned harp, the date disposed, below, on either side of the harp; edge, plain. Neither published by nor known to the late Mr. Montagu, and of the highest rarity. The reverse die has broken which may be held to account for the excessive scarcity of this piece. From the Murdoch collection. RRR. Almost unique. F. D. C. 12 10 "

GEORGE III.
Gold.

- 93063 Pattern Two-pounds, 1820, by Pistrucci. Obv. GEORGIUS III D: G: BRITANNIA: REX F: D: Laur. head with short curly hair, to right; below, date. R. St. George and the Dragon; below, B.P. and W.W.P. These pieces together with the five pound pieces were authorised by an Order in Council, dated August, 1816, but the dies were not completed at the demise of George III. Only sixty of these pieces being struck as specimens. Brilliant and very rare. F. D. C. 12 10 "
- 93064 — Similar. E. F. 6 " "
- 93065 Proof Guinea, 1774, by Pingo; bust to right, laur., hair long, curling beneath truncation. R. Royal Arms in garnished shield. Edge, plain. In perfect preservation and without the flaw so frequently observable upon the reverse, a splendid proof. F. D. C. 3 3 "
- 93066 Proof Sovereign, 1818, by Pistrucci. Type of the current coin of the fourth issue; edge, straight milled. Of highest rarity of this date, only one being known at the time the Catalogue of Mr. Montagu's collection (George I to Victoria) was compiled and for which proof we paid the late owner £11. RRR. F. D. C. 5 5 "
- 93067 Pattern Half-Guinea, 1762. Obv. Bust to right, curved wreath with berries, long hair falling below truncation, neck bare. R. Royal Arms in garnished shield. Edge, plain. From the Berne, Brice and Montagu collections. Possibly unique. RRR. F. D. C. 17 10 "
- 93069 Proof Half-Guinea, 1763. Similar but wreath without

- berries and hair not falling below bust; edge, plain. Of highest rarity as a proof. RRR. From the Murdoch collection. (The Montagu specimen cost us £18.) F. D. C. 12 10 "
- 93070 Proof Half-Guinea, 1764. Similar but slightly smaller bust and wreath with berries; edge, plain. Of extreme rarity, originally from the Brice and Montagu collections (when we bought this from the last named it cost £16). F. D. C. 10 10 "
- 93071 Proof Half-Guinea, 1775, by a different artist. Laur. bust (older), berries in wreath, hair wiry, long and falling below truncation, lovelock. Edge, plain. Brilliant and very rare. F. D. C. 6 6 "
- 93072 Proof Half-Guinea, 1787, by Lewis Pingo. 'Spade-ace' type; edge, plain. A perfect and beautiful proof. F. D. C. 2 10 "
- 93073 — Similar, very slightly scratched on obv. E. F. 1 15 "
- 93074 Proof Half-Guinea, 1811, by Thomas Wyon. Obv. Small bust of king. R. Shield within the Garter, crowned, date below, edge, obliquely milled. Very rare as a proof, brilliant. F. D. C. 2 10 "
- 93075 Proof Half-Guinea, 1813. Similar, brilliant. F. D. C. 1 5 "
- 93076 Proof Half-Sovereign, 1817. Type as the current coin; edge, straight milling. A most brilliant proof. F. D. C. 2 " "
- 93077 Proof Half-Sovereign, 1818. Similar. A exceedingly rare and perfect proof from the Bieber and Montagu collections. Toned. F. D. C. 3 3 "
- 93078 — Similar, as brilliant but not toned. F. D. C. 2 10 "
- 93079 Pattern Seven-Shilling Piece, 1776, by Pingo. Obv. Similar to proof guinea of 1775. R. MAG. BRI. FR. ET. HIB. REX. 1776. Lion standing upon large crown; edge, plain. F. D. C. 2 15 "
- 93080 Pattern Seven-Shilling Piece, 1813. Type of the ordinary coins of earlier dates; edge, obliquely milled. Of extreme rarity, only a few being issued and then only as proofs for collectors. We gave £10 for the Montagu specimen. F. D. C. 4 4 "
- 93081 Pattern Quarter-Guinea, 1764. Similar to Proof half-guinea of 1763; edge, plain. Exceedingly rare, as the issue for which this was prepared was never executed (see Hawkins, p. 170). Brilliant. F. D. C. 4 10 "

PATTERN & PROOFS OF GEORGE III GOLD COINS struck in silver.

- 93082 Pattern for a Guinea, or a Five Thaler Piece for Hanover (obv. only). GEORGIUS III D. G. M. B. F. ET. H. REX. F. D. Bust to right, laureate, long hair, bare neck; edge, plain. (Num. Chron., Vol. XIII, p. 118, no. 16). A brilliant piece from the Marshall, Brice and Montagu cabinets. Toned. F. D. C. 2 2 "
- 93083 — Similar. F. D. C. 2 " "
- 93084 Pattern Guinea, 1791, by Küchler. Obv. GEORGIUS III DEI GRATIA, scroll ornament; bust to r., laur., wreath with berries, hair tied, falling below truncation, the latter striated and marked with three dots (to indicate the artist's initials, C. H. K.). R. M. B. F. ET. H. REX. F. D. B. ET. L. D. S. R. I. A. T. ET. E. 1791. 'Spade-ace' shield, crowned. The legends, on both sides incuse, on raised broad bands; edge, plain. A mint specimen from the Addington and Montagu collections; exceedingly rare; toned. RR. F. D. C. 3 " "
- 93085 Pattern Guinea, 1791, by Küchler. Almost similar but hair differently arranged, berries in the wreath, the 3 dots and striation omitted. RR. F. D. C. 2 " "
- 93086 Pattern Guinea, 1791, by Küchler. Obv. No legend, bust from same die as last. R. From same die as last. The centre of this coin is in silver, which is surrounded by a copper rim; the reverse side is flat and on the obverse the rim tapers off making a sharp edge. The inscription on the reverse rim was probably struck from the same die as the last coin but was struck at a different time to the silver part of the coin as the legend starts mid way up on the right. A very curious piece, believed to be unique. From the Wakeford collection. V. F. 2 2 "
- 93087 Pattern Guinea, 1798, by Küchler. Similar type but without scroll ornament on obverse; different bust, tie bow and one end, hair long, curling on both shoulders, bust draped, three dots on truncation. R. Similar but shield somewhat broader and the crown different. A choice specimen of this very rare pattern from the J. Marshall, Brice and Montagu colls. F. D. C. 4 4 "
- 93088 Pattern Half-Sovereign, 1816, by Wyon (after Pistrucci). Obv. GEORGIUS III DEI GRATIA. The 'bull-head' bust of the king, laur., r., in high relief. R. BRITT: REX FID: DEF. The Garter, crowned, enclosing shield; edge, plain. A exceedingly rare piece from the Montagu (to whom we gave £10 for it) and Murdoch collections. Brilliant. RR. F. D. C. 4 4 "
- 93089 Pattern Half-Sovereign, 1816. Similar but edge, grained. Finely toned and very rare, from the Murdoch collection. RR. F. D. C. 4 10 "
- 93090 — Similar in mint state but not quite struck up on both sides. From Pistrucci's own collection. F. D. C. 2 2 "
- 93091 — Similar trial-piece in mint state but still less struck up. From the same collection. F. D. C. 1 1 "

- 93092 Pattern Third of Guinea, 1798, by H. Kettle. Obv. GEORGIVS III DEI GRATIA. Laureated bust r., almost as the adopted seven shilling of this date but of inferior work; below, H.K. R. MAG. BRI. FR. ET. HIB. REX. 1798. Crown; below, H. KETTLE. F. D. C. 1 1 »

Pattern Shilling by Tanner.

- 93105 Pattern Shilling, 1764, by Tanner. Obv. GEORGIVS III DEI GRATIA. His youthful bust to r., laur., in mantle. R. Four crowned shields, arranged cruciformly, the angles plain. Edge, plain. From the Brice and Montagu Collection (cost £5). RR. A beautiful and perfect piece, finely toned. F. D. C. 4 4 »
- 93106 Pattern Shilling, 1764, by Tanner. Another similar. Equally fine, richly toned by age, and from the very old cabinet of Richard Holles, also from the Col. Durrant, Ball and Richardson Collections. RR. F. D. C. 4 4 »
- 93107 Pattern Shilling, 1764, by Tanner. Similar but not so dark a tone. From the Murdoch collection. F. D. C. 3 15 »
- 93108 Pattern Shilling, 1778, by Yeo. Similar but older bust. Edge, plain. From the Montagu Collection. RR. F. D. C. 5 5 »
- 93109 — Another similar but not so fine. RR. E. F. 4 » »
- 93110 Pattern Shilling, 1787, by Droz. Obv. GEORGIVS III. D: G: MA. BR. F. ET H. REX 1787. His bust laur. to r., hair long, no tye, curling beneath truncation, neck bare; initial, D.F., on truncation. R. The royal monogram G.R. crowned, within two laurel branches. Edge, straight milling. A very finely executed bust of George III and extremely rare. F. D. C. 3 10 »

- 93111 — Another similar but apparently struck from a slightly cracked die. F. D. C. 3 »
- 93112 Pattern Shilling, 1787, by Pingo. Similar to the well-known current shilling of this date (with ermine and dot above head), excepting that this omits the neat beaded border seen on the proofs and is struck on a flan weighing 110½ grs. (instead of 88 grs.). Edge, plain. A very rare pattern from the Brice and Montagu cabinets. RRR. F. D. C. 3 3
- 93113 Pattern Shilling, 1787, by Pingo. Similar but on a flan weighing 122 grains. Equally rare. From the Murdoch collection. F. D. C. 3 3
- 93114 Proof Shilling, 1787, by Pingo. The usual type. Similar to last with addition of a beaded border on both sides. Edge, plain. F. D. C. » 10
- 93115 Proof Shilling, 1817. Edge, plain. Brilliant. F. D. C. » 10

- 93127 Proof Sixpence, 1819. Edge, milled. Struck in silver and given to the late chief-engraver. B. Pistrucci by Mr. Pole, the master of the mint. A unique proof from Pistrucci's own collection. F. D. C. » 15

PATTERNS & PROOFS OF GEORGE III COPPER COINS Struck in silver.

- 93128 1788, Pattern Halfpenny, by Hancock. Obv. GEORGIVS III REX. Bust of the king to r., laur., and with bare neck; evidently copied from Droz's design. R. No legend, Britannia on a four-cornered stone behind which appears the head of a lion; on the stone is depicted the usual shield. Britannia holds in her l. hand a cornucopia, and with her r. she points to a large ship which is very near. In exergue, 1788. The whole surrounded by a wreath of ears of wheat. Edge, oblique guilloche pattern. M., $\frac{105}{42}$. This was struck by Mr. Moore, Secretary to the Society for the Encouragement of the Arts, etc.; the design not having been approved, very few were struck. Extremely rare, probably unique as a proof of this rare pattern with this edge in silver. F. D. C. 16 16 »
- 93129 1795, Pattern Halfpenny, by Droz. Obv. GEORGIVS III. D: G: REX in sunk letters on a raised band. Below the head, on the band, soho between two floral ornaments. The king's bust laur., looking to r., neck bare, from Droz's die. R. BRITANNIA between floral ornaments. Britannia seated on globe, with flowing robes that have richly embroidered edges; in her l. hand spear and shield; her r. stretched out before her. In ex., 1795. The raised band is narrowed under the figure so as to allow space for the whole design. M., $\frac{107}{46}$. Of the highest rarity in silver, a beautiful example from the Skaje collection. F. D. C. 6 » »
- 93130 1797, Pattern Halfpenny. Obv. Similar to last. R. As the current halfpenny, described below. M., $\frac{107}{47}$ (rarity 8). From the same collection and of even greater rarity. F. D. C. 4 » »
- 93131 — Proof Penny, by Küchler. As the current coin. Obv. GEORGIVS III. D: G: REX. on a broad band in sunk letters. The king's head to the right, laureate and draped; under the shoulder, K. R. BRITANNIA—1797 on a broad band as before. Britannia seated on a rock, the usual shield, but with heraldic colouring, by her side, waves beneath; to the right

- a distant ship with three masts. In her r. hand, Britannia holds an olive branch; in l., a trident. Beneath the shield, SOHO. A brilliant proof, very rare in this metal. F.D.C. 2 10 "
- 93132 — Proof Halfpenny. Similar. Thick flan. A brilliant proof from the Montagu collection, of greatest rarity on thick flan. F.D.C. 4 " "
- 93133 — Proof Halfpenny. Similar. Thin flan. R. F.D.C. 1 10 "
- 93134 — Proof Farthing. Similar. Thick flan. RR. F.D.C. 1 5 "
- 93135 — Proof Farthing. Similar. Thin flan. R. F.D.C. 1 " "
- 93136 — Similar but a later striking. R. F.D.C. 1 12 6
- 93137 — Pattern Penny. Similar but much larger bust of the king, laur., hair long, curling beneath truncation. R. κ on reverse instead of SOHO. Struck on a thinner flan. M., ¹⁰⁷/₁₀. A brilliant pattern from the Montagu collection. RR. F.D.C. 4 4 "
- 93138 1798, Pattern Farthing, by Kuchler. Similar to the farthings of 1798, but date below bust and on reverse in place of the date, I. FARTHING. between two floral ornaments. M., ¹¹²/₁₀ (rarity 5). A brilliant pattern from the Montagu collection. F.D.C. 2 2 "
- 93140 Pattern Halfpenny (undated), by Hancock. Obv. GEORGIUS III. REX. His bust laur. r. R. VIVAT! Across the field. Edge, ARMIS TUTERIS MORIBUS ORNES . Of the highest rarity, especially in silver. M., ¹¹⁸/₁₀. V. F. 6 6 "

N.B. The following are known as Earl Stanhope's patterns. "In the year 1775 Lord Mahon, afterwards third Earl of Stanhope, published a tract which he had written two years previously entitled "Considerations on the means of preventing Fraudulent Practices on the Gold Coins", and in 1782, he struck a variety of pieces in illustration of his views upon the means of protecting the coins from forgery, and injury by friction. . . . the principles of his remedy are, very low relief, uniform flat service, deep milling, date incuse, fine wiry lines introduced into part of the work, and the type brought quite close to the edge of the coin" (N.C., vol. XIII, pp. 127, 128).

- 93155 Pattern Guinea, 1782. Obv. GEORGIUS III DEI GRATIA. in very large lettering, centre plain. R. MDCCLXXXII and below figure 1, centre plain; edge, the date MDCCLXXXII repeated

- four times. A curious piece to illustrate some of the Earl's propositions. Unpublished. From the Montagu collection. F.D.C. 1 17 6
- 93156 — Another similar. Edge, plain. Unpublished. RR. F.D.C. 1 17 6
- 93157 Pattern Guinea, 1781-2. Obv. GEORGIUS III DEI GRATIA. His laur. bust r., not interrupting the legend, hair long, extending under the bust and upon both shoulders. R. M. B. F. . . . 1781. Royal arms in garnished shield. Edge, MDCCLXXXII repeated four times. RR. F.D.C. 1 1 1 "

- * During the Crimean War, in the sea of Azoff, Captain Day conceived the idea of landing at night, getting within the Russian lines at Genitchi and find out the practicability of cutting out the enemy's gunboats lying within the straits, close to the town. Setting off quite alone, he landed and crossed four of five miles of swamps, often waist deep, penetrating eventually to within 200 yards of the enemy's vessels. From the absolute stillness on board the boats he came to the conclusion that they were not strongly manned, and that therefore an expedition for the purpose of cutting them was feasible.
- Retracing his steps, after seven hours' hard work, he reached his ship. Next day however, from unusual signs of activity in the enemy's direction, it seemed that his surmises were incorrect, so he returned once more to again watch their movements.
- Passing through the same dangerous swamps, he reached his former place of observation and found, to his great disappointment that the boats were all manned and ready for action, so he turned back, wading through the swamps again for nine hours, and the idea had to be abandoned.

- * The 87th "joined Sir Thomas Graham's army in 1810, and took part in the defence of Cadiz and greatly distinguished itself in the stubborn fight at Barrosa, 5th March 1811 when the "Eagle" of the 8th French Light Infantry — the first French eagle taken in the Peninsular War — was captured by Sergeant Patrick Masterson during a charge of the regiment "Your regiment" wrote Graham to Sir John Doyle the day after the battle, "has covered itself with glory. Recommend it and its commander, Gough, to their illustrious patron, the Prince Regent: too much cannot be done for it". In recognition of its brilliant conduct the regiment was directed thence forward to style itself the 57th (Prince of Wales's Own Irish) Foot, and to display the Plumie of feathers and the eagle and laurel wreath as additional regimental badges.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE

AUSTRALASIAN TOKENS AND COINS

By DR. ARTHUR ANDREWS.

President of the Australian Numismatic Society, Sydney.
Past President of the Victorian Numismatic Society.

Crown 4to. 154 pages. With 61 full-page plates of nearly 400 pieces

Price £ 1/1/- postage extra.

The Handbook of the Famous MITCHELL COLLECTION, which is part of the bequest of the late David Mitchell to the Public Library of New South Wales, as Trustees, and known as the "Mitchell Foundation".

The author, in cataloguing, has been guided by his own 40 years collecting and personal study of this subject, with the additional assistance of full access to the well-known collection of Mr. W. Dixon and its accumulated records and papers.

The editorial matter thus embraces the information gained in making the three finest collections extant.

As a compilation it brings together—

A complete history of the conditions leading to the different issues of the various Australasian Tokens and Coins.

Notes on several issues never previously published.

Full sketches of the history of the different issues.

Notes on the Medallists (Home and Colonial) engaged in the production of the Tokens, their designs, etc.

Detailed lists of nearly 800 pieces, including :

Holey dollars and dumps.

The Adelaide Gold Ingots and Pound pieces.

The Kangaroo Office issues.

The Australian Mints and their issues.

The Commonwealth Coinage.

250 Surcharged Coins.

Apart from its purpose as a Catalogue of one of the finest collections extant the book may be regarded as the first serious attempt to bring together much hitherto unpublished information, and provide a complete resumé of Australasian Numismatics.

GREEK COINS.

NEAPOLIS OF MACEDONIA.

In Acts XVI, 11 we read of St. Paul and St. Luke that "setting sail from Troas we made a straight course to Samothrace, and the day following to Neapolis".

This city was the haven of Philippi, and was probably the same place as Datum (Δάττον), of which we read in Herodotus IX, 45, as famous for its gold mines. It is also famous as the haven before which the galleys of Brutus and Cassius were moored in their war with Caesar.

The shore of the mainland here is low, but the mountains rise to a considerable height not far off.

The city was on a promontory with a port on each side. Traces of paved Roman military roads are still found, as well as the ruins of an aqueduct in two tiers of Roman arches, and many Latin inscriptions.

In the first volume of Lewin's Life of St. Paul, there is a good view of the modern Neapolis. St. Paul and his companions ascended the hollow way which led in a N.W. direction to the pass over Mount Pangaeus; it was the via Egnatia. They must have seen a glorious view from the top of the pass across the valley of the Drama shut in by mountains; skirting the marsh on their left, they proceeded northward, then westward by a road lined with tombs to Philippi. Their journey would be about eight or nine miles.

The type of the Gorgon's head on all the coins of this city is interesting as an example of very ancient symbolism of the great storms which arose in the far west. But some, as Plutarch for instance, and Clement of Alexandria (Strom. V, 8) compared this ugly image with the face in the moon. There is however another reference in Clem. Alex. to the Sibyl's face in the moon. Among modern writers Creaser, the Duc de Luynes, Beulé (Les monnaies d'Athènes) regarded it as a Lunar myth. Another modern writer Levetzow thinks the ugly head may have been designed from the heads of apes in Libya.

Six rightly rejects the Lunar theory because the head is associated in ancient literature and art more with the sun than the moon, and he prefers to regard its origin as an emblem of storms of thunder and lightning.

This is also more in harmony with the ancient references in Greek literature, for the Gorgons were said by Homer to be the daughters of Phorkys, a son of Neptune (Odys., I, 71). "Phorkys who rules over the unresting sea" and in XIII, 91 "Phorkys the old man of the sea". The wife of Phorkys was Ceto, perhaps hidden rocks, from $\kappa\epsilon\tau\omicron\iota$. The roar of the rocks is "Phorci chorus" in Virgil Æn. V, 824.

How then was the Gorgon's head associated with Athena? The Medusa legend connects the Gorgon myth with Athena, who is represented as angry with the beautiful maiden whose hair she changed to serpents because she became the mother of Pegasus by Poseidon in one of Athena's temples (Hesiod, Theog., 237). Ovid (Met., IV, ad. fin.) "and, that this might not go unpunished, she changed the Gorgon's hair into filthy snakes. Now too, to fright her astonished enemies she bears, upon her breast before, the snakes which she made".

The uncertainty and inconsistency of the legends connecting Medusa with Athena are well illustrated by the passage in Pausanias (II, xxii) "Athena is reported to have assisted Perseus because the men who dwell about the Tritonian marsh are sacred to Athena". "Not far from the temple of Ceres there is a tomb of earth in which they report the head of the Gorgon Medusa is buried."

Perseus was indebted to Athena for providing him with a mirror in which he looked upon the dread Gorgon and thus escaped being turned into stone. Lenormant has shown the ancients believed thunder petrified. Another tradition relates that Athena conquered Medusa in the war with the giants, and hence her head appears on the shield-Euripides Ion, 1478 "Bear witness she who slew the Gorgon", and in the Orphic Hymn, XXXII, 8, Athena is called $\Gamma\omicron\rho\rho\omicron\gamma\omicron\sigma\epsilon\nu\omicron\varsigma$. In Pindar's tenth Pythian ode the story of Athena guiding Perseus is told.

The goat skin was according to legend the hide of the goat Amalthea, which had suckled Zeus in his infancy. Hyginus relates that in his war with the Titans he wore a goat skin with the head of the Gorgon, and to this skin the name aegis was afterwards confined.

Homer shews that Athena often wore it as in Il., II, 447. "And bright eyed Athene in the midst bearing the holy aegis that knoweth neither age nor death; again in Il., V, 733, we read of Athene wearing the aegis of Zeus.

These references to Zeus help us to understand the symbolism of the Gorgon's head to be that of the storm clouds; thunder and lightning were regarded as the weapons of Zeus.

The fact that this symbol was used as an amulet against the evil eye "Amuletum Fascinum" is interesting; the ugly face was used to frighten evil spirits, and was worn as a protective charm as an ornament on dresses, on ships and on tombs. The question arises as to whether such an idea underlies the choice of the symbol as a coin type. The religious aspect of the symbol as a coin type was related to Apollo, and he was regarded as an averter of evil.

The association of the symbol with the sun is seen in the appearance of the Gorgon head on a triquetra. The Gorgon myth is probably one of the most ancient because in the early stages of the earth, water, the sea and storms were most feared as terrible powers, and it may be connected with the Tehom-myth of the Semitic races.

The victory of the Sun over darkness and the deep underlies the Myth of Perseus and the dragon Gorgon. So the Greeks depicted the Heilbringer or Saviour-Hero, like Marduk of Babylon, Ra of Egypt, Indra of India, Apollo of Greece. Similar Hero-Saviours are found in many other lands. What the inhabitants of Neapolis thought about the Gorgon type on their money it is hard to say. Of course only the educated were aware of what their literature said about the subject.

The poor and superstitious may have had some idea of a charm against evil, the religious may have thought more of Athena or Apollo and perhaps only the learned may have traced the symbol to the storms of thunder and lightning.

KRAUSE, J. (Germ.). Engraver at Hamburg, second half of the nineteenth century. About 1861 he cut dies for Prize Medals, large and small, of the Gardeners' Society of Hamburg and Altona.

KREMER, WOLF (Germ.). Mint-master to the city of Worms, 1614.

KREUPER (KRECEPER), HANS (Germ.). Mint-master at Goslar and Stolberg, 1607.

KRIZ, WENZEL (Austr.). Born at Slivener (Bohemia) 1830, died at Prague in 1881; pupil of Wenzel Seider, and Medallist at Prague. Among his medals are: Memorial medal of Ferdinand V.; — Hynck J. Hager, 1876; — Heinrich Fügner and Miroslar Tyrs; — also numerous Exhibition and Industrial medals.

KROHN, FRIEDRICH CHRISTOPH (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 224). Additional medals by this Engraver: Jubilee of King Frederick VI. of Denmark, 1834.

KRUCKENBERG, B. (Germ.). Mint-master at Andreasberg (Brunswick), 1619-1620.

KRÜGER, ARTHUR (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 226). At the Berlin Kunst-Ausstellung, 1907, this Engraver exhibited a series of 18 medals and plaquettes.

By him are also: Official Portrait-medals of Auguste Victoria, German Empress (after Uhlmann's model); — Silver Wedding of William II., German Emperor, 1906; — Plaquette on the Centenary of Moltke's birth, 1900; — Commemorative medal of the Second Centenary of Frederick the Great's birth, 1912; — Centenary of 1813, etc.

KRUEGER, CHRISTIAN JOSEPH (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 226). The Dr Edward Jenner medal is a distinct work from the medals commemorating the Peace of Lunéville. Dr F.P. Weber has described the former in Num. Chron., 1907, 239.

KRUEGER, KARL REINHARD (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 229). This Engraver cut also two medals commemorating the Destruction of Bridges at Dresden, 1813; — Portrait-medal of Carl Maria von Weber, 1825.

KRUEGER (?) , RUDOLF DER (Germ.). Mint-master at Catlenburg, Brunswick, 1624(?).

KRUG, LUDWIG (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 227). Prof. Dr B. Pick, in his Catalogue of German Medals at the 3rd Kunstgewerbe-Ausstellung, Dresden, 1906, describes under this Master: Portrait-medal, unknown, 1531 (possibly a portrait of the artist); — Albrecht Dürer, 1526; — Otto Heinrich, Count Palatine, 1528; — Barbara née Heczlin, etc.

Barbara née Heczlin.

KRULL, CHRISTIAN FREDERICK (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 232). Dr Stanley Bousfield possesses a medal of Maximilian Julius Leopold, duke of Brunswick, 1785, by this artist, and also the obv. and rev. dies of same (from W.J. Taylor's succession).

KRUSE, BRUNO (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 233). Additional medallic works: 80th Birthday of Virchow, 1901, 153 × 111 mill.; — Silver Wedding of the German Emperor and Empress, 1906; — 70th Birthday of Otto Jessen, 1896; — Portrait-plaquette of Luise Jessen, née Engel, 1898; — Another, on her 70th Birthday, 1907 (dedicated by the Ladies' Committee of the Pestalozzi-Fröbel Institute in Berlin); — Portrait-plaquette of Field Marshal von Moltke, 1907; — Portrait-medallion of same (cast), 1908; — Portrait-medallion of Theodore Mommsen on his 80th Birthday (dedicated by the Academy of Sciences, Berlin), 1897; — Portrait-plaquette of Field Marshal Count Waldersee (1889), and another, dated 1903.

K. & S. Vide KETTLE & SONS, of Birmingham. I have mentioned KEMPSON & SON of London as the makers of the Princess Charlotte medal which is by KIRKWOOD & SON of Edinburgh.

KUBLI, PAUL (Swiss). Medallist of Netstal (canton Glaris), born in Moscow on 1/19 March 1816; son of Paulus Kubli and Barbara Therese Kollar; married in 1861 Justine Wassiliew and died in 1882 at Moscow, leaving two daughters behind him. He was the founder and proprietor of renowned Die-sinking works there.

KÜHL, C. (German). Medallist of Nuremberg, who worked for the firm of L. Ch. Lauer. By him is, amongst other works, a commemorative medal on the German National Aviation Fund.

KÜNER, GEORGE FERDINAND ALBRECHT (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 247). "More familiarly known as ALBERT KÜNER, was born at Lindau, October 9, 1819, learning there the business of a Gold and Silversmith. When he first came to the United States, in the latter part of 1848, he intended to follow the occupation of cameo cutting, in which he was particularly skilful; but, like many others, he was attracted to California by the marvellous gold discoveries, and arrived in San Francisco, July 16, 1849.

"There being a great need for a die-cutter and seal-engraver, Mr. Küner entered the employ of Moffat & Co., who were then smelting and assaying gold, and engraved the dies for the first Ten Dollar piece of private manufacture to be issued on the coast, which bore the stamp of Moffat & Co. Among other dies he cut those for the Seal of California, all the medals awarded by the Mechanics' Institute, and hundreds of others issued along the Pacific Coast for various purposes from 1849 until within a few years of his death.

"He started in business for himself in October 1846, in Clay Street, next moving to Kearny, between Jackson and Pacific; but being burnt out in May, 1850, he returned to Clay Street. He was again burned out in May, 1851, and then went to Dr Mitthall's building, in Montgomery, near California. In 1882 he moved to Washington St., where he remained fifteen years. He then removed to the building occupied by Wores, the latter, where he continued seventeen years. In 1884 he moved to 704 Montgomery Street, where he remained until 1891.

"He was painstaking and methodical, and had a carefully prepared record of each specimen of his handicraft — impressions in wax, dies, etc., nearly all of which, with his papers, were destroyed in the great fire when his residence at the corner of Golden Gate Avenue and Gough Street was burned. However, a record of many of the coins for which he cut the dies remains in his personal copy of the book issued by Eckfeldt and Dubois in 1851. He made a memorandum in his own handwriting over each illustration of the various California coins engraved by him. Guided by these notes we find that he made the dies of the N. G. & N. Five Dollar piece, the Five and Ten Dollars of Moffat & Co, dated 1849 and 1850; the Schultz & Co, Five Dollars of 1851; the Dunbar & Co. Five Dollars dated 1851; the Baldwin Five, Ten and Twenty Dollars of 1850 and 1851; and the Fifty Dollar octagonal, with the denomination reading, "Fifty Dolls" and the name on the obverse around the border.

"The illustrations of the Miners' Bank Ten Dollar, the Pacific Company Five and Ten, the Massachusetts and California Five, the Templeton Reid Ten and Twenty-five, the Cincinnati Mining and Trading Company Five and Ten, the "J.S.O." Ten, and the Dubosq & Co. Five and Ten Dollar coins were not marked, and therefore were not his work.

"He also engraved the dies for all of the coins issued by Wass. Molitor & Co., as well as those for the Deseret Assay Office Five Dollar piece of Utah, dated 1860. Robert Schaezlein, his close friend, says that after Mr. Küner received the commission to cut the dies for this Mormon piece he showed him the first impression, struck before the date and inscription had been added. This was the identical gold pattern piece, presented to Brigham Young, which is said to have hung on the watch chain of the Mormon leader as a charm. Upon Mr. Young's death the watch, chain and pattern piece were sold for $ 300, and are said to be now in the possession of the Mormon Church at Salt Lake City. We learn that this pattern was the one that showed mountains back of the reclining lion, and which were omitted from the regular Deseret Assay Office Five Dollar piece issued for circulation.

"One of his daughters has wax impressions of some of his pieces, among which are the W. M. & Co. Five of 1852, the Schultz & Co. Five of 1851, the Baldwin Twenty of 1851, and a reverse showing an eagle and the inscription, "Pure California gold." One of the cards bearing a wax impression contained this memorandum:

"Impression taken from the die while it was being engraved in the month of July, 1849, by A. Küner, engraver with Moffat & Co. at the south east corner of Montgomery and Jackson Streets.

"This was the Ten Dollar piece of Moffat & Co. of 1849, but it had neither date nor inscription, and was the first private coin of the denomination to be issued in the extensive California series.

"He was paid $ 600 for the die for the first State Seal of California and in 1883, when it became necessary to renew it, journeyed to Sacramento and engraved the new seal, for which he received $ 300. He stated to Mr. Schaezlein that he received as much as $ 500 for a pair of coin dies in the pioneer days. A wax impression of the first seal was in his possession for many years, but was destroyed in the fire of 1900. There was a great scarcity of metal in San Francisco in 1849, and when he received the commission to engrave the seal he found it necessary to go around the neighbourhood and pick up scraps of metal from which to make the first die.

"In 1862, when the Government of British Columbia contemplated an issue of local gold, the order to prepare the dies was given to him and he cut those from which were struck the excessively rare Ten and Twenty Dollar pieces, dated 1862, and bearing the name of "British Columbia", of which but few sets are known to be in existence.

"Before turning the dies to the Government of British Columbia, he struck a few trial-pieces in silver on a coining-press which Lemme Brothers had brought from Germany. The existence of these trial-pieces seems to have been unknown until recently (one is at present time in the possession of Spink & Son Ltd, London).

"Mr. Küner painted in water colours, and during his leisure moments executed many exquisite examples of the engraver's art in different materials, principally mother-of-pearl, which he presented to his wife and children from time to time. All of these works, of which none was ever made on a commission, were of original conception and of the most delicate and artistic workmanship, and are skill carefully preserved by various members of his family.

"He engraved all the seals for Wells, Fargo & Co., from 1852, the first year of the firm's existence, until the day of his death.

"He died on January 23, 1906, at the age of eighty six years, being survived by a wife, three daughters, and one son."

KULLRICH, REINHARD (Germ.). Medallist and Die-engraver.

Appointed on 1. October 1911 Medallist to the Berlin Mint 1912 in succession to Otto Schultz, deceased. He is a son of F. W. Kullrich, who died on 1. September 1887, and who had filled the same Office at the Mint.

By him are, amongst many other coin-dies: —

Three Mark piece, 1913, of Adolph Frederick V., Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz.

KULLRICH, WILHELM (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 244). Additional works by this Medallist: Official Prize Medal with bust of Auguste Victoria, Crown Princess of Prussia (1881); — Prize Medal of the 'Dithmarschen Geflügelzucht Verein', Heide (undated); — Prize Medal of the Schleswig Ornithological Society, 1893.

KUNKLER, KASPAR ERASMUS (Swiss). Mint-master at St. Gallen, born 2. January 1753, died 28. July 1826; a Goldsmith by profession, was appointed Mint-master in 1794. In 1799 he was elected Secretary of the Commission of the National Treasury at Berne, and later held the office of Mint-master to the Canton of St. Gallen.

THE BRONZE COINAGE OF THE LATE ROMAN EMPIRE

BY HUGH GOODACRE F.R.N.S.

HANNIBALLIANUS (Rex)

(335 to 337).

Flavius Claudius Hanniballianus, brother of Delmatius, was born at Toulouse. He was called "Nobilissimus" by his uncle who appointed him prefect of Cappadocia and Armenia with the title of Rex. He was killed by the soldiers at the same time as his brother. He married Constantina, eldest daughter of Constantine the Great, but is not known to have left issue.

Only two varieties of his coins are known, one in silver valued by Cohen at 1000 francs, and the following in Brass.

CONSTANTINE II.

Caesar, 317. Augustus, 337. Died, 340.

The second son of Constantine the Great by his second wife Fausta was named Flavius Claudius Julius Constantinus. He was born at Arles in France in 316 and created Caesar early in the next year, together with his half-brother Crispus and Licinius junior. His father sent him at the age of sixteen on a campaign against the Goths in which he greatly distinguished himself. In 335 the government of Gaul, Britain and Spain was entrusted to him, and at his father's death he received these provinces, together with part of Africa. He was acknowledged Augustus in 337.

On the murder of Delmatius and Hanniballian he received part of their territories, but, being dissatisfied with his share of the Empire, demanded his brother Constans' African provinces. On Constans' refusal he made war on him, but fell into an ambush near Aquileia and was killed. His body was thrown into the river Ansa, but subsequently recovered and buried at Constantinople. Constantine II was known for his piety, mildness of character and love of his subjects; traits which seem somewhat inconsistent with his career. He was twice married, but the names of his wives have not been preserved, nor is it known whether he left issue.

Although there are a considerable number of varieties of coins of this reign in both gold and silver, yet they must all be classed as rare and in many instances as extremely rare. In Third Brass, however, the contrary is the case, for not merely are the types numerous, but specimens are for the most part very common. On them Constantine is described as IVN NOB CAES or FL CL CONSTANTINVS IVN NOB C or CONSTANTINVS IVN AVG.

CONSTANS.

Caesar, 333. Augustus, 337. Died, 350.

Flavius Julius Constans, the youngest son of Constantine the Great and Fausta, was born about 320 and declared Caesar by his father in 333, and two years later obtained the government of Italy, Illyria and Africa. On the defeat of his brother Constantine II he became sole master of the West. In 341 he conducted a war against the Franks, after which he went over to Britain and restored the country to a state of tranquillity to which it had long been a stranger.

Constans was a good soldier and a protector of the Christians, but the life he led became a scandal to his subjects, so much so that Magnentius, an ambitious soldier, was encouraged by the public discontent to aspire to the throne. He secured the friendship and assistance of Marcellus, the Count of the Sacred Largesses, who, when the conspiracy was ripe, gave a great banquet, ostensibly in honour of his son's birthday, at Autun at which Magnentius was suddenly introduced wearing the diadem and purple. He was immediately saluted by those present as Augustus and Emperor. Getting wind of what had taken place Constans mounted his horse and fled to Spain, but he was overtaken near Helena (now Elne) at the foot of the Pyrenees and dragged from a church in which he had taken refuge and stabbed to death on the 27th of February 350 in the 30th year of his age.

Constans' wife's name was Olympia, but little else is known of her and there is no record of his having left issue by her.

On his coins he is described as FL IVL CONSTANS NOB CAES or P F AVG or PIVS FELIX AVG. They are fairly numerous in Third Brass, and several of the types are very common.

J.F. Musham, F.E.S.

1774.

No. 84. — Case $5\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{4}$ in. purple blotched on bottom as well as top. Inside is a contemporary printed label reading: "Saturday June 25th 1774. By his majesty's Proclamation issued in this Day's Gazette, it is ordered that no Guineas, Half Guineas or Quarter Guineas wanting more than is specified in the following Table, shall pass or be current after the 15th of July next."

	Dwt.	Grs.

Half Guineas during the same period	2	16
Guineas coined prior to Jan. 1772	5	6
Half Guineas during the same period	2	14
Quarter Guineas during the same period	1	7

Scales. — The usual type.

FIG. 40.

Case. — Lined with green baize and fitted along the near edge with a shaped block the whole length of the case; pierced for two sets of guinea weights.

Weights. — 6 knobbed, for 5.8, 2.16, 1.8, and 5.6, 2.14, and 1.7 respectively. This an interesting set as it carries special weights for the lighter coins.

No. 85. — Case $5\frac{3}{8}$ ins. by $2\frac{1}{4}$ ins. by $\frac{5}{8}$ ins. lined throughout with green baize: Oval label inside lid reading: —
By His MAJESTY'S.

Scales and Weights of all Sorts for weighing of Gold Made and Sold by J^{no} AMOS & W^m PARKES. BILSTON.

Scales. — Long round tapering balance beam, and plain indicator.

Pans. — Brass, cords green braided with large gilt woven wire ball in lieu of tassels.

2 Pens for Weights see (fig. 39, no. 21).

Weights. — 4 flat and circular, for light and normal guineas and half guineas.

1775.

No. 86. — Case of the usual type: Scratched on the lid are the words "Sterling Guinea Scale Box". Two shaped pens for weights

(fig. 38, no. 12), fitted with pierced wooden block for three round knobbed weights of guinea and quarter guinea: the other open for sheet grain weights.

An uncommon variety with two pens for weights. No box lining.

1779.

No. 87. — Case with nine evenly spaced blotches on lid. Inside the lid on the silk padded lining is written

"Price 3 s. 6 d.

Bo^t Aug. 1st. 1779.

Eton Black Horse Society".

Scales. — A well finished set, with large Cupid's bow under: copper pans, braided green cords with woven silvered wire balls below loops.

Weights. — Two, for guinea and half guinea, in pierced red block, see (fig. 39, no. 15).

1780.

No. 88. — Large Case $6\frac{1}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{4}$ ins. with seven double purple blotches on lid, and the usual lining inside, and a recessed and splayed pen for weights (fig. 38, no. 12).

Scales. — Massive balance beam of fine work: centred round with three sets of concentric incised transverse lines: bobbin-shaped, continuation with channelled rims, outer third sharply keeled above and below: a very large Cupid's-bow under centre; box-heads; decorated gallows to match: square stirrup-shaped guard link.

The oil-caps are circular and swing on a pin from the top.

Pans. — Brass, slightly dished: with the usual concentric lines 2 and 1.

Weights. — Two (coin-shaped), for guinea and half-guinea.

No. 89. — Sheet-iron case $5 \times 2\frac{1}{4}$ ins. with one plain brass hinge, and seven large blotches on lid, lined inside with pink silk, box bottom covered with green baize.

Scales. — Balance beam round and tapering, decorated and well made gallows: indicator with decorated knob on tip: centre drop or guard, link blued.

Weights. — For guinea and half guinea: stamped with an anchor, which suggests Birmingham, 1780.

No. 90. — Case ($5\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$ ins.) with painted figure of Justice on top of lid; inside lined with green baize, divided by curved metal partition into three spaces for weights and scales.

Scales. — Beam, circular in section, tapering to ends, and encircled by two sets of incised lines; centre of beam beneath cut in Cupid's bow design. Indicator, fine and tapering, with knob, inserted in solid rectangular base; red tassel on top of pendant, brass pans decorated with concentric equidistant inscribed lines; cords strong and green. This set is evidently intended for the large Portuguese pieces.

No. 91. — Case ($5\frac{1}{10} \times 2\frac{3}{8}$ ins.) marbled brown. A figure of Justice is painted on the top of the lid, with an elaborate gilt-scroll as a marginal band.

Double pen for weights (fig. 38, no. 11).

Weights. — Three, various.

(In the collection of Mr. J. Ward, Cardiff.)

No. 92. — Case of the usual type, apparently unlined, with press-on lid.

Scales. — Pan cords blue and very long.

Of interest are the 16 parallel silvered bands on top of lid.

Weights. — Three, rectangular, for guinea, half-guinea and 1 escudo piece.

No. 93. — Case $4\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{8}$ ins. with blotches; lid inside lined with baize, instead of the more frequent padded pink silk.

Scales. — A well finished set; indicator with small collar almost in the middle, as well as a larger one just above the base.

Pans. — Bronzed and plain.

Weights. — Two knobbed, for guinea and half guinea, stamped lion to the right, in shaped escutcheon.

No. 94. — Case with usual purple blotches considerably over-decorated with border of gilt trefoils and bunch of flowers in centre. Inside, shaped double pen for weights (fig. 38, no. 10).

Scales. — Usual form.

Weights. — Three, knobbed, for guinea, half and quarter guinea, raised figures and letters.

1785.

No. 95. — Case, $5\frac{5}{8} \times 2$ ins., decorated with yellow marginal band round lid. Inside, the usual pink silk padding and green baize lining.

Scales. — Balance beam plain, oval in section.

Gallows. — Thin rectangular, with pagoda-shaped head.

Indicator with semi-lunar base, shaft round, slender and tapering with conical tip. Guard-link, flat sided and doll's-head shaped.

Pans. — Brass, lacquered, $1\frac{1}{2}$ ins. diameter.

Weights. — Two circular knobbed, stamped 5.8, lion over; and 2.16, ditto in metal clips (fig. 38, no. 9).

No. 96. — Case a small edition of above.

Scales. — Gallows with trowel-shaped ends to legs.

Pans. — Small, in copper. Square pen for weights.

Weights. — One for guinea $\frac{7}{8} \times \frac{5}{8}$ ins. rectangular. This shape possibly suggested this particular type of receptacle. The upper part of the gallows' fork inside is shaped like a figure '3' prostrate; a pair of horns curved upwards completes the head of same.

1790.

No. 97. — (Scales only). Beam $4\frac{5}{8}$ ins. long, elaborate, with circular box-shaped ends, and underside of centre cut into Cupid's bow design. Indicator knobbed, with collar about $\frac{1}{4}$ in. above the base; pans of copper, $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. diameter (Mortimer Collection, now at Hull).

No. 98. — Similar to preceding: the decorative blotches not so conspicuous. Lid-pad in pale green silk.

Scales. — Plain, with tapering circular balance beam.

Weights. — Block (as fig. 38, no. 3).

No. 99. — Narrow, acutely oval steel pocket set, not enamelled, with spring catch to lid and plain hinge. [In previous sets the hinge is invariably scalloped along the edge. This one is reminiscent of the old-fashioned steel spectacle cases.]

No. 100. — Another purple blotched example $5\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{8}$ ins. lid lined with green baize.

Scales. — Rectangular balance beam tapering from upper side only; extremes keeled above.

Pancords. — Braided green, with orange coloured tassels at upper ends. Flat round knobbed indicator with pierced base.

Weights. — Pen as in fig. 38, no. 12.

Weights. — Two circular for guinea and half guinea, head of George III similar to that on the spade guinea: stamped coffee-pot.

No. 101. — The usual iron case with spring catch: fitted with three knobbed weights, including the 7 shillings, also an odd circular dished weight evidently added later, for one sovereign.

No. 102. — Octagonal tortoise-shell enamelled case with convex lid and bottom, $5\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{4}$ in. lid roundly flanged and decorated in a double-band crossed in diagonal lines.

Scales. — Similar to no. 84. The hinge on this case is very long, strong, and well made, with the unusual number of ten wards or tenons. This case is an example of the "Old Hall" Wolverhampton Japanned Ware.

No. 103. — This is another example showing the silver twist balls securing the pan cords together, instead of the more usual tassel. A split ring engages the pan-cords, in place of the more frequent S-hook, or plain wire ring.

No. 104. — Purple case with seven lighter blotches. Scales etc. of the usual type.

(No. 03133. National Museum of Wales.)

1800.

No. 105. — Circular black japanned case, $2\frac{1}{16}$ ins. diameter, and $\frac{5}{8}$ ins. deep, lined with green baize, with press-on lid.

Scales. — Stout, round, tapering double-jointed balance beam, with conventional decorations, folding triangularly when not in use.

Pans. — Copper, plated, and flanged.

Cords. — Short, stout and red, suspended from brass wire S-hooks.

Weights. — 2, for guinea and half guinea, stamped coffee pot.

1810.

No. 106. — The general type of case and scales; balance beam etc. evenly lacquered instead of bright; original pan cords flat with one red strand.

Weights. — Two, round flanged, and knobbed: the large one stamped 5.8, lion passant, but minus the knob, instead is a deep oval depression; at the bottom is a raised P with ducal crown over; the lesser weight is the usual knobbed form but stamped with lion passant twice.

No. 107. — Case 5×2 ins., the decoration on top of the lid being in the form of small circular spots.

Scales. — Round, slightly tapering beam, decorated with incised lines.

Weights. — Two, for guinea and half guinea, in clips (fig. 38, no. 9).

No. 108. — Case $4\frac{1}{2} \times 2$ ins. lid lined green baize.

Scales. — A plainly finished set, short gallows, with an obtusely pointed apex, and trowel-shaped feet; flat doll's-head guard link; pen for weight as fig. 38, no. 12.

No. 109. — Case $5\frac{1}{8} \times 2$ ins. inside lid with pad of pink silk.

Scales. — Balance-beam tapering, slightly oval, and decidedly curved.

Indicator with conical tip, and no base collar.

Pans. — $1\frac{5}{8}$ ins. in diameter, lacquered.

Weights. — Two, for guinea and half guinea, knobbed, in clips (as fig. 38, no. 9).

No. 110. — Japanned pocket guinea set; balance beam acutely oval; oval box heads, sliding oil-caps to gallows. Cords suspended by small brass rings.

Weights. — Two, for guinea and half guinea, in clips; stamped Crown and Coffee Pot: an infrequent combination.

No. 111. — A well-finished and profusely decorated set (similar to those in card-board shagreen-covered boxes) in box with 7 purple blotches on lid (1.2.1.2.1.); box lined crimson-plush; sides bottom and weight block; with lid lined padded silk to match; spring push catch.

Weights. — Two, circular, knobbed. for guinea, 5.8., and $\frac{1}{2}$ guinea stamped anchor.

(The plush-covered, pierced block for the two-weights instead of the more usual paper-covered form, is very scarce.)

1813.

No. 112. — Case $3\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{8} \times \frac{5}{8}$ ins., lined green baize, and double pen for weights.

Scales. — Plated balance beam of the usual form, closed half-round box pivot-heads to gallows feet.

Pans. — Copper, dished; with double flanged and beaded edges.

Weights. — Five, for 1821 sovereign, $\frac{1}{2}$ ditto, guinea, $\frac{1}{2}$ ditto, and 7/- piece.

1816.

No. 113. — Oval spring-catch case, $5\frac{5}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{8}$ ins. with seven sets of four purple blotches on lid, edge of lid to match, the whole shaded off, giving a tortoise-shell effect; lid lined with pink silk, box bottom green baize fitted with pierced wooden block, covered red paper for the two weights.

Scales. — Bright-steel balance beam, straight and acutely elliptical in section, with box heads.

Indicator. — Slender round, and small-knobbed.

Gallows. — Parallel sided, pierced and decorated, fitted with blued slides for oiling, and blued guard link of conventional pattern below: tassel tricoloured.

Pans. — Brass, deeply dished, cords green, suspended by split-rings.

Weights. — Two for guinea and halfguinea, round and knobbed. This set is in exceptionally good condition.

1817.

No. 114. — Case with 21 small purple blotches, pink padded lid, green baize lining. Well finished set of scales with oval box heads.

Weights. — Two, for guinea and half-guinea, round, with conical knobs, values not impressed.

The chief interest in this set is the unstamped weights, and played decoration under beam in place of the Cupid's bow.

No. 115. — Oval case, wider than usual, with plain brass hinge and spring catch. On the top of lid are 30 indistinct oval blotches, instead of the usual seven.

Scales. — Pan cords French-grey.

Weights. — Five, for guinea, $\frac{1}{2}$ guinea, 7/- piece, sovereign and its half. (In Mr. Hamer's possession.)

1820.

No. 116. — Converted oval Case $5\frac{1}{2} \times 2$ ins., slightly longer for its breadth than usual, with larger and more irregular blotches on top of lid, lid edge half rounded; no flange, fitted iron hinge with waved edges.

Scales. — With braided red pan cords and tassel to match.

Weights. — Blocks for guinea and half-guinea, conically knobbed from a raised base. (Fig. 38, no. 4.)

A neat pair, with raised script figures of value, in a raised margin, and stamped crown. The grain values 8 and 16 have been filed away and the equivalent values in grains for a sovereign and $\frac{1}{2}$ sovereign stamped incuse in their place.

1825.

No. 117. — Oblong, shouldered tin case with rounded ends, $5\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{4} \times \frac{7}{8}$ ins. lid with beaded edge, long wire loop hinge. Two angular tin pens for weights.

Scales. — Long oval and tapering balance beam.

Gallows. — Doll's-head shaped with round slender arm.

Pans. — Brass $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. diameter, flat with centre pellet and one concentric line. Case lined pale green baize. This variety recalls the round ended wooden cases already described.

No. 118. — Round ended deep tin case, $4\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$ in. originally japanned.

Scale. — Straight beam, rectangular in section, rounded at end, with turned-up slotted head, carrying a short-wire suspended semi-lunar shaped pan, with two side cusps.

Weight. — A rectangular sliding block, which is drawn to its outward limit for the sovereign and inward for the half-sovereign.

Round-ended flat push-down lever under centre of beam.

Base. — Flat brass, and round ended to fit inside case.

(No. 36.440 in the National Museum of Wales.)

No. 119. — Small plain pocket-case, with double curved pens for weights (fig. 38, no. 11).

Scales. — Ordinary form.

Pans. — Sheet brass, $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. diameter, with flattened margins and turned-down edges.

Weights. — One George IV 'curt' weight, sovereign, 1821.

No. 120. — Late guinea set in the usual oval case of large size with seven large irregular blotches on lid, fitted push-catch.

Scales. — Double keeled balance beam, with round box-heads, and lacquered brass pans.

Weights. — Two, circular, knobbed, for guinea and half-guinea, both reduced to the later sovereign, a length of fine lead wire added round the shank of the larger weight for correction.

No. 121. — A set of the usual type. The gallows of scales differing a little in detail; are plain with very square shoulders, decorated in pair of incised lines to inner angle of fork; a notch is in the centre as guide to tip of indicator; arms, keeled on outer edges.

No. 122. — Black pocket-case, $4\frac{1}{2} \times 2$ ins. with blotches on lid giving a tortoise-shell effect.

Scales. — Balance beam, round slender and tapering, no Cupid's bow under.

Gallows. — Short, round-topped, and plain with trowel-shaped heads; swinging link, doll's head shaped and flat-sided.

Cords. — Slender braided and dark green.

No. 123. — A larger set, measuring $6 \times 2\frac{3}{4} \times \frac{3}{4}$ ins. with inconspicuous blotches on lid.

Scales. — Top of gallows inversely heart-shaped.

No receptacle for weights.

No. 124. — A similar set, shewing a continuous treble partition across entire length, the large bay in the centre being for part of the pan scales, the two outer small ones for the box-heads of the balance beam; the spaces not occupied by the scales forming two pens for weights (fig. 38, no. 11).

The two weights are discoid, and not shouldered and knobbed.

NUMISMATA MISCELLANEA.

34. AFGHANISTAN CAMPAIGN, 1919.

The Air Ministry issued the following announcement in February, 1921:

The "India General Service Medal, 1908", in silver, with clasp AFGHANISTAN, N.W. FRONTIER 1919, will be granted to personnel of the Royal Air Force who took part in operations against Afghanistan, in 1919, and who served :

(1) West of the Indus, exclusive of the Province of Simd, between May 6th, 1919, and August 8th, 1919, both dates inclusive.

(2) Under the orders of the General Officer Commanding the Baluchistan Force, on the East Persian Lines of Communication, between May 6th, 1919, and August 8th, 1919, both dates inclusive.

(3) In North-East Persia, under the orders of Major-General Malleison, C.B., C.I.E., between May 6th, 1919, and August 6th, 1919, both dates inclusive.

Officers and airmen who took part in the campaign and are no longer serving should apply direct to the Air Officer Commanding, Headquarters, Royal Air Force, Ambala, India, giving details of their qualifying service with dates, and the permanent address to which the Medal and Clasp may be sent. The claims are subject to approval by the Air Council.

35. ALDERNEY CURRENCY.

On Monday, January 10th, 1921, the States of Alderney decided to adopt British Imperial money for currency in place of French. States of Guernsey notes are also accepted.

36. AUSTRALIAN BRONZE COINAGE.

A much esteemed Australian correspondent kindly writes as follows : —

I think the design of the reverse of the Australian bronze penny and halfpenny would be greatly improved if the value in words was encircled by a wreath of wattle in bloom. The emblem of Australia is the Wattle blossom which is of the genus Acacia. There are many varieties and colours, namely : — Green silver, golden, black, and cootamundic wattle, etcetera. Wattle is an old name for twigs or short rods, bent and woven together, and the early settlers in Australia formed the framework of the walls of their houses with split saplings, the operation being called wattling. Many small trees around the first settlement at Sydney Cove were thin and flexible, and eminently suitable for wattling. There are about five hundred members of the genus and it is believed that at least three hundred are found in Australia, and some of them are exceedingly beautiful, growing in large clusters. Mr. J.L. Cuthbertson says of them : —

“Gold of the tangled wilderness of wattle
Break in the lone green hollows of the hills;
Flame on the iron headlands of the ocean,
Gleam on the margin of the hurrying rills.
Come with thy saffron diadem, and scatter
Odours of Araby that haunt the air;
Queen of our woodland, rival of the roses,
Spring in the yellow tresses of thy hair”.

Wattle Blossom is an emblem of sweetness and purity, sunshine and beauty, and I think it ought to form part of the design of the reverse of our bronze coins.

37. BRITISH RED CROSS SOCIETY WAR MEDAL.

The British Red Cross Society has had a medal struck for presentation to its numerous war workers who have not received an official British decoration or medal. Among those entitled to receive it are all members of the society or its voluntary aid detachments who, during the Great War of 1914-1918, gave unpaid service at home or abroad for not less than one thousand hours. In the case of ambulance drivers and bearers, the minimum number of hours is five hundred. For air-raid duty, in the course of which great personal danger was in many cases incurred, there is no fixed minimum period of service, and the county presidents of the society will nominate for the medal in their discretion. The medal, which is gilt with a white ribbed-silk ribbon, is the only one ever issued by the British Red Cross Society. On the obverse is the well-known symbol, and the inscription : — FOR WAR SERVICE, 1914-1918. The reverse bears the Red Cross motto : — INTER ARMA CARITAS.

38. CHINESE COINAGE.

A correspondent kindly writes as follows : —

Metallic currency in China is becoming more homogeneous owing to the very large mintage of dollars and fractions of dollars that has been made in recent years. The use of sycee broken or otherwise seems to be diminishing. In a recent issue of “The North China Herald” newspaper a correspondent remarks that “it is interesting to note how the silver dollar is replacing lump silver. A few years ago dollars were very scarce here, but now they are as much in circulation as the copper cash, though the Ten and Twenty cash coppers are not much in evidence. At Chungking I was told that ten and twenty cent pieces were hardly usable, while everywhere west of that city they seem to be welcomed, ten 10 cent pieces changing for a dollar without reference to the province of origin. In fact, Hong Kong and Straits Settlements coins are very frequently met with. I suppose, if it were not for the Customs regulations, enterprising travellers from Shanghai would make ten per cent. on their funds by investing them in subsidiary coins and bringing them to the west”.

39. DANTE MEDALS.

An interesting exhibition which made a powerful appeal to all lovers of Italian art and literature, and particularly to those who worship at the shrine of the immortal author of the “Divina Commedia” was opened in University College, London, on Saturday, April 30th, 1921. It was a humble contribution by Britain to the world celebration of the sixcentenary of the death of Dante (1321-1921) and was arranged with a taste begotten of reverence and admiration. Broadly speaking, the exhibition consisted of five sections — manuscripts, printed books, pictures, statues, and medals; but gathered together as they were in the Mocatta Library, they could all easily be seen in complete comfort. The medals were very tastefully arranged by Mr. G.F. Hill, M.A., Keeper of the National Numismatic Collection in London.

40. GUERNSEY CURRENCY.

By an Ordinance of the Royal Court of Guernsey, dated March 30th, 1921, British Imperial currency has been adopted in the islands of Guernsey, Sark, Herm and Jethou as legal tender in substitution for the old Guernsey currency. The only money which is now legal currency in these islands is (1) British Imperial money (including Bank of England and Treasury notes) and (2) the bronze coins issued by the States of Guernsey, together with notes issued by the States and bearing the date March 1st, 1921, or a subsequent date. The value of the States bronze coinage will be on the basis of twelve pieces of “Eight Doubles” equal One Shilling (sterling), with less sums in proportion, and the States notes are to be reckoned on this basis.

41. HONG KONG TOKEN.

The following is a description of an unpublished British Colonial Token : —

O. — Legend, on a Garter : HONG KONG HOTEL. A Royal Crown encompassed by the Garter. The whole within a beaded circle encircled by a plain rim.

R. — Upper legend : HONG KONG. Lower legend : — HOTEL. Inscription in two lines : — ONE | DRINK. The whole within a beaded circle encircled by a plain rim.

E. — Milled with straight lines.

I am indebted to my friend Mr. L.L. Fletcher for kindly lending me this token which is struck in copper, and is twenty millimetres in diameter. He exhibited it at a meeting of Members of the British Numismatic Society held in London, on Wednesday, March 23rd, 1921, when the opinion was expressed that it was probably manufactured in the Hong Kong Mint for the use of the Imperial Troops stationed in the Colony, and for members of the Hong Kong police force. I should be very grateful if any reader of the “Numismatic Circular” could kindly give any additional information concerning it.

42. INDIAN HOARDS.

Under the heading "Hoarding" in Palgrave's "Dictionary of Political Economy", Volume 2, Page 314, the following is printed:

"The most extensive system of hoarding of which there is any record is that which exists in India, and has been going on there for a very long period. This has undoubtedly arisen from the unscrupulous character of former rulers of the country, and the habits induced by ages of misgovernment continue to influence the people in their present condition of security and under their increased opportunities. Both gold and silver, in the form of bullion, of coin, and ornaments are hoarded by the natives of every class. Estimates as to the amount of wealth lying dormant in this way differ very much, but the population is so numerous, and the habit so universal, that the amount must be very large. Enormous hoards are known to be in the possession of some of the native princes; and from the age of some of the coins contained among these treasures it is evident that the accumulation must have commenced hundreds of years ago".

43. PERTH TREASURE TROVE.

At a meeting of Fellows of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, held in Edinburgh, on Monday afternoon, May 9th, 1921, Mr. George Macdonald, M.A., described a hoard of 1128 coins which was discovered during the excavations for the foundation of a new picture house in Perth, an old historic city, long a residence of Scottish Kings, and charmingly situated upon the right bank of the river Tay. It is a place of great antiquity and there is a story that the Roman soldiers of Agricola when they came in sight of the Tay and the South Inch, exclaimed,

"Ecce Tiberis! ecce Campus Martius!" — a compliment which Sir Walter Scott has turned as follows:—

"Behold the Tiber!" the vain Roman cried,
Viewing the ample Tay from Baigle's side;
But where's the Scot that would the vaunt repay,
And hail the puny Tiber for the Tay?"

The coins were found in the autumn of 1920, and were claimed as treasure trove by the King's Remembrancer, and submitted by him to the authorities at the National Museum of Antiquities, Edinburgh.

Though much corroded when discovered, after careful treatment in the Museum, the hoard was found to consist of 18 gold coins — 2 Riders, 1 Half Rider, and 14 Unicorns of James III., and a Noble of Maximilian and Philip the Fair of Burgundy dated 1488; 611 silver coins, of which 256 were English Groats and Half Groats of the reigns of Edward III., Henry V., Henry VI., and Edward IV.; and 355 Scottish Coins, chiefly consisting of Groats of James I., (1406-1437), and Groats and Half Groats of the reigns of James II., (1437-1460), James III., (1460-1488), and James IV., (1488-1514); and 499 billon Placks and Half Placks of James III.

Many mints were represented in the English Coins, but Mr. Macdonald contended that this hoard furnished fresh proof that during the reign of Henry VI., Calais, which was then in the possession of the English, was the place where Henry had his chief mint — at least for silver — as 121 out of 135 Groats and Half Groats were minted there.

Five gold coins and 122 of silver and billon were retained for the National Museum of Antiquities, Edinburgh, and the Royal Scottish Museum, Edinburgh. The balance of 1001 coins was returned to the finders who were recompensed for those retained for the Museums.

44. SCOTTISH COINS.

Writing under date of April 15th, 1921, a correspondent in Scotland kindly informs me that Sir Thomas Glen Coats, Bart., recently intimated to the Council of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland that he and the other members of the family of the late Mr. Thomas Coats of Ferguslie House, Renfrewshire, are prepared to present to the National Museum of Antiquities, Edinburgh, the magnificent collection of Scottish Coins formed by their father, on condition that it is kept together in all time coming, as a separate entity, accessible to students, and known as "The Thomas Coats of Ferguslie Collection of Scottish Coins". The Coats Cabinet of Scottish Coins is recognised as the finest and most representative series of the coins of Scotland that has even been formed.

45. "SOMALILAND, 1920".

It was officially announced in May, 1921, that the King had approved of the Africa General Service Medal, instituted in 1916, with clasp inscribed: — SOMALILAND, 1920, being granted to personnel of the Imperial, Indian, and Colonial Forces who, under the general direction of the Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Protectorate, and under the Command of Major (Temporary Colonel) G. H. Summers, C. M. G., Officer Commanding Troops, Somaliland took part in the military operations in Somaliland between January 21st, and February 12th, 1920. Officers, soldiers, and others already awarded the medal, on who are in possession of the Africa General Service Medal instituted by King Edward the Seventh, will receive the clasp only.

46. SWITZERLAND AND FOREIGN SILVER COINS.

A correspondent kindly writes as follows:—

News received in Paris from Switzerland says that the Federal Council has decided to have all foreign silver Five Franc pieces withdrawn from circulation after April 30th, 1921. It is also forbidden to place them in circulation again. The National Bank of Switzerland has £ 4,800,000 worth of this foreign silver money in its coffers, and the amount of similar money at present in circulation is calculated at another £ 4,000,000. It is considered likely that the authorities will withdraw Swiss silver Five Franc pieces from circulation abroad. The reason for this measure is the result of money jobbing operations carried on by speculators who bring foreign "Ecus" from abroad in order to take advantage of the rate of exchange.

47. VICTORY MEDAL.

The Victory Medal was designed by Mr. William Mc Millan the Scottish sculptor who also designed the British War Medal in 1919. The Victory Medal is struck in bronze and is thirty six millimetres in diameter. It bears on the obverse a winged figure of Victory standing on the ground and draped in a long flowing robe, with scale armour on her breast. Her right hand holds a branch of palm and her left hand is outstretched. Her feet are bare. Above the ground to the right of the figure the initials W. M. M. (William Mc Millan). On the reverse the inscription, in four lines: — THE GREAT | WAR | FOR | CIVILISATION | 1914-1919, encircled by a laurel wreath. The edge of the medal is inscribed with the name of the man, his number, and regiment, incuse. The letters are without serifs.

Mr. Mc Millan is a native of Aberdeen. His "Refugees" relief exhibited in the Royal Academy, London, in 1919, was widely commented upon as one of the most arresting of all exhibits. When the Great War commenced in August, 1914, he joined the Artists Rifles, and subsequently gained his commission in the Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry. He served in the Ypres salient during 1915, and left the Army in 1917, suffering from shell-shock from which however he happily recovered.

48. WALES AND THE ROYAL ARMS, AND COINAGE.

A further effort is being made by the Welsh Parliamentary Party to secure a place for the Arms of Wales on the Royal Standard and on the British Imperial coinage. It has been ruled by Parliamentary authorities that it is not a question for the House of Commons, but for the College of Heralds. Representations will accordingly be made to that department.

HENRY GARSIDE.

AN ANDREW MARVELL MEDAL.

In connection with the Andrew Marvell celebrations, a medal has been issued, which is certainly the most artistic yet produced relating to the city of Hull. A limited number has been struck in bronze and silver. The medal is $1\frac{3}{4}$ in. in diameter, and the designs on the obverse and reverse are well proportioned. On the obverse is a beautiful portrait of Andrew Marvell, with long flowing hair, and large collar fastened by tassels, the lettering being "ANDREW MARVELL TERCENTENARY 1621-1921". On the reverse is a charming view of the Old Hull Grammar School, as restored by Alderman Gee, and before it was modified in design by the "restoration" of the last century, and the lettering, "POET, PATRIOT, STATESMAN. EDUCATED AT THE OLD HULL GRAMMAR SCHOOL".

Notwithstanding the fact that Andrew Marvell played such a prominent part in British politics, there has hitherto been no medallic representation of his features, or any such record of his work; consequently the present medal is of an exceptionally interesting character. It has been designed by Mr. T. Sheppard, M.Sc., of the Municipal Museums, Hull, who designed the Peace Medal issued by the Yorkshire Numismatic Society, and others.

CORRESPONDENCE.

AN INEDITED ONE THIRD FARTHING OF VICTORIA, STRUCK FOR MALTA.

Gentlemen,

The following unedited variety of the one third Farthing' struck for Malta, may be of interest to the readers of the "Numismatic Circular".

Obv. Bust of Queen Victoria to left VICTORIA DEI GRATIA 1844. Rev. BRITANNIAR: RE FID: DEF:

In exergue, a rose, thistle and shamrock.

The omission of the letter G in REG and subsequent colon on Rev. was evidently rectified by the insertion with a puncheon of the missing letter and point, in the rev. die; the former of which is slightly larger than the preceding letters. I have also two other varieties of this reverse die (1) in which the inserted letter G is still larger and out of alignment by being slightly below the other letters and (2) the G extends both above and below the line.

RECOLAZIONE DI CONFINI TRA LO STATO VENETO E QUELLO PONTIFICIO NEL 1749, RICORDATA DA DUE MEDAGLIE. By Conte Nicolò Papadopoli Aldobrandini. Venezia, 1920.

(Atti del Reale Istituto Veneto di Scienze, Lettere ed Arti, LXXIX.)

Count Papadopoli who has just completed his eightieth year is still as active as ever and able, in spite of his numerous political and social duties, to devote time to his favourite subject of study, the coins and medals of Venice.

The two medals which he describes in his latest monograph were struck in the delimitation of the frontiers between the Venetian and Papal States in 1749. The first has on obv. the Lion of St. Mark on the sea-shore, and on rev. a column against which are leaning the Papal and Venetian arms; above, FINIBUS POSUITIS; ex.: XVII KAL: MAII | MDCCXLIX. It is the work of the goldsmith Quanne Trentin, or of an unknown artist of his workshop. The second is a Pontifical medal, signed by O. Hamerani, with bust of Pope Benedict XIV, and bearing on rev. a figure of the Pope clasping hands with the Republic of Venice across a Terminal column surmounted by two heads dos-à-dos; the legend is: CONCORDIA MVTVA; ex.: TERMINIS AD PADVM CONSTITVTIS.

DI UN TETRADRAMMO SIRACUSANO DI EUCLEIDA. By Mons. Giuseppe de Ciccio.

Estratto dal Bollettino del Circolo Numismatico Napoletano. Anno 1920. Fasc. 1.

7 pp. + 1 Plate.

In this clever monograph, Mons. G. de Ciccio brings to light yet another specimen of the now well-known Syracusan tetradrachm, first published by Dr. J. Hirsch (Auct. Cat. VIII, Munich 1903; p. 50, pl. V, n° 991), and now in Dr. Walter Giesecke's Collection at Leipzig, presenting the signature EVKAEI on the dolphin, in front of the chin of Arethusa (cf. also my Signatures de graveurs, p. 132, no. 1. Mgr. de Ciccio illustrates, besides the Giesecke coin, three others, one in the Museum at Syracuse, another at Palermo, and the third in the famous collection of Sicilian coins of Mr. J. C.

Tudeer enumerates nine coins of this type, on some of which the signature is missing: (a) Boston 17,37 gr. (ex. Warren, Regling X, 385); (b) Giesecke (ex. Hirsch Cat. 8, V, 991); (c) British Museum 16,91 gr. (B.M.C., 161); (d) Munich; (e) Paris, 17,00 gr. (ex. de Luynes, 1206); (f) Pennisi, Acireale; (g) Syracuse; (h) Du Chastel VII, 80 (which however is undoubtedly the Paris de Luynes coin); (i) Vienna Museum (6860). Another variety occurred in a sale at Vienna (Egger, 7. January 1908, lot 109).

NUMISMATIC SOCIETIES, MUSEUMS, &c.

ROYAL NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

April 21. Sir Charles Oman, M.P., K.B.E., LL.D. President in the Chair.

Surgeon Commander E.A. Wilkinson, R.N. was elected a Fellow of the Society.

The President exhibited a florin of the new issue of 1920 corroded and discoloured in a remarkable fashion owing to the bad alloy.

Mr. Henry Garside showed the Canadian 50 cents, 25 cents, 10 cents and 5 cents all dated 1920 and coined in an alloy composed of 800 parts of silver and 200 parts of copper; and a Canadian bronze cent of 1920 of the old type.

Mr. H. Mattingly read a paper on "Some Historical Roman Coins of the first century A.D.". An aureus of Caligula, with rev. Head of Emperor radiate r. between two stars, was shown to refer to the unfulfilled intention of Caligula to consecrate his predecessor: the features of the Emperor on rev. are sometimes strikingly like those of the living Tiberius. The aureus of Nero with rev. IVPPITER LIBERATOR, was attributed to a mint in Greece (? Corinth). A.D. 67. Jupiter Liberator suggests Nero himself, who was hailed under this magniloquent title by the grateful Greeks to whom he gave liberty: and the coins supplied the real explanation of two passages in Tacitus Annals XVI, where Seneca and Thrasea Paetus as their life-blood flows, declare that they are pouring libation to 'Jupiter Liberator'. The point of the epigram has been missed by the Editors. A sestertius of Vitellius (in Mr. F. A. Walters' collection with rev. VRBEM RE. . . was assigned tentatively to Lugdunum:) the rev. which should be completed "Urbem Restituit S.C." suggests by the ambiguous word "Urbs" (instead of the normal "Roma") a side reference to Lugdunum itself, restored by Vitellius after its disgrace under Galba. The unique denarius (in the collection of Sir Arthur Evans) with obv. Head of Mars, ADSERTOR LIBERTATIS, rev. Victory erecting trophy, LEGION. XV PRIMIG., was interpreted as an issue by Civilis and his Gallic allies, commemorating the fall of Vetera with its garrison, the fifteenth legion.

In the discussion that followed, the President, Mr. Percy H. Webb, Mr. F. A. Walters & Mr. Messenger took part.

Mr. H. P. Hall showed a very fine selection of Imperial first brass in illustration of the coinage of the first century A. D.

May 19: Percy H. Webb, Esq., M. B. E., Treasurer, in the Chair. Major T. O'B. Hubbard was elected a Fellow of the Society.

Messrs. W. Gilbert, M. S. A. and Leopold Messenger were appointed to audit the Society's accounts.

It was announced that Admiral the Marquess of Milford Haven had presented the Society with a copy of his great work on "British Naval Medals".

Mr. G. F. Hill, F. B. A. read a paper on ancient methods of coining. As regards the engraving of dies, the alleged use of the gem-engraver's drill was disputed, and, it was shown that all the work on the dies could equally well and more conveniently be done with punches and scorpers. The various methods of preparing blanks by casting or cutting were also deduced from the appearance of the finished coins.

In the discussion, Mr. Cecil Thomas argued that the treatment of details showed that the use of the hub for making dies was known to the ancients. Messrs. Harold Stabler, Manning Pike and John Pinches also contributed to the technical discussion.

Wednesday, March 23rd, 1921. Mr. F. A. Walters, F. S. A., President, in the Chair.

The Secretary having reported the result of his advertisements and negotiations for premises suitable for the Society's new home, and Lieut.-Col. H. W. Morrieson, who had inspected those offered, having advised, the President expressed the Members' appreciation of the courtesy of the Society of Medical Officers of Health in offering the use of the handsome suite of rooms in which the Meeting was held pending negotiations for a permanent arrangement, which he trusted would be satisfactory to both Societies.

The President then presented to Colonel Morrieson the John Sanford Saltus gold medal which had been awarded to him by the triennial ballot of the Members at the Anniversary Meeting:—

KENT NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

The ordinary monthly meeting was held at the Society's Library, Maidstone, on Friday April 8th and J. W. Bridge Esq. F. R. M. S. occupied the chair. The general business included the passing of quarterly accounts for payment, and a resolution was passed reserving the final arrangements for a summer visit to the British Museum for a future meeting.

1. Volume X, pp. 1-8, of the Journal.

A committee was appointed to arrange the exhibit to be placed in the Society's Cabinet in the Maidstone Museum.

The evening exhibition consisted of Army Medals and Decorations and a very fine display was made by H. Risch Esq. which included a very complete set of Indian Army Temperance Medals dating from 1862, and having mostly been awarded to local men.

H. Munn Esq. also added to this exhibit and Dr. Spencer Edwards shewed the beautiful Bronze Memorial Plaque given by the War Office to the next of kin of all those who fell in the Great War; it bore the name of Herbert Spencer Edwards. C. H. Saunders Esq. shewed fine specimens of the 1/3 and 1/4 Guinea of Geo III. A copy of Carew Hazlitt's Coin Collector was presented by H. Munn Esq. and a chart of the comparative value of coins by Mrs. A. Bridge. Miss Carrington Ley sent in an interesting type of Hop Token, of East Farleigh.

A hearty vote of thanks to all exhibitors and donors closed the meeting.

COINS &c. ON APPROVAL

COINS, MEDALS and TOKENS from the following lists may be had on approval if the applicant is known to us, or, if not, on receipt of satisfactory references.

GENUINENESS AND PRESERVATION

SPECIAL ATTENTION is directed to the fact that every coin, medal or token offered for sale is guaranteed to be ABSOLUTELY GENUINE; also that every care is taken when the lists are compiled not to overrate the condition of the pieces but faithfully to represent them according to their merits.

AUCTION SALES

AUCTION SALES attended and commissions faithfully executed at five per cent.

EXPERT OPINION

Expert examinations as to the authenticity and value of both ancient and modern coins and medals at reasonable charges.

PRICES

COINS in this Catalogue that have appeared in earlier lists are charged at the prices here named. Previous lists are cancelled.

Veiovis "the little Jupiter" appears to have been a Latin divinity of a destructive nature, whose lightning produced deafness. The temple of the Lares praestites, the protecting spirits of the city, contained two images (probably intended for Romulus and Remus) before which stood a dog, of which this is probably a representation. The head of Vulcan and the tongs relate to the office of the moneyer.

- Plutarch tells us that "when the inhabitants of Falerii in Etruria were visited by a plague, the oracle announced that the scourge would only cease by the annual sacrifice of a virgin to Juno. This superstition was long maintained till the lot fell on a young virgin named Valeria Luperca; but when she drew forth the sword to slay herself an eagle descended in its flight, carried off the instrument of sacrifice, and at the same time deposited on the altar a hammer with a small handle. It then threw the sword on a heifer which was grazing near a temple. When the virgin saw this she sacrificed the heifer and taking the hammer went from house to house restoring the sick by touching them gently with it and telling them to be healed (B.M.C., I, 534).

NAVAL GENERAL SERVICE.

- 95401 Three Bars, Boat Service, 14th Aug. 1808, Shannon Wh Chesapeake, 14th Dec. 1814 (Midshipman). RR. V. F. 25 » »
 * Lieutenant — entered the Navy, 11th March, 1807, as second-class-boy on board the Edgar 74, and in that ship, which at first bore the flag of Lord Keith, was for upwards of three years and a half employed (the greater part of the time in the capacity of Midshipman) in the North Sea Channel and Baltic. In Aug. 1808 he witnessed the embarkation of the Marquis de la Romana and his patriot troops from Nyeborg; at which place and at Langland he assisted in cutting out some Danish gun-boats. On one of the occasions he was slightly wounded. Removing, in Dec. 1810, to the Tremendous 74, Capt. Robt Campbell, he served for two years and a half in that ship and was present in her at the destruction of a French frigate and corvette off Barfleur in 1812.
 In July he joined the San Josef 110, bearing the flag of Lord Keith in the Channel; where in Oct^r of the same year, he became master's mate of the Belle Poule 38, Capt. Geo. Harris. In the early part of the following year he was captured in a prize by the American letter-of-marque Volante but was soon afterwards retaken in Boston Bay by the Curlew sloop, Captain Michael Head; from which vessel he was transferred to the Shannon of 50 guns throwing a broadside weight of 538 lbs. and 306 men Capt. Philip Bowes Vere Broke. On the 1st June following he had the honour of assisting and being particularly recommended for his conduct at the capture of the American ship Chesapeake, of 50 guns, yielding a broadside of 590 lbs., and 376 men — an exploit achieved after a close and desperate action of 15 minutes, a loss to the British of 24 killed and 56 wounded, and to the enemy of 47 killed and 115 wounded. Among the wounded on board the Shannon was Mr. Raymond, who received a ball in the right arm, which was never extracted. In Oct^r 1813 he again joined the Belle Poule, still commanded by Capt Harris under whom he assisted, in the spring of 1814, in forcing the entrance of the Gironde, and in there destroying a line-of-battle ship, three brigs of war, several smaller vessels, and all the forts and batteries on the north side of the river.
 During a part of the operations he had charge of a French pram. On leaving joined the Royal Oak 74, bearing the flag of Rear-Admiral Pulteney Malcolm; and on 14th of the ensuing Dec^r, previously to sharing in the attack upon New Orleans (where he served on shore with the Army), he commanded one of the boats of a squadron at the capture on Lake Borgne of five American gun-boats under Commodore Jones, whose desperate resistance occasioned the British a loss of 17 men killed and 77 wounded. On 17th Feb. 1815 he was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant.

 * This officer entered the navy 7th Nov^r 1803 as 1st class Vol. on board the Hero as Midshipman and was present in Sir Robt Calder's and Sir Rich. Strachan's actions 22nd July and 4th Nov^r 1805 and at the capture, 13 March, 1806 of the Marengo 80, and 40-gun frigate Belle Poule. For his conduct as Senior Midshipman in the boats at the brilliant capture 7th July 1809 of six Russian gun-boats: — A Russian flotilla of 8 gunboats and 12 Merchantmen, carrying altogether double the complement of men, lying at anchor under Porcola Point, on the coast of Finland and centred between two rocks from the summits of which they were protected by a shower of grape. Notwithstanding all this six of the gunboats were irresistibly boarded and carried, another was sunk and the whole convoy, with a large armed ship captured — he was promoted, as soon as he had passed his examination to a Lieutenantcy. Awarded a Post commission 16th May 1828. Magistrate for the Borough and County of Cambridge.

26 Nov. 1920.

Messrs. Spink & Sons, London, England.

Dear Sirs : —

I have to-day received an example of the new TRAMWAY TOKENS of MILANO, issued to supply the shortage of change from which we are suffering in Italy, and beg to describe it as follows:—

Obv. — Leg.: TRAMVIE DEL COMUNE DI MILANO, separated by a rosette, around a plain circle enclosing eight spokes of a wheel, unornamented, around a circular hole punched through.

Rev. — Leg.: l. of spectator: VALE—PER—UNA—CORSA—A TARIFFA—NORMALE—1920 in seven lines, the last three across field. Type: National shield with cross crowned by the five-turreted civic crown of Italy, the whole placed upon a laurel branch with four showings of leaves, r. of field, leg. and hole. N.B. The punched hole separates the legend from the type. Shape: — Round but serrated with eight convexes.

Edge: — Plain. Size: 30 mm.

The "fiasco" of the shortage of small change has not, so far, brought about a resort to token coinage of any sort in Rome but, perhaps, it would have been better if this expedient had been attempted here, as, for a while, on the trams the conductors refused to give change and calmly appropriated the difference for their personal benefit, until a decree was issued to the effect that all tram fares were to be of a uniform amount. How great the difficulty has actually been may be inferred from shops frequently preferring to sacrifice the change in favour of purchasers!

Yours faithfully
Prof. A. H. COOPER-PRICHARD.

NUMISMATIC SOCIETY'S MEDAL FOR MR. T. SHEPPARD.

At the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Numismatic Society, held at Leeds University on Saturday, the chief item on the agenda was the presentation to one of its members of the Society's first annual medal. This was in silver, on one side being a representation of the Society's seal, and on the other the inscription. The medal had been specially struck for the occasion. The presentation is to be an annual event, and the medal will be given to the person who, in the opinion of the Council, has done the most to further the study of numismatics.

The first recipient of the medal, which was given before a large gathering of members, was Mr. T. Sheppard, M.Sc., Curator of the Hull Museums.

In making the presentation, the president, Mr. J. F. Musham, F.E.S., stated it would be superfluous on his part to enlarge upon the many and varied qualifications of Mr. Sheppard, who, with an everpleasant smile and kind word to all who approached him for information, coupled with his unique amiability in acquiring all and sundry towards enriching their County Museum, over which he was the able Curator, had enlivened their meetings, and infused a zest at all times rare. As a society, they were deeply indebted to Mr. Sheppard, who has been, and it was hoped would long continue to be, one of their chief supporters.

Mr. Sheppard was a foundation member, and had been editor of their transactions since they were first issued. He had constantly helped the Society at its meetings by interesting Yorkshire exhibits, and by the reading of numerous papers, most of which contained original matter.

A list of Mr. Sheppard's contributions to numismatics was then enumerated.

TREASURE TROVE AT PERTH.

Dr. George Macdonald, C.B., F.S.A.Scot., at a meeting of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland on Monday afternoon, described a hoard of 1128 coins which was discovered during the excavations for the foundation of a new picture house in Perth last autumn. The coins were claimed as treasure trove by the King's Remembrancer, and submitted by him to the National Museum of Antiquities.

Though badly corroded when discovered, after treatment in the Museum the hoard was found to consist of 18 gold coins—2 riders, 1 half-rider, 14 unicorns of James III., and a noble of Maximilian and Philip the Fair of Burgundy, dated 1488; 611 silver coins, of which 256 were English groats and half-groats of the reigns of Edward III., Henry V., Henry VI., and Edward IV.; and 355 Scottish coins, chiefly consisting of groats and half-groats of the first four Jameses; and 499 billon placks and half-placks of James III.

Many mints were represented in the English coins, but this hoard furnished fresh proof that during the reign of Henry VI., Calais, which was then in the possession of the English, was Henry's chief mint—at least for silver—as 121 out of 135 groats and half-groats were minted there.

Five gold coins and 122 of silver and billon were retained for the National Museum of Antiquities and the Royal Scottish Museum. The balance of 1001 coins was returned to the finders, who were recompensed for those retained for the Museums.

OMENS.

The morning before the Derby, writes a reader, I chanced to be examining some old Roman coins. The first I picked up had on the obverse a winged horse with inscription C.A. I at once decided to back Craig an Eran for the Derby. The next coin was (obverse) a lyre (reverse) a horse, inscription Romano. I at once backed Roman Fiddle. I told a friend, and he said I was a humorist, so I backed Humorist. Thanks to my omens, I can now afford a summer holiday.

SASSANIAN COINS

BY

WM. H. VALENTINE

"COPPER COINS OF INDIA".

The object of this work is to assist the numismatist in identifying and allocating any Sassanian coin he may possess. Every known work on this difficult subject has been consulted; but following M. Drouin's observation that any posterior work on the series must be founded on Mordtmann's essays combined with the plates of Bartholomaei, the author has laid heavy contribution on both and enriched it with remarks from Rawlinson. The result is remarkable, for by a little study any Sassanian coin can be at once attributed. The work is divided into three sections, viz:—Sassanian Kings, Arab Governors and Tabaristan Rulers; is illustrated by 80 coins drawn in the text; and accompanied with a reproduction of every known legend together with its transliteration and translation. Each type of coin is illustrated showing the distinctive head-dress of every ruler; and an alphabetical list of the mint abbreviations is included. These tables, together with those of the Pehlevi Alphabets and numerals the student will find of the utmost value and assistance in lifting this class of coin to the position to which it rightfully belongs.

Two hundred and fifty copies only are being printed, and early application should be made to Messrs. Spink and Son, Ltd., 17 and 18, Piccadilly, London. W. 1.

Price £1/1/- postage extra.

The Handbook of the Famous MITCHELL COLLECTION, which is part of the bequest of the late David Mitchell to the Public Library of New South Wales, as Trustees, and known as the "Mitchell Foundation".

The author, in cataloguing, has been guided by his own 40 years collecting and personal study of this subject, with the additional assistance of full access to the well-known collection of Mr. Wm. Dixon and its accumulated records and papers.

The editorial matter thus embraces the information gained in making the three finest collections extant.

As a compilation it brings together—

A complete history of the conditions leading to the different issues of the various Australasian Tokens and Coins.

Notes on several issues never previously published.

Full sketches of the history of the different issues.

Notes on the Medallists (Home and Colonial) engaged in the production of the Tokens, their designs, etc.

Detailed lists of nearly 800 pieces, including :

Holey dollars and dumps.

The Adelaide Gold Ingots and Pound pieces.

The Kangaroo Office issues.

The Australian Mints and their issues.

The Commonwealth Coinage.

Over 700 Silver and Copper Tokens.

250 Surcharged Coins.

Apart from its purpose as a Catalogue of one or the finest collections extant the book may be regarded as the first serious attempt to bring together much hitherto unpublished information, and provide a complete resumé of Australasian Numismatics.

GREEK COINS.

PHILIPPI OF MACEDONIA.

It was in the course of St. Paul's second missionary journey about the year 52 A.D., that he visited Philippi with his companions Silas, Timotheus and Luke.

Seventy two years had passed since the great battle was fought near the city in which the Republic was lost.

Augustus had settled the veterans of his Prætorian cohorts in the city and made it a colony, giving it the name which appears on the coins of his time, Colonia Augusta Julia Philippensis and conferring on it the Ius Italicum (immunity from taxation). The chief magistrates were strictly duumvirs, but they claimed the title of Prætors, and their servants they called lictors (Acts XVI, 35, 38). There are considerable remains of the Romans on the site still.

The name Philippi was that given to the site by Philip, the father of Alexander the Great. Before he built the new city, the site had been known as "the Fountains", Crenides. Before the new city was built Crenides was part of Thracia, and Macedon was bounded by the river Strymon, but Philip included his city in Macedonia making his new boundary the river Nestus (Kara Sa). Near the city were the ancient mines which were not producing much until Philip began to work them. He is said to have derived 1000 talents a year from them.

The new city was situated on a rounded hill standing out into the plain from the north; its walls enclosed all the southern slopes and stretched out into the plain.

It was divided into the High Town and the Low Town, by the Via Egnatia. The High Town was the more ancient and portions of the old Hellenic wall still exist.

Carvings of popular deities, are still to be seen on the rocks, Bacchus, the tutelary deity, Minerva, Diana, Mercury and Hercules and Men. There was a temple to Sylvanus the rustic god of the old Roman soldiers who had fought for Augustus. On a tablet connected with this temple there are names with which we are familiar from the New Testament, but of course not connected with the Christians of those names, such as Crescens, Secundus, Trophimus, Pudens, Clemens, &c. Some were freedmen, some slaves, and others now free were once slaves.

The forum where Paul and Silas were scourged was in the Lower Town. When the Apostles entered by the eastern gate the Via Egnatia, they passed on their right hand the theatre, then the temple of Sylvanus, and on their left the Forum. There were so few Jews in Philippi that there was no synagogue, only a place called a Proseucha such as is mentioned in Juvenal's Satire (I, 3, 296). Even this was without the walls.

The paucity of Jews may be accounted for by the fact that the city was a military centre with no advantages such as Jews required for commerce.

The Thasians had settled at Daton and Crenides in the VI cent. B.C. but they were unable to thrive because the barbarian tribes disturbed them.

In 361 B.C. Callistratus refounded Daton helped by the Thasians, and in the British Museum there are gold coins with the obv. type of the head of Heracles in the lion's skin, and the legend ΘΑΣΙΩΝ ΗΤΕΙΡΟ, identical except for the legend with the gold coins of Philip II with the tripod reverse.

There are Thasian bronze coins bearing the same obv. type and the bow and club of Heracles on the reverse. Philip took Crenides from the Thasians soon after 356 B.C. and ruled and issued money in his new city until his death twenty one years later.

THE OBTVERSE TYPE.

The head of Heracles wearing the lion's skin was chosen for the obverse type of the coinage of the Macedonian kings by Archelaus I who reigned from 413 to 399 B.C. and was again used by Amyntas and Perdiccas III.

Whether the proud claim of descent from Heracles or merely the choice of the cult of the demigod by the royal family influenced them we know not, but the type was retained until the fall of the kingdom when Perseus the last king was subdued by the Romans in the year 168 B.C. Although Macedonia became a Roman Province in 146 B.C. it seems probable that no coins were issued from the mint of Philippi until Augustus granted the privilege of coining money to his new Colony soon after 42 B.C.

THE REVERSE TYPE.

On all the coins of Philip II we have the same type on the reverse, viz. a Delphic Tripod.

The tripod of Delphi is associated with Heracles in the myth told by Pausanias (III, 21, 4) "The Gytheatæ do not refer their origin to any mortal, but report that Heracles and Apollo, when they contended about the Tripod after their dispute was at an end built the city in common. Hence the statues of Apollo and Heracles are placed in the Forum of these people and near by a statue of Bacchus". This Gythium was only 30 stadii from Sparta. There are legends of cities being founded where a tripod was sent from Delphi as in Pausanias (I, 43, 3). E. Curtius explained the myth of the contest for the tripod as a reminiscence of a conflict between a Semitic or Phœnician religion and that of a Greek cult represented by Apollo. However both Apollo and Heracles appear to have been originally of Eastern origin.

Pausanias (in X, 13) perhaps suggested this idea of conflicting cults. "Heracles and Apollo hold a tripod and are on the point of fighting with each other for its possession, but Artemis appeases the anger of Apollo and Athene that of Heracles . . . but that Heracles took up the tripod and carried it out of the temple upon which the prophet said "this is a Tirynthian Heracles and not Canobæus", for prior to this an Egyptian Heracles came to Delphos, but then the son of Amphitryon restored the tripod to Apollo".

The myth is the subject depicted on many vases on which Athene stands by the side of Heracles and Artemis by Apollo.

The confusion in the minds of the Romans as to the origin of Heracles is seen in Cicero's De natura Deorum, III, 16 "the most ancient is he who fought with Apollo about the tripods of Delphi and is the son of Jupiter and Sisyto".

The Scholiast in Pindar O., IX, says Heracles opposed Apollo because the prophet refused to give a response, so being angered Heracles took up the tripod, and thus drew upon him the strife.

Other references to the myth are found in Plutarch de El., 6, and in his "De sera numinis vindicta, 12". There is apart from the myth, the common idea of the Greeks that Heracles was connected with oracular responses which were typified by the tripod. However no less than 58 black figured vases and 18 red figured vases, 8 marble reliefs and terra cottas and two engraved gems all refer to the myth.

The shape of the tripod on the coins with the rings on the upper part is that of the Delphic tripods.

THE BRONZE COINAGE OF THE LATE ROMAN EMPIRE

BY HUGH GOODACRE F.R.N.S.

CONSTANTIUS II.

Caesar 323: Augustus 337: Died 361.

The second son of Constantine the Great and Fausta, Flavius Julius Constantius, was born at Sirmich in Sclavonia on the 7th or 13th of August 317. He was declared Caesar and Princeps Juventutis on the 8th of November 323 or 324, and created Consul in 326. At the age of fifteen he was entrusted by his father with the administration of Gaul, and on the partition of the Empire received as his portion Asia, Syria, and Egypt. On the death of Constantine he was acknowledged Augustus, together with his brothers Constantine II and Constans.

A party to the murder of his two cousins Delmatius and Hanniballian, he met his brothers at Sirmium in 337, when the three youths of 21, 20 and 17 years of age partitioned out the Roman Empire afresh between them. Constantius took as his share Thrace, Macedonia, Greece and the Asiatic provinces of Egypt, but soon found himself involved in a war with Sapor II King of Persia, which continued off and on during the whole of his reign.

From force of circumstances Constantius was compelled for a short time to acknowledge the colleagueship of Vetrano. In 353 he succeeded in vanquishing the usurper Magnentius, thus becoming sole master of the West.

Having at length secured peace for his Empire, he proceeded to Rome, which he had never before seen, and made his triumphal entry into the Eternal City on the 28th of April 357. To mark the occasion he caused the obelisk, which his father had brought from Heliopolis in Egypt, to be erected in the Circus Maximus. It now stands before the portal of the church of St. John Lateran and is known as the Lateran Obelisk.

On his return to Mesopotamia to meet Sapor he received tidings that Julian had been proclaimed Emperor of the West. Speedily collecting his forces he returned, but the agitation caused by the news and the fatigue of the journey threw him into a fever, and he died at Mopsocrene, a small town at the foot of Mount Taurus on the 3rd of November 361 in the 45th year of his age. He was buried in the tomb of Constantine the Great at Constantinople.

Constantius was married three times. The name of his first wife is unknown: his second was Flavia Aurelia Eusebia, and his third Maxima Faustina by whom he had a daughter Flavia Maxima Constantia who married the Emperor Gratian.

The insight into the character of Constantius II which we get from Gibbon shows us an able but unscrupulous prince. According to the historian, his father, when dying, entrusted his funeral to him. One of his first acts was to take possession of the palace at Constantinople and then to obtain from the Bishop of Nicomedia a document alleged to be the genuine testament of Constantine, in which the Emperor expressed his suspicions that he had been poisoned by his other sons. Armed with this instrument, Constantius instigated the rising which occasioned the deaths, amongst others, of his cousins Delmatius and Hanniballian. He appears in a somewhat better light in the final scene with his involuntary colleague Vetrano, when by his eloquence he transferred the adherents of the usurper to his own standard.

Many of his Brass coins are very common. On them he is usually styled FL IVL CONSTANTIVS NOB C or AVG.

Certain rules have been established for distinguishing the coins of the four bearers of the name Constantius, viz. Constantius I (Chlorus), Constantius II, Constantius Gallus and Constantius III. In the first place the coins of Constantius I (Chlorus) may be readily distinguished by the portrait and fabric, which resemble the style of the time of Diocletian. The title of Augustus appears only on the coins of Constantius II and III, but in the latter case the face is much fatter than in the former. The monetary marks COM, COMOB and RV (Ravenna) can only belong to Constantius III, as they do not make their appearance before the reign of Valentinian II. The name of FL CL (Flavius Claudius) belongs to Constantius Gallus alone. That of FL VAL (Flavius Valerius) belongs to Constantius II only. The name FL IVL is common to both Constantius II and Gallus, but all the coins with the head bare are attributed to the latter. Also all those with bare head reading DN CONSTANTIVS NOB CAES or CONSTANTIVS CAES are assigned to Gallus, the remainder being given to Constantius II. Further the coins of Gallus may generally be distinguished by the length of the neck which is extremely pronounced.

NEPOTIAN (Usurper)

350.

Flavius Popilius Nepotianus Constantinus, son of Popilius Nepotianus, the Consul, and Eutropia, sister of Constantine the Great, assumed the purple in 350 and obtained possession of Rome. However, instead of conciliating the Romans, who from hatred of Magnentius had received him with open arms, he irritated the populace by his cruelties. Within a month he was killed, desperately defending himself in battle with Marcellianus, one of Magnentius' generals.

Only four varieties of his coins are known, one in gold valued by Cohen at 2000 francs, and the remainder in Second Brass. On them he is styled FL POP NEPOTIANVS P F AVG or FL NEP CONSTANTINVS AVG.

VETRANIO (Usurper)

350 to 351.

In the Emperor Vetricio a picturesque personage flits across the historic stage. A trusted and beloved old general, himself a son of the people, he yields to the importunity of his troops on the death of Constans, and allows himself to be proclaimed Emperor. Probably with the already established division of the Empire before him no disloyalty entered his head, the claim of the surviving Constantius to his provinces not presenting itself to his mind. In fact, as far as the contradictory records of the time allow us to gather, even Constantius himself would appear to have been prepared to acquiesce in his co-partnership. If any doubt presented itself to his mind this was probably dispelled by the recognition accorded him by Constantina, the daughter of the great Constantine and widow of Hanniballian, who is reported to have herself placed the diadem on his head at Sirmium. To the peasant of Moesia, whose education had been so neglected that he is said to have studied the alphabet after his elevation, the niceties of legitimate succession could hardly have been expected to appeal, and historians seem agreed in acquitting him of the machinations common to most usurpers.

The ostensible motives which prompted a meeting between Constantius and Vetricio are somewhat obscure, but that they met on a plain near Sophia is a matter of history, as is also the fact that they agreed to address the assembled troops in turn. To Constantius was conceded the first hearing, and this crafty prince, by artful reference to himself as the son of the great Constantine, so worked on the feelings of his hearers that he secured their acclamations, seeing which, Vetricio took off his diadem and presented it to his rival. It was immediately accepted, and to the credit of Constantius Vetricio was allowed to retire to Prusa in Bithynia, where he spent the remainder of his life in peace and quiet.

The coins of Vetricio are excessively rare in gold and silver and decidedly scarce in bronze, although a recent small find somewhere on the banks of the Danube has rendered these latter somewhat less so than formerly.

The obverse reads D N VETRANIO NOB CAES or P F AVG.

MAGNENTIUS (Usurper)

(350 to 353).

Born of obscure Gaulish, or possibly British, parents about 303, Flavius Magnus Magnentius was brought up by the Emperor Constans, who on one occasion saved his life from the fury of the soldiers by throwing his paludamentum over him. This service he requited with the basest treachery at Autun when he assumed the purple. Of commanding stature and of great bodily strength, Magnentius is said to have been a man of studious habits and exceptional conversational powers. He proved himself a bold soldier and a skilful general, but however conspicuous his merits when in a subordinate position, not one spark of virtue relieved the blackness of his career as sovereign. Of the manner in which he betrayed his benefactor and procured his own election we have already spoken under the heading "Constans". But as was to be expected, a position thus obtained was to prove no bed of roses to the holder and he soon found himself at war with the surviving Emperor Constantius. At the head of a motley army of Gauls, Spaniards, Franks and Saxons, Magnentius met Constantius in Lower Pannonia, between the Drave, the Save and the Danube. He carried by assault Siscia and attacked Sirmium, but on the 28th. of September 351 was hopelessly defeated at Mursa, where the number of slain were computed at 54000. It was with difficulty that Magnentius escaped, followed by light horse, to the foot of the Julian Alps. He then fixed his residence at Aquileia, but was eventually driven into Gaul, and finally defeated at the battle of Mount Seleucus. Finding himself unable to raise another army and that his soldiers were preparing to desert him, he killed himself with his own sword at Lyons in the fiftieth year of his age.

Magnentius married Aviana Justina, the daughter of a provincial official; she subsequently became the wife of the Emperor Valentinian I.

The coins of Magnentius are scarce in gold, rare in silver, but common in bronze. On them his name usually reads D N MAGNENTIVS or MAG MAGNENTIVS AVG or P F AVG. The reading IMP CAE MAGNENTIVS AVG is also found.

DECENTIUS (Usurper)

(351 to 352).

After his assumption of the imperial power Magnentius raised his brother Magnus Decentius to the rank of Caesar. This fact constitutes the sole claim of Decentius to the recollection of posterity. He strangled himself at Sens upon receipt of the news of his brother's defeat.

His coins are exceedingly rare in gold and silver, but in bronze are not uncommon. The obverse description generally reads D N DECENTIVS FORT CAES or NOB CAES.

CONSTANTIUS GALLUS (Caesar)

(351 to 354).

Constantius Gallus was the elder son of Julius Constantius, the younger son of Constantius Chlorus, and consequently nephew of Constantine the Great. He was born in 325 and with his younger brother Julian was one of the two sole male members (excepting of course the reigning Emperor) to escape the massacre of the descendants of Constantius Chlorus. At the time of this atrocity he was only twelve years of age and his brother six. By Constantius the two youths were treated ostensibly as princes, but in reality as prisoners until the year 351, when the Emperor found it expedient to raise Gallus to the rank of Caesar. It was then that Constantius caused him to take his own name and to marry his sister Constantina, the widow of the murdered Hanniballian and one of the vilest women in history. The prince was gifted with a well-formed person and prepossessing countenance and with an air of grandeur and dignity in his deportment. The course of education he had followed had attached him to the Christian faith but it had not taught him to repress his passions which were of such a haughty, insolent and savage nature that he became an object of dread and hatred during the whole of his residence in Syria. So bad ultimately became his behaviour, that the people at length denounced him to the Emperor, who sent two high officials to enquire into the matter. These Gallus incited a mob of ruffians to tear to pieces. Fearing that this act would cause his unruly kinsman to break into open revolt, Constantius wrote him an affectionate letter and lured him to Milan. On his way there, however, he caused him to be seized and taken to Pola in Istria. Here he was tried and condemned to death. With his hands tied behind him like a common criminal, he was led to the place of execution and beheaded at the age of twenty nine. His wife Constantina had died a short time before of fever at a little place called Coenum Gallicanum in Bithynia.

The coins of Constantius Gallus are rare in gold and scarce in silver, but some of the bronze are common. On them he appears with his head bare and the title NOB CAES variously indicated.

MONEY SCALES AND WEIGHTS.

T. Sheppard, M.Sc., and
J. F. Musham, F.E.S.

1825.

No. 125. — Oval plain black enamelled case, $5 \times 2\frac{5}{8}$ ins.Scales. — Plain with stout, short, doll's head gallows; flat swinging or guard link to match.Weights. — In two metallic clips.No. 126. — Much flatter variety of case measuring $5\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{4}$ ins; long wavy edged hinge, and spring push in catch. Decorated gallows: the top more produced than usual before perforation for the tassel ring.Weights. — Two, round, knobbed, stamped anchor; in red-papery wood block.No. 127. — Case, with the usual blotches on lid. Inside lid: a script label giving values for the symbols on apothecaries' weights.Scales. — With stout blue-twist pan cords and blue suspender-tassel; bound direct to the eye in head of gallows; instead of the more usual wire connecting link.Pans. — Copper and plain.Two pens for weights, one with a pierced wood block, for knobbed guinea, $\frac{1}{2}$ guinea, and $\frac{1}{4}$ guinea weights.Weights. — A series of rectangular chemists' weights as per label on lid, and a set of three knobbed weights for the guinea as above.No. 128. — A scarce form lacking its case, balance-beam oval in section, octagonally finished in the centre half; the end quarters slightly more tapering and rounded; terminating in a small pair of oval box heads; the longer axes conforming to that of the beam.Gallows. — Stout, with a broad dome-shaped top, pierced in two large holes, and notched under to receive the tip of the indicator, pivot blocks round, and dished externally.Indicator. — Round, with flat-sided upper half; terminating in a fine collar supporting a small round knob.No. 129. — Another with extraordinarily large box heads for size of the scales (7/16 in. diameter); the centre portion of balance beam plain and square in section (a scarce form); with an extremely long cupid's bow under.Gallows. — With oval "box" pivot blocks, long pierced tabs for carrying guard link.No. 130. — Oval case of medium size with the usual purple blotches on lid; and scales of common type.Pans. — Stamped with makers' initials, T & B; the case is also pierced at the end to admit the top of the balance beam of the scales. A well finished pair of round knobbed weights, stamped crown, accompanies this set.No. 131. — Oval case, with 6 pairs of blurred blotches, in two lines diagonally across the lid.Scales. — A slender little set.Pans. — Small brass, with reflexed rims.Cords. — Very stout, yellow tassels.Weights. — In shaped pen filled with wooden block (Fig. 38, No. 6) for guinea, $\frac{1}{2}$ guinea, and $\frac{1}{4}$ guinea, each stamped on the bottom with crown and coffee pot.No. 132. — Plain oval case, $4\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$ in. (i.e. half an inch shorter and wider than usual).Scales. — A neat set with oval balance beam and very small cupid's bow under.Weight block. — As Fig. 39, No. 16.

Inside lid, padded, drab holland.

No. 133. — Oval case with blotches, lined in green baize; lid with inside pad covered in blue silk.Scales. — All brass; with the exception of the gallows feet which are in iron; a large brass ring suspending tassels attached by iron S-hook.Indicator. — With flat sides and round pierced base.Weight-block. — As Fig. 38, No. 3.No. 134. — Narrow case $5\frac{1}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{8}$ in. with conspicuous purple blotches on lid.Scales. — The "oval-in-section" beams type, pan cords red., flat, and plaited with small tassel of same colour.No. 135. — Another similar, but lined throughout with red plush, similarly cushioned round inner edges.Scales. — As in No. 134.Pan cords. — Yellow silk twist, long and slender. Block for weights as in Fig. 38, No 5, plain.No. 136. — Plain case $5 \times 2 \times \frac{5}{8}$ in., lined with red plush.Scales. — Of the usual type with long cupid's bow under.Pans. — $1\frac{3}{4}$ in. diameter, with three incised circles at equal distances apart.

Double block for weights as in Fig. 39, No. 14.

Weights. — 6; three for the $\frac{P}{5}, \frac{G}{6}$ guinea, its half and quarter, and three for the similar $\frac{P}{5}, \frac{G}{6}$ guinea and its parts.

(These weights have raised letters and figures.)

No. 137. — Plain steel case $4\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{7}{8} \times \frac{3}{4}$ in., with spring push catch and long 9-knuckle hinge.

Neatly engraved on lid in script and block letters ornamented by scroll:

Thos. Poole

FEATHERSTONE.

There is an elaborate scroll and flower margin, painted vermillion. Bottom and blocks, red-plush, with edges lined red gimps.

Scales. — Beam-tapering acutely, keeled above and below, very small cupid's bow under box-heads.Gallows. — Rather broad in the legs, and flat.Guard links. — Stirrup-shaped, and screw studded.Pans. — $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. diameter with reflexed rims; copper, silver-plated on upper side.Cords. — Slender, brown and braided.Weight blocks. — Two (Fig. 39, No. 20) for 5.8 round, knobbed guinea weight and 2.16 ditto $\frac{1}{2}$ guinea.No. 138. — Oval case $4\frac{1}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{8} \times \frac{5}{8}$ in. lined red plush.Scales. — An exceptionally well made neat set with prominent cupid's bow under.

Pans. — $1\frac{1}{4}$ in. diameter with turn down rims, in copper, silver plated on upper surface.

Weights. — A long crescent-shaped block (Fig. 39, No. 19) is fitted around the hinge side of the case for their reception carrying six brass knobbed weights, stamped anchor, reading from left to right 5.6; 2.14; 1.7; 1.8; 2.16; 5.8.

A notch is cut out between the two lesser weights to accommodate the tip of the indicator.

No. 139. — Oval case with purple blotches, and spring push catch.

Lid inside lined with padded pink silk.

Scales. — With acutely keeled beam.

Weights-block. — As in Fig. 38, No. 2. Weights two, brass, rounded and knobbed with trefoil raised margins; for the light guinea, and its half, the $\frac{1}{2}$ D.G. and $\frac{1}{4}$ D.G. raised to match the margins, a raised trefoil above and below the knobs.

No. 140. — Oval case with blotches; lined with green baize, lid lined with padded green silk, quilted.

Scales. — Beam acutely double keeled. Small silvered wire ball in lieu of cord tassels. Weights block as in Fig. 38, No. 2.

No. 141. — Rectangular brown case $4\frac{7}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{4} \times \frac{3}{4}$ in. with shouldered lid. A yellow painted scroll adorns the margin of the lid, together with a figure of "Justice and Scales" in centre.

Lid inside has the usual pink pad.

Bottom of case lined green baize, two rectangular metallic pens for weights in corners as in Fig. 39, No. 22.

Scales. — Of the general type with $1\frac{5}{8}$ in. moulded-edge copper pans.

Weights. — 4. for guineas and sovereign, 1821 type.

No. 142. — Oval black case $5\frac{1}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{4}$ in. with blotches; and spring catch, draped figure of Justice with candle and quill, standing on a narrow long white mound with the word "Justice" in black painted on lid.

Scales. — Of the usual design, stout with rather short balance beam, pen for weights as in Fig. 38, No. 11.

No. 143. — Oval brown convex lidded case $5\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{4} \times 1$ in. snap catch, inside lined throughout with the exception of the metallic sided pens for weights, which are in the form of a segment of a circle, one lined green baize for circular flat guinea weights, the second of similar shape as in (Fig. 39, No. 13) but filled in on the top and pierced for 2 round knobbed weights for sovereign and half sovereign respectively: painted vermilion to represent the papered blocks of similar colour, described in previous sets.

Scales. — Keeled beam type.

Pans. — Brass very stout, and almost flat.

No. 144. — Oval black case with many small purple blotches on lid.

Scales. — Similar to the previous set.

Blocks for weights 2 (as in Fig. 39, No. 17) for sovereign and $\frac{1}{2}$ sovereign. Round knobbed weights, and other three of similar design for guinea, $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{1}{4}$ guinea.

No. 145. — Another with scales of same design, slightly smaller case and the more frequent layer blotches on lid. Block for weights as in Fig. 38, No. 12, retaining a red wooden block pierced and carrying 2 round knobbed weights for sovereign; stamped crown.

No. 146. — Another similar set with plain black lid, the usual wooden block for weights, as in Fig. 38, No. 2.

Weights. 2. — Round knobbed; stamped 20 crown below, etc., instead of "SOVEREIGN and $\frac{1}{4}$ SOVEREIGN".

No. 147. — Oval black plain case; with scales, a well finished and decorated set of the 'sight-hole' gallows variety.

Papered block for weights as in Fig. 38, No. 2.

The two knobbed weights for the guinea and half-guinea, have been reduced in depth, and the grains value erased to do duty for the sovereign. Examples adapted similar to this in many varieties of guinea scales are not uncommon.

No. 148. — Oval case $4\frac{5}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{4} \times \frac{5}{8}$ in. with 7 conspicuous oblong blotches on lid arranged 2.3.2.

Lid inside lined blue velvet; box bottom with wash-leather.

Scales. — A plain set of usual design.

Weights. — 2 for 1821 sovereign and half sovereign, loose in the box. This set is almost in a new condition and is still highly scented.

No. 149. — A well finished set in oval case.

Pans. — In plated copper, with turned-over rims; the body fitted in two blocks pierced for six knobbed weights.

Inside the lid, is pinned on with contemporary pins, an oval copper-plate printed label, reading:

PROCLAMATION ON JUNE 25TH 1774 ALL GOLD COIN TO GO AGREEABLE TO Y^e FOLLOWING TABLE.

	wts.	grs.

The J. P. at bottom of label is that of the plate maker.

The pinned-on label with no sign of any adhesive, adds value to this set, and may explain the lack of labels on similar sets otherwise complete.

A GROAT OF DAVID II OF SCOTLAND.

Burns in his Coinage of Scotland, vol. I, p. 244, gives a group of four Edinburgh Groats distinguished by a privy mark at the end of the legend on the obverse. In three cases this mark is a mullet and in the fourth a lis.

Among my Groats of David II, I have one of these coins with the mullet. It is very near No. 14, fig. 261 of Burns. Thus the portrait is the Small Head, the A on the obverse is a peculiar square-topped form and is barred; whilst the A on the reverse is not barred. But the coin is not a mule for the mint-mark on both sides is the cross with ends inclined to be forked as described by Burns. There is a saltire after VILLA on the reverse. In each of these points my coin agrees with fig. 261 of Burns. The distinction is that my coin has a D by the usual mullet in the third quarter of the reverse. True the illustration shows a coin much rubbed on the reverse and it is possible that there was a D in the third quarter as on my coin.

The interesting point about the matter is that Burns says it is only on certain of the Groats with the Intermediate Head that the letter D occurs in one of the quarters of the reverse (p. 247). The Intermediate Head followed the Small Head so that the coin of which I am speaking shows that the D was used sooner than was supposed by Burns, as on it the D is associated with the Small Head. For various reasons it seems to form a link between the Small Head and the Intermediate Head. Thus the contraction for PRO on the reverse is P with a crescent almost attached to it; and this is frequent on Small Head coins (see Burns, fig. 252, 259, etc.) and does occur on Intermediate Head coins. Again there is a saltire after VILLA on the reverse which is common on Small Head coins and occurs though rarely on those with the Intermediate Head.

The weight of my coin is 4.1 grammes.

BRITISH COPPER COINS FOUND IN HASLINGDEN.

In the year 1892 a hoard of British copper coins was discovered near the White Horse Inn, Haslingden, Lancashire. A considerable number of them were purchased by my friend the late Mr. Ralph Greenwood of Haslingden, who some years afterwards kindly gave them to me.

I much regret I am unable to give any particulars of those that passed into other hands but I thought a brief catalogue of the coins acquired by Mr. Greenwood would be interesting to those readers of the "Numismatic Circular" who are collectors and students of the coins of the period represented by the hoard.

Many of the coins presented to me are fairly good specimens, and there are numerous die varieties of the same date of some denominations. The hoard was probably buried early in the reign of George I., as I was informed that no coins of that monarch were found although they were first issued in 1717.

The number of coins that came into my possession is given in the list that follows.

ENGLISH COINS.

- 1 Halfpenny dated 1673.
- 4 Farthings dated 1672.
- 5 Farthings dated 1673.
- 4 Farthings dated 1674.
- 7 Farthings dated 1675.
- 1 Farthing dated 1679.

SCOTTISH COINS.

- 1 Bawbee dated 1677.
- 1 Bawbee dated 1678 with the blundered obverse legend CAB. II instead of CAR. II.
- 1 Bawbee dated 1679.
- 1 Bodle dated 1677.

IRISH COINS.

- 1 Halfpenny dated 1681.
- 1 Halfpenny dated 1682.
- 1 Halfpenny dated 1683.

JAMES II. 1685-1688.
IRISH COINS.

- 1 Halfpenny dated 1685.
- 1 Halfpenny dated 1686.
- 1 Halfpenny dated 1688.

WILLIAM III AND MARY II. 1688-1694.
ENGLISH COINS.

- 16 Halfpennies dated 1694.
- 34 Farthings dated 1694.

SCOTTISH COINS.

- 1 Bawbee dated 1692.
- 1 Bodle dated 1692.

IRISH COINS.

- 3 Halfpennies dated 1692.
- 6 Halfpennies dated 1693.
- 2 Halfpennies dated 1694.
- 2 Halfpennies dated 1696.

WILLIAM III. 1694-1702.
ENGLISH COINS.

- 3 Halfpennies dated 1696.
- 5 Halfpennies dated 1697.
- 1 Halfpenny dated 1698 (Date in the exergue).

2 Halfpennies dated 1698 (Date forms part of the reverse legend).

7 Halfpennies dated 1699 (Date in the exergue).

4 Halfpennies dated 1699 (Date forms part of the reverse legend).

7 Halfpennies dated 1700.

3 Halfpennies dated 1701.

1 Farthing dated 1696.

2 Farthings dated 1697.

1 Farthing dated 1699 (Date in the exergue).

3 Farthings dated 1699 (Date forms part of the reverse legend).

4 Farthings dated 1700.

PATTERN COINS.

WILLIAM III AND MARY II.

1 Farthing (Montagu 15).

MARY II.

1 Farthing (Montagu 18).

ANNE.

2 Farthings dated 1714 (Montagu 14).

To me it appears somewhat strange that four specimens of pattern coins which have doubtless been much in general circulation should have formed part of the hoard, and the inference to be drawn from their presence is that a considerable number of these pieces were struck and some of them passed into currency.

Many of the known dates of issue of the various denominations are represented in the find and as Haslingden is more than two hundred miles from London where the majority of the coins were minted, and in the early part of the eighteenth century was a comparatively small place, it is evident that the different denominations of the copper currency of the Kingdom were very well distributed.

HENRY GARSIDE.

COINS OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

AUSTRALIA.

EDWARD VII. 1901-1910.

HALF SOVEREIGN, 1904.

O. — Legend: — EDWARDVS VII D: G: BRITT: OMN: REX F: D: IND: IMP: Head and truncated neck of the King and Emperor in profile and looking to the right. Below the truncation of the neck: — DES (De Saulles). The whole within an ornamented rim.

R. — Saint George attacking the Dragon. The saintly knight is nearly nude, sitting on horseback and looking to the right, his left hand holding the bridle rein. He is wearing a crested helmet with a tail of hair floating behind. A chlamys flowing freely at the back is fastened in front by a fibula. On the right shoulder a balteus for suspending the gladius. The feet and lower portions of the legs are protected by armour, but the toes are uncovered. The horse apparently half advances, half shrinks, from the fabulous animal at its feet. Saint George has broken his lance by wounding the winged monster, and a portion of it remains in its body, the other part is lying upon the ground. The dragon is preparing itself for a deadly spring, and Saint George is about to slay it with the gladius he holds in his right hand. Below the ground, the date, 1904. On the ground above the date the mint mark P (Perth). The whole within a plain circle, encircled by an ornamented rim.

E. — Milled with straight lines.

GEORGE V. 1910.

SHILLING, 1920.

Similar to the Shilling described in the "Numismatic Circular", Volume 23, Column 664, but dated 1920, and bearing the mint mark M (Melbourne) below the date.

PENNY, 1920.

Similar to the Penny described and illustrated in the "Numismatic Circular", Volume 19, Column 13107, but dated 1920, and bearing a bead above the ornament below the inscription. The bead above the lower ornament is a mint mark of the Sydney Mint.

PENNY, 1920.

Similar to the Penny described and illustrated in the "Numismatic Circular", Volume 19, Column 13107, but dated 1920, and bearing a bead below the ornament beneath the inscription. The head below the lower ornament is a mint mark of the Melbourne Mint.

BRITISH HONDURAS.

GEORGE V. 1910.

TEN CENTS, 1918.

O. — Legend: — GEORGE V KING AND EMPEROR OF INDIA. The continuity of the legend is interrupted by the mound of the monarch's crown. A bead between the beginning and end of the legend. Truncated bust of the King and Emperor in profile and looking to the left. On the truncation of the bust: — B.M. (Bertram Mackennal). His Majesty is wearing the Imperial Crown, and the ermine Robe of State, The Collar of the Most Noble Order of The Garter, and The Badge of the Most Honourable Order of The Bath. The whole within an ornamented rim.

R. — Inscription, in two lines: 10 | CENTS within a beaded circle, encircled by two plain concentric circles divided by three love knots into three equal compartments, the two upper ones containing the legend: — BRITISH HONDURAS, and the lower one the date, 1918, between two beads. The whole within an ornamented rim.

E. — Milled with straight lines.

Similar coins are dated 1919.

FIVE CENTS, 1919.

Similar to the Five Cents described in the "Numismatic Circular", Volume 22, Columns 232 and 233, but dated 1919.

CENT, 1919.

Similar to the Cent described in the "Numismatic Circular", Volume 24, Column 520, but dated 1919.

BRUNSWICK, LÜNEBURG, AND HANOVER.

GEORGE II. 1727-1760.

PFENNING, 1754.

O. — A wild man three quarters face, standing on the ground which is mostly covered with herbage, stones, and small trees. He is wearing a wreath of leaves on his head, and leaves over his loins. His left hand on his left hip. He holds a mutilated tree with his right hand. In the exergue, the initials I.B.H. (Johann Benjamin Hecht). The whole within an ornamented rim.

R. — Inscription, in five lines: I | PFENNING | SCHEIDE | MÜNTZ | 1754. An ornament on the left and another on the right of the numeral I. The whole within an ornamented rim.

E. — Plain.

HONG KONG.

VICTORIA I. 1837-1901.

TWENTY CENTS, 1866.

O. — Legend: — VICTORIA QUEEN. The continuity of the legend is interrupted by the head of the monarch. Head and truncated neck of the Queen in profile, and looking to the left. Her Majesty is wearing a diadem richly jewelled and heightened with alternate crosses pattée, and united roses, thistles and shamrocks. The ends of the diadem are connected by an ornamented band. The diadem and band are partly hidden by her thick wavy hair which is parted on the forehead, carried over the ear, and collected into a knot behind the head. The hair is bound by a plain fillet, which is tied into a bow at the back of the head, the hanging parts being crimped, and one of them in contact with the neck. The hair at the nape of her neck is long, coarse, and wavy. The whole within an ornamented rim.

R. — Upper legend: — HONG—KONG. Lower legend: — TWENTY CENTS 1866. An ornament on the left and another on the right between the legends. Inscription, in Chinese characters similar to the legends in English. The inscription is encompassed by a beaded circle. The whole within an ornamented rim.

E. — Milled with straight lines.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

TWENTY CENTS, 1865.

O. — Upper legend: — VICTORIA D : G : REG: Lower legend: — NEWFOUNDLAND. A bead on the left and another on the right between the legends. The continuity of the upper legend is interrupted by the two top leaves of the laurel wreath. Head and truncated neck of the Queen in profile and looking to the left. Her Majesty is wearing a laurel wreath of twelve leaves and eight berries. The ends of the wreath are united at the rear of the head. The veins in the laurel leaves are single lines in relief. From the top of the head the laurel leaves are arranged in the following order: — 2 + 3 + 2 + 3 + 2, and the berries as follows: — 2 + 2 + 2 + 2. The thick wavy hair is parted on the forehead, a portion being plaited, carried below the ear, and over part of the laurel wreath, and collected into a knot, with two curls hanging, behind the head. The whole within an ornamented rim.

R. — Inscription, in three lines: — 20 | CENTS | 1865. The inscription is encompassed by a beaded circle which is encircled by an ornamental border of interlinked curves with a bead in alternate compartments. The whole within an ornamented rim.

REVIEWS.

LES MONNAIES GRECQUES. Aperçu historique. Par Ernest Babelon.

Avec 21 illustrations, 16 mo., 160 pp. Payot & Cie. Paris, 1921.

In this volume of the 'Collection Payot', M. Babelon has surveyed the whole history of the Coinage of the Greeks, from the earliest times to the Roman period. Within a compass of 160 pages he has condensed this vast subject with a knowledge and skill which reveal his mastery. The book is written in a fascinating style and will appeal to a wide circle of readers, whilst students will find it replete with information relating to all questions of the Greek Coinage.

To give some idea of the mass of material for study accumulated in this small manual, we may indicate here the titles and subdivisions:

Chapter I. — The genesis of coinage.

§ I. The forerunners of coinage.

§ II. The invention of coinage; the primitive systems of striking.

§ III. The technique of Greek coinage.

Chapter II. — The Archaic Period, from the origin to the Persian wars.

§ I. Asiatic Greece.

§ II. Greece proper.

§ III. Magna Graecia.

Chapter III. — The Period of Fine Art. vth and ivth centuries B. C.

§ I. The coins issued within the Empire of the Achaemenids of Persia.

§ II. Athens and the Athenian empire in the vth cent.

§ III. The Standards in the vth and ivth cent. B. C.

§ IV. General characteristics of coin-types in Greece and the East.

§ V. The coin-types of Southern Italy and Sicily.

Chapter IV. — The Hellenistic Period.

§ I. Regal Coins.

NUMISMATIQUE DE LA RÉPUBLIQUE ROMAINE. Catalogue général et raisonné, par H. Rolland. 8vo. 220 pp. + 10 planches.

Collectors of Roman Republican Coins will welcome this manual, which, in a concise form, includes the description of all the known amily coins.

M. Babelon's Monnaies de la République romaine being out of print such a volume as this is felt to meet a need amongst collectors.

The introduction and notes on the coinage of Rome under the Republic are well written and furnish all the most indispensable information on the subject. Indications of the degrees of rarity of the coins add to the value of the Catalogue and the ten plates of illustrations help to identify some of the more important types.

We have no doubt that the book will be justly appreciated and find a ready sale.

OBITUARY.

COMMENDATORE JULES SAMBON.

Commendatore Jules Sambon, who died last week at his son's house in Fordwych Road, N. W. 2, at the age of 84, was one of the thousand volunteers who joined Garibaldi in 1860 and fought for the independence of Italy. He displayed great bravery at the Battle of Milazzo (July 20, 1860), and was twice wounded on the Volturno battlefields. The son of Louis Sambon, author of a classic work on the coins of Greater Greece, he was himself a well-known archæologist and numismatist. His work on the coins of Italy (fifth to 20th century) was couronné by the Institut de France. He made a remarkable collection of ancient objects illustrative of the history of the theatre throughout the ages, which, acquired by the Italian Government, now forms the museum of the Scala Theatre in Milan. His wife, Laura Elizabeth Day, was a relative of Charles Dickens, and a descendant of the navigator, Vitus Bering. He leaves two sons. The elder, Dr. Louis Sambon, lecturer to the London School of Tropical Medicine, is known for the malaria experiment he carried out in 1900 in the Roman Campagna on behalf of the Colonial Office and the London School of Tropical Medicine. The second, Dr. Arthur Sambon, is an archæologist and numismatist living in Paris. The de Sambon family is a very old French family, Two de Sambons accompanied Charles VIII. when he made his descent into Italy.

NUMISMATIC SOCIETIES, MUSEUMS, &c.

ROYAL NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

June 16: Sir Charles Oman, K. B. E., M. P., LL. D., President, in the Chair.

Mr. W. H. Valentine was elected a Fellow of the Society.

The Annual Report of the Council was read and adopted. Thirteen Fellows had been elected during the year and six had resigned, while nine, an unusually large number, had died since the last Annual General Meeting.

The Treasurer reported that the Society had once more a satisfactory balance but until the cost of printing was reduced considerably it would be impossible to issue a Numismatic Chronicle of pre-war bulk.

The President presented the Society's silver medal to Mr. Percy H. Webb in recognition of his distinguished services to the study of Roman Numismatics, especially of the third and fourth centuries.

The President then delivered his Annual Address in which he reviewed the work of the Society in the past year and discussed various questions of numismatic interest.

The result of the ballot for office bearers for 1921-1922 was announced as follows: President: Professor Sir Charles Oman, K. B. E., M. P., M. A., LL. D., F. S. A., F. B. A. Vice-Presidents: Sir Arthur J. Evans, P. S. A., M. A., D. Litt., LL. D., Ph. D., F. R. S., F. B. A. and Sir Henry H. Howorth, K. C. I. E., F. R. S., F. S. A. Treasurer: Percy H. Webb, Esq., M. B. E. Secretaries: John Allan, Esq., M. A., M. R. A. S. and Frederick A. Walters, Esq., F. S. A. Foreign Secretary: George Cyril Brooke, Esq., M. A. Librarian: L. A. Lawrence, Esq., F. S. A. Members of the Council: Arthur A. Banes, Esq.; Miss Helen Farquhar; Lionel L. Fletcher, Esq.; William Gilbert, Esq., M. S. A.; Lionel M. Hewlett, Esq.;

George F. Hill, Esq., M.A., F.B.A.; Harold Mattingly, Esq., M.A.; Leopold G.P. Messenger, Esq.; Lieut.-Col. H. Walters Morrieson, R.A., F.S.A., F.R.A.S.; H. W. Taffs, Esq., M.B.E.

Dr. George H. Abbott, President of the Australian Numismatic Society, who is at present on a visit to England conveyed the greetings of his young Society to the Royal Numismatic Society. Sir Charles Oman in reply expressed his pleasure at hearing that the study of numismatics was so keenly followed in Australia where they had none of the advantages from finds that one had in England and wished the Australian Numismatic Society every prosperity on behalf of the mother Society.

BRITISH NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

Wednesday, May 25th 1921. Mr. F.A. Walters, F.S.A., President, in the Chair.

Mr. J. Nevin was elected a Member.

Mr. H. A. Parsons, as Librarian, reported the completion of his removal of the Society's books and effects to the new library.

The Secretary reported that Miss H. Farquhar had offered to contribute £ 6 11 s., the balance of the cost of the new bookcases.

In moving a vote of thanks to Admiral the Marquess of Milford Haven, an Hon. Member of the Society, for the presentation to the Library of his work British Naval Medals, the Librarian referred to it as one of the most valuable and important books yet published on medallic history and art.

The thanks of the Society were accorded to these two donors.

Exhibitions.

By Mr. Shirley-Fox : The series of coins referred to in his paper.

By Mr. Ernest H. Wheeler : Edward I. Three varieties of the groat. 1. Tressure of double lines; trefoil of pellets below the bust. 2. Tressure of treble lines; quatrefoil of pellets upon the breast. 3. Tressure of treble lines; rosette as brooch to the collar of the mantle, which resembles a ring around the neck. All in brilliant condition.

By the President : Henry VI, issued during the six months of his restoration, October, 1470 to April, 1471. Halfpenny of the Bristol mint; obverse, ✠ HARRICV DI GRA REX, reverse, VILLÆ BRISTOV, weight $5\frac{1}{2}$ grains. He explained that he was aware of one other example of this coin, and it was presented to the British Museum a few years ago.

By Mr. Lionel L. Fletcher : City of London broker's medal, engraved, bearing the name, Richard Buller, 1708.

By Mr. Henry Garside :

Trial piece in copper from the reverse die, by J.B. Merlen, for the half-crown of George IV. Coins bearing this reverse are dated 1825, 1826, 1828 and 1829.

British Guiana fourpence, 1917. This type of groat was formerly issued for general circulation in that country and the West Indies, but now for British Guiana only.

"Mule" struck from the reverse dies for the St. Helena halfpenny of 1821 and the Guernsey four doubles of 1830.

Paper.

Continuing "The Numismatic History of the Reigns of Edward I, II, and III", Mr. Shirley-Fox, R.B.A., after calling attention to the marked alteration in style of the pennies of the so-called "florin type", issued in 1344-5, from any of their predecessors and the probability that a similar change would be found in the halfpennies of the same period, went on to describe those which, in his opinion, were struck between the years 1344 and 1351, in which latter year the weight of the penny was reduced from 20 to 18 grains.

Mr. Shirley-Fox illustrated his lecture throughout with drawings on the blackboard, and exhibited the series of coins he described.

KENT NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

The monthly meeting was held at the Library Bridge Offices Maidstone, on Friday May 13th, when the chair was occupied by Mr. W. Savage F.R.N.S. Through the courtesy of the Keeper of the Coins, a visit to the Coin Room at the British Museum has been arranged by the President to take place at the end of June, when it is hoped that there may be a good attendance, but owing to present railway conditions the final arrangements are waived until the June ordinary meeting.

Mr. H. Risch exhibited the half of an old wooden money-scale box which was in itself a complete box with sliding lid containing a set of coin weights of James I. Dr. Spencer Edwards shewed the Bronze Medal of the Battle of Culloden, and a paper was read by the Hon. Sec., Mr. E.T. Clark, on the tokens of Norfolk and Suffolk, accompanied by a very complete Collection from all the places in these Counties that issued them. A vote of thanks to the chair and the exhibitors closed the proceedings.

The monthly meeting of this Society was held at the Library Bridge Offices, Maidstone, on Friday June 10th, when Mr. W. Savage F.R.N.S. presided, and as this was the closing meeting of the season the general business occupied a large portion of the evening. Through the courtesy of the Keeper of the Coins a visit to the British Museum Coin and Medal rooms has been arranged by the President to take place during the summer vacation and for this purpose a Motor Coach has been chartered to carry the members and their friends from Maidstone and back on July 13th. In view of the Society's forthcoming Exhibition at the Maidstone Museum an order was issued for the withdrawal of the necessary items from the Bank and Mr. H. Risch contributed to the same cause with a large number of Indian Army Temperance Medals. A resolution was passed to open the Library during the vacation on July 11th, Aug. 8th, and Sept. 5th, the ordinary meetings being resumed in October. At the close of the meeting an old Jacobean Oak Chest was placed in the room for the Society's acceptance by the Hon. Secretary.

The annual meeting of the above Society was held on Tuesday 15th March 1921 at 237 Collins Street.

Mr. E. S. Anthony in the chair.

The Secretary read the annual report and balance sheet which were received and adopted.

The following are the office bearers for the year 1921-22.

President : Mr. E. S. Anthony re-elected.

Vice President : Mr. W. Howat and Mr. H. A. Fisher re-elected.

Treasurer : Mr. F. Gardner re-elected.

Committee : Mr. L. W. Walters, Mr. F. Schafer and Miss Graydon.

Hon. Secretary : Mr. W. A. Hall, 518 Flinders Street.

A vote of thanks was recorded to the retiring officers. It was resolved that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes to Mr. Graydon, one of the members, for his generosity in presenting the Society with a large case for holding Coins.

The monthly meeting of the above Society was held on Tuesday 12th April. Mr. E. S. Anthony in the chair.

Correspondence read and dealt with, among which were enquiries as to the value of certain coins.

At this stage the President read his report which had been deferred from last meeting.

The President then called on Mr. R.H. Clark to display his collection of Coins, &c., which included a William 4th sovereign, Sovereigns and Half-sovereigns of Queen Victoria, Sydney and English mint, numerous silver coins of Queen Anne and the 5 Georges, a large number of Continental coins, some Romans, and various commemorative Medals, Tokens and Paper money.

ROMAN COINS.

AES RUDE.

"The earliest measure of value throughout Central and Northern Italy was bronze, which circulated in blocks of irregular form. In this primitive condition of the currency we have no reason to suppose that the weight of the blocks of bronze was fixed by the state or in any way regulated by law. It is, nevertheless, highly probable that it was customary to cast the lumps of metal according to pound weights divided into twelve ounces. This ancient money of Italy was called Aes rude" (Head, Historia Numorum, p. 17).

AES GRAVE.

1, Urban Aes Grave of Libral weight.

Dr Haeblerlin's arrangement has been adopted in the description, so that under the heading of Rome will be found not only the Urban coins but also the Aes Grave cast for currency in Latium and Central Italy contemporary with the Roman Libral Aes Grave of Periods II and III, B.C. 312-268, with the exception of the uncertain issues of Central Italy (Haeb., Pl. 62-69) which are described under LATIUM.

THE NINE MUSES.

In B.C. 67. Quintus Pomponius Musa was the moneyer of the Roman mint and the only coinage attributed to him consists of ten different types representing Hercules Musagetes and the Muses. These representations undoubtedly refer to the cognomen of the moneyer. It is probable that we find in these representations a reproduction in detail of the statues of Hercules and of the nine Muses, which M. Fulvius Nobilior placed in the temple erected by him in the Circus Flaminius in their honour in B.C. 179. These figures of the nine Muses are of extreme interest for comparison with the numerous statues preserved from ancient times. The workmanship is excellent, and the dies must have been executed by skilful engravers.

The nine Muses, daughters of Zeus and Mnemosyne (Memory), presided over the liberal arts particularly, and dwelt with Apollo near Parnassus, Pieria and Helicon. Those who ventured to compete with them in music, like Thamyris, were severely punished. Their names are Clio, Muse of history; Euterpe, Muse of lyric poetry; Thalia, Muse of comedy and idyllic poetry; Melpomene, Muse of tragedy; Terpsichore, the Muse of choral dance and song; Erato, the Muse of erotic poetry; Polymnia, the Muse of sublime hymns; Urania, the Muse of astronomy; Calliope, the Muse of epic poetry.

Hercules was often associated with the Muse (Musagetes), probably owing to the fact that in Greek art he is often represented playing the lyre.

- 95691 Hercules. AR. Obv. Q. POMPONI MVSA around. Head of Apollo r., diademed; hair in ringlets. R. HERCVLES MVSARVM divided by Hercules wearing lion's skin, standing r., and playing lyre; at his feet, club. RR. M. » 12 6

POMPONI MVSA divided by the Muse, Erato, in long flowing tunic and peplum, standing towards r., head facing, diademed, and holding lyre in l. hand and with r. striking it with plectrum. Coins with this Muse are ten times scarcer than any of the others. This is an unpublished type; coins of this series with wreath behind head of Apollo should have Polymnia on the reverse; while those with Erato on the reverse are only known with a flower on stalk behind Apollo's head. Besides this, it is a wonderful specimen being the best struck and most complete coin of this series we have ever seen. RRR. F. D. C. 20 » »

NICEPHORUS II, PHOCAS.

963-969. On the death of Romanus II, his two young sons Basil II and Constantine VIII became co-emperors under the regency of Theophano their mother. This regency had lasted only a few months when Nicephorus II, the most distinguished soldier of the time, became Emperor and in the following month married Theophano. The young emperors were not ousted, but kept in the background. About this time the Empire reached the zenith of its military glory. He recovered Crete and Cyprus. He was assassinated in 969 by John Zimiscus and the Empress Theophano who had become his lover.

JOHN I, ZIMISCES.

969-976. On the death of Nicephorus, Zimiscus was at once proclaimed Emperor by his friends, but as the price of his consecration at Sophia's he had to promise the Patriarch to repeal the unpopular ecclesiastical legislation of his predecessor, and to banish the guilty Theophano. This remarkable soldier carried on the work of Nicephorus and delivered Phoenicia, Palestine and Syria, besides overthrowing the Russians, who were approaching Constantinople.

- 95939 A. Solidus. Obv. + ΘΕΟΤΟC ΡΟΗΘ' ΙΩΔΕC. On r., the bust of the Virgin who crowns the bust of John I, who holds patriarchal cross; above his head is the manus Dei; above the Virgin, ΜΘ. R. + IHSXPSREX RESNANTIH M. Bust of Christ, nimbate, holding book of the Gospels. B.M.C., LIV, 11. BASIL II and CONSTANTINE VIII.

976-1025. On John's death Basil and Constantine, the sons of Romanus II, who had been in the background, now being older were left as joint Emperors. It was really Basil's reign, he was the soldier whilst his brother was an idler. By the subjugation of the Slavs and the annexation of Armenia the Empire acquired a greater extent of territory than it had possessed since the days of Justinian, but its greatness culminated with Basil II.

ROMANUS III, ARGYRUS.

- 95953 A. Nomisma. Obv. ΘΕCBOHΘ' ΡWMAHΩ. Romanus standing facing, being crowned by the Virgin; above, ΜΘ. R. + IHSXISREX RESNANTIH M. Christ seated on throne. Sab., XLIX, 3. B.M.C., LVII, 13. F. D. C. 3 3 "

MICHAEL IV, KALAPHATES.

1034-1041. Romanus was succeeded by Michael, an able and handsome court-officer, for whom Zoe, while still the wife of Romanus, conceived a passion and whom she now married without a moment's delay. During this reign owing to the increase in taxes and their arbitrary collection Serbia was lost to the Empire.

- 95957 A. Obv. + ΕΜΜΑ ΝΟΥΗΑ. Bust of Christ. R. Cross on two steps. IS XS—IAS ILE—BAS ILE in three lines in field. B.M.C., LVIII, 3. F. " 7 6 "

CONSTANTINE IX, MONOMACHUS.

1042-1055. Zoe, who was now sixty-two, took to herself a third husband, the handsome Constantine Monomachus, who was crowned Emperor the next day. The Emperor was prodigal in his expenditure and pleasure seeking in his tastes, yet he had a serious side, as evidenced by his reinstitution of the University of Constantinople and his encouragement to the study of Law and Philosophy. In this reign the great schism of the churches of east and west took place.

THEODORA.

1055-1056. She was the aged sister of Zoe, being seventy when she ascended the throne, the last representative of the Macedonian House. Her coins are of neat and careful workmanship, particularly the standing figure of the Saviour which has been supposed to be a reproduction of the image of the Saviour of Chalce (part of the Imperial palace) which stood above the gate. They are very rare owing to the shortness of her reign.

CONSTANTINE X, DUCAS.

1059-1067. Constantine, the Cappadocian noble, succeeded Isaac; his policy was anti-military and his chief efforts were directed to replenishing the treasury at all hazards. Part of the army was disbanded; pay was lowered, and the upkeep of stores neglected; yet at no time was an Imperial army so needed. The Seljuks laid Asia Minor waste, the Uzes broke into Bulgaria and in 1064 Belgrade had fallen into the hands of the Magyars.

ROMANUS IV, DIOGENES.

1067-1071. For a few months after the death of Constantine, Eudocia, his widow, carried on the Government with her two sons, Michael VII and Constantine. In December she married Romanus, a Cappadocian noble famed for his valour. He was as impetuous as brave and rashly rushed an undisciplined army into the field; he suffered a crushing defeat in Armenia.

ENGLISH COMMEMORATIVE MEDALS.

(Miscellaneous List. Recent Purchases.)

SILVER.

- 96710 Defence of the Kingdom. 1582. QUID NOS SINE TE. Crowned bust of Queen Elizabeth to left between portcullis and rose. R. QUID HOC SINE ARMIS. Castle on mount, &c. Med. III., I, $\frac{120}{57}$. Size .9. Pierced. R. V. F. 1 5 " 96711 Defeat of the Spanish Armada. 1588. VENIT IVIT FVIT. (It came, it went, it was.) 1588. CLASSIS HISP. (The Spanish fleet.) Naval battle. R. SOLI DEO GLORIA. Shield of Zealand, crowned. Med. III., I, $\frac{140}{125}$. Size 1.25. S. V. F. 1 5 "
 96712 Birth of Prince Charles. 1630. HACTENVUS ANGLORVM NVLLI. Four oval shields with rays. R. Oval tablet inscribed IN HONOR' CARO' PRINC. &c. Med. III., I, $\frac{250}{25}$. Size 1.15. V. F. " 5 "
 96713 Giles Strangways. 1648. John Roettier. ÆGIDIVS STRANGWAYS DE MELBURY &c. Bust to right. R. DECVSQUE ADVERSA DEDERVNT. The White Tower with the Royal standard flying; sun bursting from clouds. Ex.: INCARCERATVS SEPT. 1645. LIBERATVS APR. 1648. Med. III., I, $\frac{320}{277}$. Size 2.4. S. E. F. 4 " "
 * This medal was executed after the Restoration as one of an intended series (ordered by Charles II) of distinguished sufferers in the Royal cause. Strangways commanded a regiment of horse in the King's service, and was afterwards heavily fined and imprisoned in the Tower.
 96714 Death of Charles I. 1649. T. Rawlins. SVCCESOR VERVS VTRIVSQUE. Bust of Charles I to left. R. CONSTANTIA CÆSARIS IAN. 30. 1648. Salamander in flames. Med. III., I, $\frac{344}{188}$. Size 1.65. In beautiful preservation. R. F. D. C. 8 10 "
 * This medal commemorates the fortitude and constancy of the King. The Salamander was frequently adopted as an emblem of fortitude and patience under sufferings. Pliny says of the Salamander "He is of so cold a complexion, that if he do but touch the fire he will quench it as presently as if ice were put unto it". Med. III.
 96715 Oxford Memorial of Charles I. 1648. Altar, between 16 48, inscribed P.M. Acad. Oxon. (The University of Oxford to the pious memory [of Charles]). R. Inscription deo Ecclesie Principi victima. (A sacrifice for God, the Church, and the Prince.) Ring for suspension. R. E. F. 3 10 "
 — Another, without ring. E. F. 3 " "
 96716 Royalist Badge. Charles I and Henrietta Maria. T. Rawlins. CAROLVS.D.G.&c. Crowned bust of the King to right. R. HENRIETTA.MARIA &c. Bust of Queen Henrietta Maria to left. Med. III., I, $\frac{355}{210}$. Plate xxxi, 6. Size 1.85 by 1.5. Wreath border, loop and ring. Gilt. Splendid preservation. R. E. F. 17 10 "
 96717 — Another, reverse the Queen as on preceding, but obverse shows the bust of King Charles uncrowned. Med. III., I, $\frac{355}{210}$. Plate xxxi, 5. Gilt. Loop and ring. Splendid preservation. R. E. F. 10 10 "
 96718 — Another, obverse as last, uncrowned bust of King Charles. R. Incuse-shield of arms, within Garter, crowned. Med. III., I, $\frac{360}{237}$. Plate xxxii, 8. Gilt. Loop and ring. A cheap badge. R. F. 4 10 "
 96719 — Obverse similar to no. 96717. R. Crown surmounting Royal arms and Garter. Med. III., I, $\frac{360}{232}$. Plate xxxii, 10. Gilt. Loop for suspension. Choice preservation. R. E. F. 12 10 "
 96720 — Another, smaller size, no legends, uncrowned bust of King Charles on obverse, crowned shield of arms within Garter on reverse, which is incuse. Med. III., I, $\frac{364}{238}$. Plate xxxii, 13. Loop for suspension. E. F. 3 " "
 96721 — Not quite so fine. V. F. 2 2 "

- 96723 — — — — — Gilt. E. F. 3 " "
 96724 — — — — — Similar obverse. R. The Queen. Plate xxxi, 16. R. V. F. 4 " "
 96725 Catherine of Braganza. Marriage Badge. 1662. Incuse legend, INFANTA DONA CATHERINA. Bust of Catherine to left, coronet, mass of ringlets. R. Incuse, two orange trees with intertwined stems. Med. III., I, $\frac{480}{100}$. Size 1 by .85. Loop and ring. R. V. F. 3 10 "
 96726 Charles II. Dominion of the Sea. 1665. T. Simon. CAROLVS.II &c. Laureate bust of Charles II to right. R. ET PONTVS SERVIVT. 1665. Charles II, holding trident, seated in a naval car drawn by four sea horses; fleet in distance. Med. III., I, $\frac{500}{145}$. Size 1.1. R. F. D. C. 4 " "
 * This small but very beautiful medal is said to be the last of Simon's works.
 96727 Peace of Breda. 1667. MITIS ET FORTIS. Holland tramples upon Discord; a lamb and a lion at her feet; in background, English ships burning in the Medway. Ex.: PROCUL.HINC.MALA.BESTIA &c. R. Peace with sheathed sword, cornucopie and caduceus, tramples upon arms; merchant ships in background. Inscribed edge. Med. III., I, $\frac{520}{170}$. Size 2.8. RR. E. F. 6 10 "
 * The allusion to the attack on Chatham, the burning of English ships, and the words MALA BESTIA (which were applied by the evil-disposed to Charles II) gave great offence in England. Official remonstrances were made, a formal apology offered, the insult disclaimed, and the dies of this medal destroyed. The wound, however, rankled, and the medal was one of the stated grounds of offence in the declaration of war in 1672.
 96728 Charles XI of Sweden. Knight of the Garter. 1671. CAROLVS XI &c. St. George and the dragon. 29.MAIL. 1671. R. CONCORDIA REGVM SALVS POPVLORVM. Collar of the Order enclosing Garter passing through two crowns and interlinked. Med. III., I, $\frac{540}{200}$. Size 1.7. V. F. 1 5 "
 96729 Charles II. John Roettier. CAROL.II.&c. Bust of the King in profile to right. R. Royal arms with crest and supporters. Ex.: DIEV ET MON DROIT. Med. III., I, $\frac{550}{277}$. Size 2.1. R. V. F. 3 " "
 * These beautifully executed medals were without date, and were probably intended for distribution as presents by the King.

AN OPPORTUNITY.

A BEAUTIFUL AND UNIQUE COLLECTION
OF
RARE ENGLISH AND IRISH PATTERNS & PROOFS.
Mostly from noted collections and chiefly in perfect preservation.

GEORGE III.

Pattern and Proofs for the Gold Coinage struck in Tin, Pewter and Lead.

- 96908 Five Pounds (1820). A beautiful proof in lead of the reverse side of Pistrucci's celebrated Five-pound piece (struck it is said when George III was at the point of death) before the great artist had added his name to his brilliant conception — St George trampling upon the Dragon, the latter being incomplete, one of the beast's forelegs requiring still to be added. A most remarkable trial impression of a very rare and beautiful coin in perfect preservation. (Two examples were struck by Pistrucci but this one from his own collection is the only one known to exist.) RRR. F.D.C. 5

- 96909 Two Pounds (undated). A fine proof of Pistrucci's head of George III for his beautiful pattern double-sovereign; no legend or date, but the head is evidently from the finished die; the field of the coin subdivided into small squares. Struck upon a small flan in lead. Believed to be unique, from the same collection. RRR. F.D.C. 3

- 96910 Two Pounds (1820). A proof in lead from the finished reverse die, showing the artist's initials B.P. in the exergue, the mint master's initials W.W.P. (William Wellesley Pole) beneath the broken shaft of the spear upon the ground, the central spot of the diameter of the coin alone remaining to be removed by the artist. Struck on a large flan so that the outline of the piece is exactly presented. Unique, also struck by Pistrucci himself and from his own collection. RR. F.D.C. 4

- 96911 Pattern Guinea, 1798, by Küchler, in tin. Similar to no. 93087. A very rare example, probably unique in tin; from the Leicester and Montagu cabinets. RRR. F.D.C. 1 10

GEORGE III.

Patterns and Proofs for the Silver Coinage struck in Tin, Lead or Pewter and including some remarkable unique Trial pieces by the celebrated artist Pistrucci from his own private collection.

- 96912 Crown, 1817, by W. Wyon. Proof in lead of the beautiful "Three Graces" Crown by this talented artist, but the interest of this coin lies in the fact that it differs materially from Wyon's Mint pattern. This has larger lettering on the obverse, omits F : D : at end of legend, has a toothed instead of beaded border and the artist's name is in script capitals. The reverse also shows the head of a lion above the thistle, the harp is smaller with 4 strings only, the lettering is smaller, FOEDUS is given as FODUS and the artist's name is not against the harp but placed in script characters in the exergue instead of the usual fasces. A most remarkable and interesting Trial piece, perhaps unique. V.F. 2 10

- 96913 Crown (Obv. only) undated (1818), by Pistrucci. Trial in lead of Pistrucci's famous "large-head" pattern crown, the legend and artist's name not yet having been added to complete the obverse side. A very remarkable and interesting piece from Pistrucci's own collection. Doubtless unique. E.F. 2 2

- 96914 Crown (Obv. only) 1818, by Pistrucci. A beautiful proof, complete with legend and Pistrucci's signature, of the obverse of this famous artist's magnificent conception for a crown piece with the large head of the King; Struck in lead or pewter. Perfect preservation, also of highest rarity and from the same collection. Only two known. RRR. F.D.C. 5

- 96915 Crown (Obv. only) undated (1818), by Pistrucci. A fine proof or trial in lead of his crown-piece with the smaller head of King George III, before the legend, signature or date were added; the wreath is unfinished in that the vertical planes to the leaves are absent. A most interesting trial-piece of the artist's work. Unique. F.D.C. 2

- 96916 Crown (Obv. only), 1818. Proof in lead of the obverse in completed form, the leaves of the wreath finished, the legend, date and artist's signature (in full) duly added. A magnificent proof of obv. of the small-head crown which was eventually chosen for circulation. Perfect. RRR. F.D.C. 4 4

- 96917 Crown (Obv. only), 1818. Exactly as the preceding crowns, but struck from the punchon, incuse, and therefore the design and legend etc. reversed, the King's head thus being to the left. Unique and in finest preservation. F.D.C. 2 10

- 96918 Another, similar, except that this is struck upon a smaller flan so that the whole diameter of the coin is not fully shewn. Also unique. Both this and the last piece from Pistrucci's own collection. E.F. 2 2

- 96919 Crown (rev. only) probably 1818, by Pistrucci. St George and the Dragon within the Garter, it has no toothed border and the Garter "is different from that in the others", the differences noticeable being the absence of stops in the legend (the stops however are put in on the silver example), the exergue (ground) is shortened at each end, the artist's signature is omitted, the buckle of the Garter is unfinished and so are the horizontal lines at the word QUI, these two last characteristics being specially prominent upon this pattern in lead. Remarkable and unique. Perfect preservation. Ex Pistrucci's own collection. F.D.C. 2 10

- 96920 Crown (rev. only), by Pistrucci. Proof in lead of the reverse of the current coin, signed. From the Pistrucci collection but somewhat damaged. Unique. F. 15

- 96921 Halfcrown (undated), by Pistrucci. Proof in lead of his well-known "small-head". Halfcrown of 1817. Struck upon a flan rather larger than usual size, incuse, and without legend or date. The head, being incuse, is of course turned to left. A unique and valuable relic of the great artist's work from his own collection. F. » 17 6

GEORGE III.

Patterns and Proofs of the silver coinage struck in copper.

- 96922 Crown, 1817, by Pistrucci. Obv. and rev. blank: edge inscribed in relief between two lines obliquely grained, DECUS ET TUTAMEN ANNO REGNI LVIII, a rose following. Believed to be a unique Trial-piece of the edge of Pistrucci's pattern crown of 1817 (See S. and S. catalogue of H.M. Coll. 1900, No 594). Extremely curious, unique. F. D. C. 1 » »
- 96923 Crown, 1820, by Küchler (?) Obv. VIS VNITATE FORTIOR. Hercules seated before a column by the sea-shore vainly endeavouring to break a bundle of sticks across his left knee; in exergue, the date and a wreath; R. DECUS ET TUTAMEN. Crowned shield. Edge plain. Rare in this metal. From Sir George Chetwynd's collection; an unusually choice example and finely toned. RR. F. D. C. 4 » »
- 96924 Halfcrown, undated (Obv. only). Exactly as the Halfcrown struck in lead, described under No. 96921, but the flan is slightly smaller. This portrait, however, is unfinished, and is of great interest as depicting an earlier stage of the artist's work. Unique, from Pistrucci's own collection. Perfect preservation. F. D. C. 3 10 »

GEORGE III.

Patterns and Proofs for the Copper Coinage struck in Copper-gilt, Copper, etc., and including many beautiful pieces by Droz, Küchler, etc., struck at Boulton's celebrated Soho mint, Birmingham.

N.B. Unless otherwise stated the following are in copper.

- 96925 Twopence, 1797, by Küchler (Bronzed). Obv. GEORGIUS III. D. G. REX. in incuse lettering upon a broad raised rim. Laureated and draped bust to right. K. upon the truncation; R. BRITANNIA 1797 also incuse upon a broad raised band. Britannia seated to left upon a rock, holding olive-branch and trident, her shield by her side, SOHO, beneath, a ship in the offing (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$). A perfect coin. F. D. C. » 17 6
- 96926 Another, similar but unbronzed. Struck upon a thinner flan. A charming proof, finely toned. R. F. D. C. 1 5 »

PENNIES.

- 96927 1788 by Lewis Pingo. Obv. GEORGIUS III REX. Small laureated bust of the King in armour and mantle to right. R. BRITANNIA the legend broken by tall standing figure of Britannia, facing, holding spear and olive-branch, the Globe at her left side, her shield on her right, the date in exergue; edge, plain (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$, rarity 6). This fine coin has been decried by Barré Roberts (See Mont., p. 105) but although Pingo's portrait of the King is perhaps wanting in dignity, yet it is impossible to gainsay the beauty and audacity of the reverse, so rarely is it possible to present a good facing figure. This however Pingo succeeded in doing most happily. A perfectly preserved coin. RR. F. D. C. 4 » »
- 96928 Another, similar type, but the obverse legend has stops between the words, the bust is slightly varied, whilst on reverse the figures of the date are placed closer together. Smaller flan. Edge, obliquely grained. An extremely rare variety. From the Montagu collection, dispersed in 1888. Superb condition. RRR. F. D. C. 7 10 »
- 96929 1797 (Gilt-copper), by Küchler. Type, bust &c. exactly as the Twopence (No. 96925 &c.) but the stop after SOHO on reverse is omitted (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$). A most brilliant example and rare when gilt. R. F. D. C. 1 » »
- 96930 1797. Similar type but unbronzed. A very beautifully toned proof. S. F. D. C. » 15 »
- 96931 1797 (Gilt Copper), by Küchler. Obv. legend as upon coin No. 96929 &c. very large bust, laureated, to right, neck bare, the hair long, falling below the truncation upon which last are K and three dots. R. as reverse of No. 96929 but instead of SOHO is the initial K beneath the rock (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$, rarity 4). A superb, brilliant example of Küchler's beautiful pattern penny, perhaps the finest work he ever executed. R. F. D. C. 1 7 6
- 96932 1797. As last but the legend on both sides in smaller letters and on reverse there is neither SOHO nor K. (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$ var. rarity 7). A magnificent piece, unbronzed, finely toned, unpublished variety of Mont., 20. From the Murdoch collection. RR. F. D. C. 2 2 »
- 96933 1797. Obv. Small, draped bust, as coin No. 96930, but lettering is smaller and beneath the bust on the band are two olive-branches between two roses tied in the centre with a riband, upon which latter are Matthew Boulton's initials M.B. R. Helmeted figure of Britannia seated to left, holding trident, large shield and olive-branch, date in exergue; beneath, on the band, are laurel branches tied with riband, upon which is the word SOHO. (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$ rarity 5.) A beautiful specimen. R. F. D. C. 1 7 6
- 96934 1797. Another. Nearly as fine. R. E. F. 1 2 6
- 96935 1797. Obv. large bust, small lettering. R. As reverse of the preceding pattern (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$, rarity, 7). RR. This is one of the rarest of Küchler's beautiful patterns. Bronzed. Perfect preservation. RR. F. D. C. 1 7 6

- 96936 1797. Probably by Thos. Webb. Obv. "BRITISH COMMERCIAL PENNY", large, laureated bust of the King, to right, neck bare, the hair long and curling heavily beneath the truncation. R. BRITANNIA, Britannia seated upon a gun-carriage, the gun partially visible, the date in exergue (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$, rarity 4). A fine pattern in perfect condition. R. F. D. C. 1 10 »
- 96937 1799. Probably by Thos. Webb. Obv. GEORGIUS III. D. G. REX bust exactly as that upon the last pattern, date divided by the lower portion of the bust. R. VIGEBIT IN OMNE AEVUM in four lines across the field (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$). A fine example from the Murdoch collection. RR. F. D. C. 2 5 »
- 96938 Another, similar, from the Montagu collection. Equally fine. RR. F. D. C. 2 5 »
- 96939 1805. By Küchler. Obv. GEORGIUS III. D. G. REX. Small bust, laureated and mantled, to right, K upon truncation. R. BRITANNIARUM 1805. Britannia seated, with the usual adjuncts, to left; there is space left beneath the waves for the date; to the right of the shield, SOHO; to the left, K (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$, rarity, 6). A fine and rare original, unbronzed. RR. F. D. C. 1 5 »
- 96940 Another, similar, but unbronzed. Equally fine and rare. RR. F. D. C. 1 10 »
- 96941 1806 by Küchler. Obv. legend as on the preceding, the date beneath the small bust, the truncation of which is striated and marked with K. R. BRITANNIA. Britannia seated, with usual symbols; exergue, plain; edge, obliquely grained along the centre (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$). A brilliantly toned proof. S. F. D. C. » 7 6
- 96942 1806. A similar proof, but bronzed. Perfect preservation. S. F. D. C. » 5 »
- 96943 1806. Similar, but unbronzed. A charming proof in bright copper. S. F. D. C. » 7 6
- 96944 Another, not so brilliant. S. F. D. C. » 5 »
- 96945 1807. Similar type &c. Bronzed. F. D. C. » 4 6
- 96946 Another, similar, unbronzed. A fine proof. R. F. D. C. » 10 »

HALFPENNIES.

- 96947 1788 by Lewis Pingo, type and legends exactly as the penny No. 96927 (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$, rarity, 6). A beautiful pattern in absolutely perfect state. RR. F. D. C. 3 3 »
- 96948 Another, similar, from the Webb, Brice and Montagu cabinets. RR. F. D. C. 3 10 »
- 96949 1788 by Droz (gilt-copper). Obv. GEORGIUS III. D. G. REX laureated bust of the King to right, the hair long, falling below the truncation, upon which are the letters D.F. (=Droz, fecit) the neck bare. R. BRITANNIA. 1788, diamond stops in both legends; Britannia seated, holding spear and shield; beneath the latter, D. In exergue a palm-branch and a rudder; edge, RENDER | TO CESAR (sic) | THE THIN | GS WHICH | ARE CE | SARE: two slipped trefoils and a small ornament after the last word (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$). A brilliant pattern and an interesting example of this talented artist's work. S. F. D. C. » 7 6
- 96950 Another, similar, but silver-plated. S. F. D. C. » 7 6
- 96951 1790 (Gilt Copper) by Droz. No hair upon shoulder, but brought below and under the truncation, upon which DROZ. F. incuse. R. Britannia, holding spear behind her, instead of in front, and pointing with her right hand. A laurel-branch behind the shield. DR. A. and date in the exergue; edge, RENDER &c. (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$). S. F. D. C. » 7 6
- 96952 1790. Similar type and edge, but bronzed. F. D. C. » 5 »
- 96953 1790 (Gilt-Copper). Similar, but with guilloché edge (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$). A beautiful impression. F. D. C. » 15 »
- 96954 Another, similar, but bronzed. Perfect. S. F. D. C. » 10 »
- 96955 1795, by Droz. Obv. GEORGIUS III. D. G. REX incuse, on broad band; large, laureated bust to right, ... SOHO ... on band beneath. R. Britannia as on the last-named reverse, but laurel behind the shield instead of the rudder, also the spear, the broad rim cut away to form the exergue, in which is placed the date; edge, plain (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$, rarity, 4). Lightly bronzed. R. F. D. C. » 12 6
- 96956 1796. Pattern, by Droz (?). Obv. GEORGIUS III DEI GRATIA, laureated bust to left, mantled, hair long. R. BRITANNIA. Britannia seated to left on Globe - holding staff (?) and olive branch, the date in exergue; edge, plain (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$). Of excessive rarity and of unusual interest with the bust turned to left. RRR. F. D. C. 5 » »
- 96957 1797 (Gilt Copper), by Küchler. Type and legends as the current penny of this date. Edge, plain (Mont., $\frac{10}{16}$, rarity 4). In most perfect brilliant state. R. F. D. C. 1 2 6
- 96958 1797 (Gilt Copper), by Küchler. Similar type, etc. but with edge grained. A charming example. R. F. D. C. 1 » »

MAUNDY MONEY.

- 97002 The Murdoch Collection of Maundy Money consisting of 644 pieces from Charles II to George V (1911); being complete with all known dates except 1765; it includes the very rare 1689 penny and also Simon's and Roettier's hammered coins. The coins are, with very few exceptions, in F.D.C. condition and have for the most part a very beautiful tone. Without fear of contradiction, this is the finest collection of Maundy Money that has ever been formed. It was collected by the late Mr. John G. Murdoch, whose collection of English coins was second to none. F.D.C. 60 » »
- 97003 Oak Cabinet (10 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 10 1/2); 14 trays with 64 holes in each; double doors, with lock and key; brass handles at sides. Made for a Maundy collection, for which it is admirably suited; it contains at the moment the above collection. E.F. 6 6 »

NINETY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

Dr. Horatio R. Storer, the grand old man of the medical profession of Newport, beloved of all who know him, celebrated his ninety-first birthday on Sunday, an occasion that was remembered by many of his associates in organizations here and elsewhere. A feature of the day was the presentation to the venerable doctor of a handsome silver loving cup, as a testimonial of esteem from citizens and societies of Newport. The presentation was made by Dr. Norman M. MacLeod, Dr. Edward V. Murphy and Chaplain E.S. Burke of the Naval Training Station, and the list of donors included several societies of the Roman Catholic church, the physicians of Newport, the Redwood Library, the Newport Historical Society, the Civic League and other citizens.

During the afternoon Abbé Dimnet, who had been spending a few days in the city, called upon Dr. Storer, and he also received a delegation of Girl Scouts headed by Mrs. William S. Sims. Dr. Malcolm Storer and Mr. John H. Storer of Boston, Dr. Storer's sons, spent the week-end with their father.

Dr. Storer has long been an active worker for everything that is best in Newport. Years ago he devoted his efforts to the medical profession and to sanitary improvement, being a powerful leader in his chosen profession. Every movement for the betterment of local conditions has met with his unqualified support, even when his health has not permitted an active personal participation.

Dr. Storer is the Life President of the Newport Medical Society, Honorary President of the Edinburgh University Club of America, a member of the Harvard Club of Rhode Island, and of other organizations. His scientific, literary and philanthropic attainments have brought him a reputation that extends far beyond the borders of Rhode Island.

Newport Mercury, 5 March 1921.

ANCIENT COINS DISCOVERED IN COUNTY MEATH.

While engaged in digging a drain on his master's farm at Abbeylands, near Navan, a young labourer in the employment of Mr. Patrick Finnegan unearthed on Saturday a small earthenware jar full of silver coins of various sizes, from a sixpenny piece to a crown, and of various dates from 1560 to 1601. The majority of the coins belong to the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and bear that monarch's profile, with Crown, Royal Arms, and superscription. Others are coins issued in the reign of contemporary Sovereigns—Carolus IX., James VI., and a few bear an equestrian figure and are inscribed Carolus, Jacobus, etc.

AN HONOUR FOR MR. L. FORRER.

The Swiss Numismatic Society, at its general Assembly in Lucerne, on June 25 last, has unanimously elected our collaborator, Mr. Leonard Forrer, an honorary Member of the Society.

The President, Dr Eug. Demôle, in his letter notifying the nomination writes: "Je suis heureux de cette circonstance qui nous rapprochera d'un savant qui a déjà beaucoup fait pour la science et pour les membres de notre société".

INFORMATION WANTED

In 1910 some one — probably the late J. R. Mc Clean — showed at the Department of Coins and Medals, British Museum, a pair of dies for an Athenian tetradrachm. Mr. Wroth was under the impression that they were the property of the Fitzwilliam Museum, and made a note to that effect on the card which he placed under the plaster casts which he had made at the time. These dies, have never been, however, in the Fitzwilliam Museum.

Should any of our readers ever have seen them, or know what has become of them, would he kindly communicate with Mr. G. F. Hill, Keeper of Coins, British Museum, who is very anxious to trace them.

GREEK COINS.

AMPHIPOLIS.

In Acts XVII, 1, we read "now when they had passed through Amphipolis and Appolonia they came to Thessalonica". The route of the travellers, Paul, Silas and Timothy, was along the Via Egnatia, their first day's journey would be a walk of thirty three miles, and they no doubt would rest that night at Amphipolis. As there were very few Jews in that city Paul did not stay longer than was necessary for rest and pressed on to Thessalonica. Amphipolis was built on the bank of the Strymon, about three miles from the sea. A few miles north of the city the river runs out of the lake Cereinitis, now called Takenos, which stretches on for twenty miles towards the N.W. with overhanging mountains on the north shores. The only pass from N. to S. was on the east side of the river and lake thus making the city a centre to which nine roads converged.

The earliest name of the city was 'Εννιά ὁδοί or the nine ways. A fragment of the old causeway or paved way east of the city still remains.

The name Amphipolis was given to the city about 437 B.C. by the Athenians who held it until 424 B.C., as suitable and descriptive of its site, surrounded by the river on three sides, so that a fortified wall was necessary for defence on the north side only. Amphipolis means 'Round about town' (Thucydides, IV, 102).

Brasidas the Spartan took it in 424 B.C. and it was a free city until 358 B.C., when it was taken by Philip. The earliest silver coins were issued about 425 B.C. with a head of Apollo on the Obv. and a race torch on the Rev. As works of art they excel those of any other city of Northern Greece. From 358-168 B. C. the kings of Macedon ruled the city, and made their chief mint there. From 165 to 168 the coins bore MAKEΔONΩN. Perseus was the last king to issue silver coinage there. From 158 to 149 B. C. the coins bore the legend MAKEΔONΩN ΠΡΩΤΗΣ. After 148 B. C. the Roman Quæstors issued coins without the legend ΑΜΦΙΠΟΛΙΤΩΝ because they were issued for the whole province. Amphipolis was made the chief city of Macedonia Prima, but after the battle of Philippi Amphipolis lost its preeminence, and in St. Paul's time Philippi was the metropolis.

If St. Paul had ever read Herodotus he would have been reminded at Amphipolis of the burial alive of nine youths and nine maidens there (VII, 144); and, if he had ever read Thucydides, he would have noticed the sepulchral mound of Brasidas. One wonders whether he knew the fact that Paulus Æmilius — one of the family from whom his name may have been derived — had here proclaimed, in the name of Rome, that Macedonia should be free (Livy, XLV, 30). Diodorus reports in lib. XVIII, 4, that Alexander had ordered six magnificent temples to be erected, one of which was to be in Amphipolis; each was to cost 1500 talents. Livy (lib., XLIV, 44) describes the matrons of the city flocking in to this temple to pray in 168 B. C.

Antipater of Thessalonica in an epigram in the Anthology P. (VII, 705) mentions the ruins of this temple in the 1st century A. D. Artemis Ταυροπόλος was a kindred divinity, if not the same as the Taurian Artemis. Her worship was connected with bloody sacrifices, and she is said to have produced madness in the minds of men. The Chorus in the Ajax of Sophocles describes the madness of Ajax to this divinity (172 Ἦ ῥα σε ταυροπόλιν Διὸς Ἀρτεμις).

In the legends of the Taurian Artemis separate local traditions are mixed up with the legends of some Asiatic divinity whose symbol in the heavens was the moon and on earth the cow. Human sacrifices were part of the cult of this goddess of Tauris. An example is the well known story of Iphigeneia told by Euripides. As Iphigeneia and Orestes landed at Brauron in Attica the goddess was called Brauronia.

The debased copper coins issued between 168 B. C., and the time of Augustus afford few indications of date. Some types are identical with copper coins with the legend MAKEΔONΩN though clearly of later date. Confer the head of Poseidon with Rev. a club, or the head of Perseus or Roma with Rev. an oak wreath with the coins of G. Publilius and L. Fulcinus, or the river god Strymon with Rev. Trident, and the head of Dionysos with Rev. goat. The heads of Apollo with formal curls are closely imitated from the Obv. types of Roman denarii struck in B. C. 88 by L. Piso Frugi.

The coin with the head of Janus is an As identical on the Obv. with the As of the same period.

The deities whose heads are found on the coins of Amphipolis are Apollo B. C. 424-358; after 168 Heracles, Roma, Poseidon, Strymon the river god, Dionysos, Apollo, Artemis, Artemis Tauropolos, Janus, Zeus, Pallas. On Coins of the Empire the heads of the emperors Augustus, with Artemis riding on a bull with veil inflated by the wind on the Rev. The same Rev. type is seen on coins of Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, Nero, Trajan and Geta. On coins of Domitian the Rev. type is Artemis Tauropolis standing to left wearing modius, and holding long torch in her right hand, and a branch in her left; beside her a shield. This Rev. type is also seen on coins of Hadrian. Bronze coins were struck by the following later Emperors, Macrinus, Elagabalus, Julia Mæsa, Severus Alexander, Julia Mamaea, Valerius Senior and Gallienus. The later Rev. types are generally figures of the city turreted, seated and holding a patera.

(several types); — Leopold IV, Prince of Lippe, 1914-16; — general von Below; AR 33 mill.; — The World War; 36 mill.; — The Russian army beyond the Strypa; 33 mill.

LAUER, WOLFGANG (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 325). Among the medals signed by W. Lauer are: Visit of William II and the German Empress to London, 1891 (2 var.); — Kaiser Parade at Nuremberg, 1897; — Medal of the Eisenach "Schützengilde", 1906; — Silver Wedding of the German Emperor and Empress, 1906.

LAUFFENBOECK, JOSEF WENTZEL (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 325). Born in 1755, pensioned off in 1829, was chief-engraver at the Mint of Prague. He was the son of a Court goldsmith. Besides coins he also executed a number of medals among which I may mention: Visit of the Emperor and Empress at Prague, 1820; — Töplitz in Hungary; — Princes Schwarzenberg and Metternich; — Christening Badge and Medal; — Faithfulness; — St. Anne; — Confirmation Medal; — Johann von Nepomuk; — Shooting Medals; — School Prize medals; — Birthday medals, etc.

LAULNE, CHRISTOPHE DE (French). Mint-master at Tours, 1539: mark ✠, 1542-45: hatchet; 1545-50: bellows; 1550-52: a cup before Imperat; also at Paris, 1540-41: ermine.

LAULNE, PIERRE DE (French). Mint-master at Paris, August to October 1541: two dots under ermine.

LAUNE, ÉTIENNE DE (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 335). G. Habich, Die deutschen Medailleurs des XVI. Jahrhunderts, 1916, gives the following German medals to this Medallist: 1574. Gabriel Schlüsselberger; facing bust; signed: STEPHANUS. F.; — The same; bust to r.; — (1574). Barbara G. Schlüsselberger; bust to l.; — 1574. Hans Hucter; — Ursula Hucter, née Stromer. The two last however may only be a trial of Maler to imitate the Frenchman's high relief.

Etienne de Laune may possibly be the author of the medals made in 1563 in Augsburg by a French artist, of Duke Albrecht r. of Bavaria (Mitt. d. Bayer. Num. Ges. 1913; XXXI, Pl. ix, 2) and Samuel Quichelberg, counsellor to the Duke (op. cit., Pl. ix, 3).

They bear much resemblance to De Laune's struck medals of Henry II of France. Cf. G. Habich, p. 210 sq.

LAURENS (Ital.). Engraver in Rome. Died 1585.

LAURENT, CHARLES (French). Mint-master at Montélimar, 1506: letter K.

LAUREYS, BALTHAZAR (Flem.). Mint-engraver at Brussels, circa 1630-1638.

LAUTH-BOSSERT, M^{me} ALINE (French). Contemporary Sculptor and Medallist, born at Barr (Alsace); pupil of Icard and Dampé. At the Paris Salon (Soc. des Art. français) 1914, she exhibited a Plaque of Sainte Odile, patroness of Alsace.

LAVATER, HANS FRIEDRICH (B.D.M., Vol. III, p. 345). Draughtsman, of Zurich, domiciled at Samaden; was born in 1873. Cf. Schweiz. Kstlr-Lex. Suppl., p. 277.

LAVRILLIER, ANDRÉ (French). Contemporary Sculptor, born at Paris; pupil of his father, Charles Lavrillier, and J. C. Chaplain. At the Paris Salon, 1908, he exhibited two Portrait-medallions; in 1912. Orpheus, medal; — Paris; plaque; — Study; — Portrait-plaque of M. Gensbaitel; — M^{me} M. C, and others.

LAVRILLIER, GASTON (French). Contemporary Sculptor, born in Paris; pupil of Vernon and Patey. At the Paris Salon 1913 he exhibited a Portrait-medal of M^{lle} Renée Dutétel, pianist, and a Plaque, Le Repos. By him is also a Badge commemorating the Journée de Paris, 14 July 1917, Washington-Lafayette.

LAVYS, THE (Ital.). A distinguished family of Artists, some members of which were connected for a long period of time with the Royal Mint at Turin in the capacity of Die-engravers.

Consult G. Assandria, Una Famiglia torinese d'Artisti I Lavys (Società Piemontese di Archeologia e Belle Arti), Torino, 1916; 8vo; pp. 68 + XII Plates and a genealogical Table. In this exhaustive monograph a complete list of the medallic works of the Lavys will be found.

For the sake of brevity I shall content myself with giving only the names of the most prominent members of the family, which the death in 1913 of Corinna, last surviving daughter of Amedeo by Domenico Sotero, is now extinct.

THE BRONZE COINAGE OF THE LATE ROMAN EMPIRE BY HUGH GOODACRE F.R.N.S.

JULIAN the APOSTATE.

Caesar 355 : Augustus 360 : Died 363.

It is a difficult task which confronts the historian who would condense the life and character of Julian II into a short biographical notice. As in the case of Constantine the Great, there are two personalities to contend with, though differing in that with Constantine the personalities were successive in point of time, while with Julian they were concurrent. The Constantine of the East, as we have seen, differed from the Constantine of the West as night differs from day, but with Julian the contrast was not the result of any malevolent influence, but the outcome of an honest, if ill-balanced, nature, which rendered him at one and the same time a heroic idealist and a religious fanatic.

Born at Constantinople on the 6th of November 331 Julian, commonly known as the Apostate, was six years old when he escaped the massacre of the descendants of Constantius Chlorus. He was brought up with his brother Gallus in exile in Ionia and Bithynia, and later in the castle of Marcellum near Caesarea. In 351 Constantius deemed it expedient to create Gallus Caesar, and it is about the only good act which has been recorded of this prince that on his elevation he did not forget his brother, but obtained for him comparative liberty. The misfortune of his birth, however, involved Julian in the disgrace of Gallus, and on the latter's execution he was removed under a strong guard to Milan, where he languished for seven months in terror of his life. He was fortunate, however, in securing the friendship of the Empress Eusebia, who procured him an interview with the Emperor, which resulted in his being allowed to retire into private life at Athens. Here he spent a short, but delightful, period in intercourse with the most celebrated philosophers of the day. But the Empress did not let the matter rest here, for, by her tact and perseverance, she persuaded the Emperor to recall her protégé, with a view to investing him with the rank of Caesar. Reluctantly Julian obeyed the summons, declaring to his friends at Athens that the conviction that Minerva had constituted herself his protectress was his sole solace. On his arrival at the Court at Milan the ceremony of shaving his beard and his awkward manner seems to have occasioned great amusement. On the 6th of November 355, the day Julian entered his twenty fifth year, Constantius ascended a lofty tribunal and, holding his cousin by the hand, presented him in a speech to the army as the new Caesar, and the troops signified their approval by clashing their shields on their knees. The Emperor and Caesar then returned to the palace in the same chariot, and the understanding between them was further cemented by the union of Julian with the Emperor's sister Helena.

The whole of Gaul was seething with revolt at the time and the first task assigned to Julian was to take over the government of this province. The scholastic education of the new Caesar, although it had not given him the technical training necessary for a soldier, had nevertheless endowed him with the character which enabled him to rise to his position and ultimately to become one of the greatest of the Roman Emperors. "O Plato, Plato" we hear him sighing as he applied himself to some uncongenial military exercise "what a task for a philosopher!" — but we doubt not but that he accomplished it.

The winter of 356 was passed at Vienne in Dauphiné, and his first move as spring approached was at the head of a small body of archers and heavy cavalry to Rheims. But he had to gain his experience in the school of adversity and the Alemanni fell upon his rearguard on a dark and rainy day and put it to flight. Julian, however, at once proved his worth, recovered his position, and in the face of enormous difficulties continued his campaign until in August 357 he obtained a brilliant victory at Strasburg, where he greatly distinguished himself by his personal valour. After this he proceeded against the Franks and eventually brought his campaign to a successful end. Julian then set himself to repair a number of the Gaulish towns which had been partially destroyed, amongst them the present Bingen, Andernach and Bonn. But of all the cities over which he held sway there was none which claimed his affection more than Paris, or Lutetia as it was then called. He made it his capital until he became master of Constantinople and was accustomed to spend his winters in it.

The praises of Julian were sung in every part of the Empire, except the palace of Constantius. Here the Emperor and his court took alarm, and in order to overthrow the growing power of the Caesar, Constantius despatched an order to him to send the very pick of his army home for employment against Persia. The result was that the armies in Gaul rose in revolt and against his will proclaimed Julian emperor. The soldiers raised him upon a shield in their midst and a hasty search for something to answer the purpose of a diadem was made. A lady's necklace was first produced, but rejected by Julian's superstitious nature as an inauspicious object. Eventually a handsome military collar was found and with this the new Emperor was crowned.

Negotiations then commenced for Julian's recognition by Constantius, but they were haughtily rejected by the latter and a final rupture was brought about when the ambassador of Constantius was returned with a flat refusal of his terms. Julian then made a public declaration that he committed himself to the Immortal Gods, thus publicly renouncing the religion, as well as the friendship of Constantius, and started out with his Gaulish troops to Basel, where he divided his army into two divisions, sending one by one route and the other by another, he himself at the head of a small force of picked warriors plunging into the Black Forest after giving instructions to the two divisions to meet him at Sirmium. For many days nothing was heard of the Emperor and his band, but suddenly he emerged between Ratisbon and Vienna, siezed a flotilla of boats which happened to lie at anchor in the Danube, and after a passage of seven hundred miles, landed at a place nineteen miles from Sirmium in time to reach that town before his generals and before the enemy had learnt for certain that he had quitted the banks of the Rhine. The populace of Sirmium received him with open arms and two days were devoted to public rejoicings.

Constantius was apprised of the approach of his rival and started to meet him, but the excitement and annoyance threw him into a fever, and he died at a little place near Tarsus on the 3rd of November 361, leaving Julian in undisputed possession of the Roman Empire.

The new Emperor made his triumphal entry into Constantinople on the 11th of December and at once set about his imperial duties with an intensity which barely left him time to eat his frugal meals. Whenever the affairs of state allowed of it he retired into his study and applied himself to the writing of his Misopogon, his Caesars and his many other literary productions.

Julian's short reign is memorable for his honest attempts at reform, his fanatical endeavour to restore the old pagan religion and his war with Persia in which he lost his life on the 26th of June 363. He was in the act of pursuing the Persians when, having dispensed with his armour on account of the heat, he was shot through the liver with an arrow.

At the present day Julian is perhaps best known for his so-called apostasy. Naturally he has received the execration of Christians, but it is only fair to remember the Christianity which presented itself to him — an incessant wrangle of theories and speculations by men whose lives belied the possession of any virtuous impulse.

The bronze coinage of Julian presents many interesting varieties, some of them being of considerable rarity and value. In this reign we meet with a large brass coin bearing an excellent portrait of the Emperor on the obverse, and a bull — possibly the bull Apis — on the reverse. There is also an exceedingly interesting series of bronze quinarii having allusion to Egyptian deities. These coins are now scarce and much sought after.

The head of the Emperor appears bare, with the diadem, and also helmeted, and sometimes bearded and sometimes not. His name reads IVLIANVS or FL IVLIANVS or FL CL IVLIANVS, sometimes preceded by IMP and sometimes by D N, and with the title Augustus or Nobilissimus Caesar.

Mr. Percy H. Webb in the Numismatic Chronicle (Fourth Series No. 39) points out that the coins of Julian may be divided into three classes corresponding with three periods of his reign.

I. Coins bearing a boyish clean-shaven bust with the title Caesar, which may be assigned to the period from the 6th of November 355 when he obtained the title of Caesar, till April or May 360 when he was acclaimed Augustus by the Army.

II. Coins bearing a diademed bust of a young man, generally clean-shaven, but sometimes with a slight beard, and the title Augustus, covering the period from 360 to the death of Constantius on 3 November 361.

III. Coins bearing a full-bearded bust with the title Augustus, and probably the whole of the series dedicated to Egyptian deities, 3 November 361 to the end of the reign.

Mr. Webb adds that the coins with the slight beard are scarce. He gives cogent reasons for questioning the correctness of regarding the bull appearing on the large brass as the bull Apis and regards the series dedicated to Egyptian deities as an unauthorized issue of the Alexandrian mint.

In the following lists a departure has been made from Cohen, who distributes the Egyptian series between Julian, Julian with Helena, and Helena, and incorporates the first in the list of the Emperor's coins. The head of Serapis on many of the pieces is almost certainly intended to bear the features of the Emperor and it is not improbable that the features of Isis were intended to represent those of his Empress, but that they really do resemble those of Helena is extremely unlikely, and in no case are they accompanied by her name. No authentic portrait of the Empress exists with which to compare them and, as Mr. Webb points out, Helena died some time before Julian's paganism was proclaimed. The marriage was a political one and there is no reason to suppose the existence of such devotion to his somewhat elderly wife during her life and to her memory after her death as would have induced him to commemorate her on a special series of coins. He never mentions her in his writings and she had no special connection with Egypt. The most that can be said in support of the attribution to Helena is that the issuers of the coins, whoever they may have been, while giving the features of the Emperor to Serapis imparted to Isis what they conceived to be those of the Empress. It must be borne in mind that the issue of this Egyptian series is not entirely peculiar to the reign of Julian. We meet with them as early as Constantine the Great and as late as Valentinian II.

REVIEWS.

CATALOGO DELLA RACCOLTA GERVASI.

Monete di Zecche meridionali :

Avv. Memmo Cagiati, Naples.

Our indefatigable collaborator, Avv. Memmo Cagiati, has launched into yet another numismatic publication, connected with the series of coins which he has made his life study.

The present catalogue, of which we have received the first 24 pages, describes 553 coins of the Mint of Naples, dating from a Follaro of Duke Stephen to the copper coins of Ferdinand II of the Two-Sicilies. Each single coin being priced, the collector will henceforward possess a guide enabling him to judge of the individual varieties of his coins.

We must hope that the sales from this catalogue will compensate the author for the outlay incurred in its publication.

CORRESPONDENCE.

DI UN TETRADRAMMO SIRACUSANO DI EUCLEIDA.

N.C., 1921, col. 312.

Napoli 8 ott. 1921.

Nella Numismatic Circular (July-August) leggo la recensione, ch'ella gentilmente ha voluto fare del mio articolo: "Di un tetradrammo di Siracusa di Euclide" pubblicato nel Bollettino del Circolo Numismatico Napoletano 1921, fas. I. In essa Ella ha creduto di aggiungere al numero dei tetradrammi, da me illustrati un altro esemplare, riportato dal Cat. Egger. 7 Gen. 1908, N° 109. A me pare, egregio Amico, ch'Ella sia incorsa in un equivoco. Quest' altro esemplare, da Lei aggiunto, per quanto possa fare buona compagnia a quelli, da me studiati, e vantarne magari la paternità, non può affatto esserne fratello germano. È chiaro che nel mio articoletto, reclamando io la euclidean paternità per un tetradrammo pubblicato dall' Orsi, illustrava altri esemplari, sin allora sconosciuti e identici a questo, sia nel diritto, sia nel rovescio; citando altresì quelli enumerati dal Tudeer. Io trattava quindi di esemplari identici, e solo notava che in alcuni di essi non si leggeva la firma.

Quello, ch' Ella vuole aggiungere a questa eletta schiera di fratelli germani, è di ben altro conio ed esce quindi, quasi vorrei dire, dalla tesi del mio articoletto. Ne cito le principali differenze: la testa della dea è più piccola; più lungo è il collo; l'orecchino è a due pendenti lunati (anziché ad uno con 5 fiocchetti) e del tutto diverso è il rincorressi dei delfini. La quadriga poi e l'auriga sono notevolmente diverse.

Vi ritorni su, ottimo amico, e, se mai creda che io mal non mi apponga, La prego di chiarire l'equivoco.

Mi creda con la massima stima dev. e affmo.

Mons. Giuseppe DE CICCIO.

OBITUARY.

THE MARQUESS OF MILFORD HAVEN.

We much regret to announce that Admiral of the Fleet the Marquess of Milford Haven, formerly known as Prince Louis of Battenberg, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at 1.30, at his chambers, 42, Half Moon-street, W., from heart failure, following influenza, aged 67.

Lord Milford Haven had been on a visit to Scotland, and when he returned to London on Saturday Lady Milford Haven and Princess Alice were at an hotel about to leave for Paris. Feeling unwell, though suffering only, as he thought, from a chill, he asked that they should defer departure and go to see him. They did so, and a doctor was called in. Lady Milford Haven left, but returned in about an hour and a half. At the time of Lord Milford Haven's death only the housekeeper was present. She had just previously taken him a little soup and toast, which he began to eat. Shortly afterwards she went back to the room and found him dead. He was clasping in one hand a silver cross, attached to a gold neck chain, which he was in the habit of wearing.

Lord Milford Haven will always be known affectionately to the Navy as "Prince Louis". As Prince Louis Alexander of Battenberg he entered its service on October 3, 1868, and under the same name he ceased its active duties when he laid down his office of First Sea Lord on October 29, 1914. Some three weeks ago, on August 22, we announced that the King had approved his promotion, as a special case, to the rank of Admiral of the Fleet on the Retired List, to date August 4, 1921, "in recognition of his exceptional services as First Sea Lord, both before and after the outbreak of the late war".

Although descended from the Grand Ducal House of Hesse, with immediate ancestors who had fought brilliantly both for Russia and for Austria, Lord Milford Haven was the very pattern of the best class of British officer. A high-minded and high-principled gentleman, he gave his life whole-heartedly to the service of the British Crown. He filled every rank and office with dignity and success. "Nihil tetigit quod non ornavit". With a mind which looked backward he loved the past of the Navy, knew its history, and revelled in its medallic memorials and antiquities, and with a mind that looked forward he entered into the scientific side of his profession, welcomed everything that led onward to the new Navy of to-day and to-morrow, made himself a master of naval strategy and tactics, and proved himself capable in the handling of fleets and of administering the affairs of the Navy. He held its highest office with admirable and loyal judgement and at a very critical time. He was a student and a scholar and, at the same time, a man of decision and action. Accomplished in the knowledge of languages, he knew more of the history and character of European peoples than most men. He loved the arts, had high musical tastes, and his grave and handsome face half revealed and yet half hid the qualities of a warm-hearted personality.

By Royal Warrant of July 14, 1917, at the request of his Majesty, the Admiral relinquished the style and title of Serene Highness and Prince, and assumed, for himself and his descendants, the surname of Mountbatten, and was raised to the peerage of the United Kingdom as Marquess of Milford Haven, Earl of Medina, and Viscount Alderney. He was made a member of the Privy Council in 1914, G.C.B. (military) in 1921, G.C.V.O. in 1901, K.C. M.G. in 1905, and was honoured with the grant of very many foreign Orders. He had married, in 1884, Princess Victoria, daughter of the Grand Duke Louis IV. of Hesse, and of Princess Alice, daughter of Queen Victoria. His sons are the Earl of Medina, a naval officer, who was present at the Battle of Jutland, and who married the daughter of the Grand Duke Michael and the Countess Torby, and Lord Louis Mountbatten, also an officer of the Navy, who took part in the Great War. His daughter is the wife of Prince Andrew of Greece. The Earl of Medina has a son, Viscount Alderney, born in 1919.

The Marquess, as he was now called, retired from the active list of the Navy in 1918, and, in the same year, was Rede Lecturer at Cambridge, of which he was LL.D. (honoris causa), his subject being the changes which had passed over the Navy between two wars, one of which ended in 1815 and the other began in 1914. After his retirement he devoted himself more closely to the subject which had been the "hobby" of his life, and produced in 1919 a magnificent folio volume, choicely printed and illustrated, entitled "British Naval Medals", dealing with commemorative medals, naval rewards, war medals, naval tokens, and portrait medallions. He was also the author of an interesting book, "Men-of-War Names, their Meaning and Origin", first published in 1897, and republished with many additions. In 1909, under the initials "L.A.B.", he issued an excellent translation from the Russian of that moving story of war at sea, Semenoff's "Rasplata" (The Reckoning). He was a member of the Royal Numismatic Society, the British Numismatic Society, and of many like societies in foreign countries. When the Navy Records Society was founded he became a member of its council, and he was president of the Society for Nautical Research from the beginning. The Marquess was a member of many learned societies, an Elder Brother of the Trinity House, a Knight of Justice of St. John of Jerusalem, Governor of the Dreadnought Seamen's Hospital, and president of the Seamen's Hospital Society.

From The Times, Monday, Sept. 12th 1921.

It will be within the recollection of our readers that the Collection of British Naval Medals formed by the late Marquess was sold at Sotheby's on July 24th and 25th, 1919; and the Foreign Naval Medals on November 21st of the same year. As we go to press the publication of the first volume of his work on "Foreign Naval Medals" is announced.

HENRI HUGUENIN

Le bon médailleur Henri Huguenin a été enlevé brutalement par l'affreuse grippe, à l'âge de quarante et un ans seulement, le 4 mars 1920.

L'art délicat de la médaille fait en lui une grande perte, car la Suisse romande comptait le défunt au nombre de ses meilleurs artistes; non pas la Suisse romande seulement, nos Confédérés avaient, eux aussi, reconnu la valeur du médailleur loclois, et, depuis longtemps, son nom dépassait les limites de son canton d'origine.

Encore sur les bancs de l'École des Arts Industriels à Genève, Henri Huguenin avait débuté par la médaille du « Cinquantenaire neuchâtelois de 1898 », qui fit remarquer le jeune artiste. A Paris, où il se rendit ensuite, et où il travailla beaucoup, il subit l'influence heureuse des grands médailleurs français, de Ponscarne surtout, dont il fut l'élève.

L'un des Directeurs des ateliers de frappe et de décoration Niel (Huguenin frères), au Locle, le défunt avait contribué pour une large part au développement et au succès toujours croissant de cette maison. A signaler, parmi les médailles dues à son burin, celle de J.-P. Droz, d'une technique savante, réduite en un jeton charmant, offert à la Société suisse de Numismatique en 1902; la médaille pour la Fête fédérale de gymnastique, à Berne, robuste et d'une belle mise en page; celle pour l'inauguration du monument de Morgarten, avec son pâtre solidement campé; les médailles du « Centenaire neuchâtelois de 1915 » et de l'Hôtel de Ville du Locle, qui donnèrent à l'artiste beaucoup de peine et de soucis.

Les nombreuses plaquettes célébrant l'enfant, les unes très poussées, les autres simples esquisses, sont toutes extraordinairement expansives et gracieuses; elles marquent la portée capitale de son œuvre.

Artiste jusqu'aux fibres les plus intimes de son âme, Henri Huguenin, cependant, avait su se plier au génie, — et aux nécessités, — de l'Art industriel.

Un labeur industriel presque écrasant n'avait pas empêché cet artiste délicat de trouver le temps de se consacrer à l'art tout court. Il exposa, avec succès, à maintes reprises. De séjours en Savoie, et au bord de la Méditerranée, en 1913 et 1912, il avait rapporté une série d'études remarquables, qui fixent, pour l'artiste, une époque d'épanouissement. C'est de ce moment aussi que datent ses études d'animaux (coq, lion, taureau). Huguenin était également l'auteur de ravissantes statuette, entre autres une « Tête de fillette » (au Musée du Locle), « La petite sœur », etc.

Comme le dit fort bien un journaliste romand, « il semblerait qu'Henri Huguenin ait en quelque sorte pressenti sa fin prématurée, et voulu vivre en peu de temps le maximum de bonheur intime. Il adorait les siens intensément et consacra à sa famille le meilleur de son cœur. Cela nous a valu des « Maternité » et des portraits d'enfants d'une délicatesse de touche digne des meilleurs maîtres français. Il nous souvient aussi avoir admiré, dans l'exposition d'Henri Huguenin, un portrait de son cher père, sur son lit de mort. Quelle sérénité dans les traits énergiques de celui qui venait d'entrer dans l'au-delà, mais aussi quelle fervente piété filiale dans l'expression plastique d'une figure bien-aimée ! Hélas ! Henri Huguenin aura suivi de près dans la tombe, celui que son ardente vénération lui a fait immortaliser dans le bronze. Il sera du moins de ceux dont on peut dire que leurs œuvres impérissables sont un témoignage constant d'une vie exemplaire de labeur, de bonté, d'amour et de beauté.

Caractéristique excellente, à laquelle il serait superflu, en vérité, d'ajouter quoi que ce soit.

Disons en terminant que l'on projetait d'organiser une exposition rétrospective des œuvres de l'artiste trop tôt enlevé ; elle a eu lieu dès lors.

La dernière œuvre d'Henri Huguenin est la très belle plaquette qu'il exécuta pour la Société suisse de surveillance économique et qui met en un relief saisissant l'œuvre féconde accomplie par cette Société en faveur du ravitaillement de la Suisse durant la guerre mondiale.

Voir le beau volume intitulé : Société suisse de surveillance économique, 1915-1919. Tableau de son activité. Berne, 1920. Un beau et fort volume de 226 pages, illustré : Lausanne, Imprimeries réunies.

Nous donnons ci-dessous des détails plus précis sur cette plaquette.

LA PLAQUETTE S. S. S.

La S.S.S. (Société Suisse de Surveillance Économique), institution née des circonstances créées par la guerre, a tenu, avant de disparaître, à faire frapper une plaquette d'art destinée à être remise en souvenir aux personnalités (magistrats, fonctionnaires) qui ont collaboré à son activité.

Cette plaquette au module de 7 × 12 cm. constitue un travail particulièrement remarquable. L'exécution en a été confiée à l'établissement artistique : Huguenin Frères & C^{ie}, au Locle ; la composition et la partie sculpturale furent la dernière œuvre du très regretté Médailleur Henri Huguenin.

L'avvers rappelle l'activité de la S.S.S. dans son rôle de distributrice des produits que les Alliés envoyaient à la Suisse pour son ravitaillement. Une belle figure de femme personifie la S.S.S., le regard confiant dirigé sur les Emblèmes des quatre puissances participant à la S.S.S., desquels s'échappent les épis de blé ; elle préside à la répartition du ravitaillement, dans une attitude gracieuse et bien équilibrée, d'un geste l'acceptant, de l'autre le distribuant.

Un sentiment poétique, beaucoup de lisibilité caractérisent cette belle composition.

Le Revers tient tout dans une inscription de belle ordonnance, où le nom du destinataire est frappé en relief, comme le reste du texte.

Il a été frappé de cette intéressante plaquette :

26 exemplaires en argent destinés au Conseillers Fédéraux, Membres de l'Assemblée Générale, Directeurs.

18 exemplaires bronze pour les fonctionnaires supérieurs.

1 exemplaire en a été déposé au Médailleur du Musée National suisse à Zurich.

YORKSHIRE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

Presentation to Mr. T. Sheppard.

The 12th Annual Meeting of the Society was held in the Leeds University, the President (Mr. J. F. Musham, F. E. S.) in the Chair.

The Hon. Sec. read the Annual Report giving an account of the work of the Society during the past session which was adopted together with the Balance Sheet as presented by the Hon. Treasurer.

The following were elected as Officers and Council for the new session: —

President: Mr. J. F. Musham, F. E. S. (Selby).

Vice-Presidents: Messrs. J. E. Bedford, F. G. S. (Leeds) and F. Varley (Sherburn).

Hon. Editor: Mr. T. Sheppard, M. Sc. (Hull).

Hon. Treasurer: Mr. A. Rider (Hull).

Hon. Sec. Mr. J. Digby Firth (Leeds).

Council: Messrs. Brigg, Edwards, Croft, Crowther, Charlesworth, Heeley and Mackay.

The retiring officers were thanked for their services during the past session.

An interesting item in the proceedings was the presentation of the Society's first "Annual Medal" the recipient being Mr. T. Sheppard, M. Sc. of Hull. In making the presentation the President stated it would be superfluous on his part to enlarge on the many and varied qualifications of Mr. Sheppard who, with an ever pleasant smile and kind word to all who approached him for information, coupled with his unique amiability in acquiring all and sundry towards enriching one of their county museums over which he was the able curator, had enlivened their meetings and infused a zest at all times rare. As a Society, they were deeply indebted to Mr. Sheppard, who has been, and it was hoped would long continue to be, one of their chief supporters. Mr. Sheppard was a foundation member, a past president and had been editor of their "Transactions" since they were first issued. He had constantly helped the Society at its meetings by interesting Yorkshire exhibits and by the reading of numerous papers, most of which contained original matter. The President referred to Mr. Sheppard's many contributions to the study of numismatics. Messrs. Sykes, Pickersgill, Firth and other members also spoke in support of the presentation.

In his reply Mr. Sheppard said how deeply he felt the honour which the Society had conferred upon him in considering he was worthy of the first "Annual Medal". He said his connexion with the society had been a proud one and had resulted in many valuable additions being made to the list of his personal friends. He was particularly gratified to receive the medal from the hands of the President whose numismatic enthusiasm probably exceeded that of any other member to the great advantage of the museums over which he (Mr. Sheppard) presided.

The presentation medal was in silver.

Obv. Society's Crest.

Rev. "First Annual medal presented to Mr. T. Sheppard, M. Sc., F. G. S. F. S. A. (Scot.) by the Yorkshire Numismatic Society for valuable services rendered and for his researches in Yorkshire Numismatics, 1920".

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with the examination and description of a large and varied selection of interesting exhibits brought by members.

The President showed a series of coins of some of the later Grand Masters of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem at Malta, a number of 17th Century traders tokens and other items of interest. Mr. Sykes exhibited some rare Yorkshire Commemorative Medals. Mr. T. Pickersgill, Newark Siege pieces and a number of pattern Silver Coins of the reign of Victoria &c.

Mr. Mackay, Paper money of German East Africa and a large Waterloo Medal issued in 1861 of which he gave an interesting account.

Mr. T. Sheppard showed a silver box which originally held the freedom of the city of Kingston-upon-Hull. This had been presented to Capt. Piercy of H. M. S. "Countess of Scarborough" for his gallant defence of the Baltic Fleet in the engagement with Paul Jones, Sept. 23 1779.

Mr. A. Rider described a fine series of German satirical and other medals issued during the late war and Mr. C. Edwards, F. R. N. S. the rare Dunbar silver medal engraved by Simon. The Honorary Secretary had on view a selection of German money of necessity.

J. DIGBY FIRTH.

Hon. Sec.

AUSTRALIAN NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.

A meeting was held in the Society's room the 26th of May, the Hon. John Lane Mullins, M.L.C., being in the Chair.

After formal business the Chairman read a paper on 'Some French War Medallions'.

The Author drew attention to the difference between the exquisite softness of the treatment of the subjects of the French examples without any sacrifice of perfection of modelling as compared with the heavier, more emphatic, and yet less artistically modelled German impression, and the more mechanical perfection of even the best English examples of die struck medals.

Although never obtruded, Mr. Lane Mullins' connection as a Trustee of the National Art Gallery, evidently prompted his appreciative remarks on the value of the study of these examples of the placing of mass, purity of outline, perspective delicacy of modelling, and wonderful fidelity of portraiture even on such a confined surface as in some of the smaller Medals exhibited.

The paper was throughout prompted by a deep appreciation of the artistic excellence of modern French Medallistic Art.

Ten examples were selected from a very much larger collection, but the meeting found it difficult to discriminate as to which individual taste would place as premier choice from such all round excellence. The finer sentiments of national life will never find fitter depiction than in these exquisite records.

(1) 'Alsace' by G. Prudhomme. (2-3) 'To the Ladies of the Red Cross' and 'Battle of the Yser' by H. Allouard. (4) 'Honour to Devotion' by P. Aube. (5-6-7) 'Battle of the Marne'. 'Preparation for War' and 'To the glory of the Allies' by J. P. Legastelois. (8) 'Verdun' the 'on ne passe pas' medal by Ch. Pillet. (9) 'Victims of the War' by H. Lamourdedieu. (10) 'America joins the Allies' by René Gregoire all in Bronze.

Discussion followed as to the methods of reproduction and patination in which Messrs. Rendall, Gullick, Larsen and Priestley took part.

A small but interesting exhibit of the Silver Coins of Queen Anne by Messrs. P. Larsen (5/- to 1 d. inclusive) E. Wills, (5/- to 6 d. inclusive) and C.B. Hillman (2/6 Edinburgh 1/- Vigo) formed a feature of the evening and was remarkable for the extremely fine condition of all the coins exhibited.

A meeting of the above Society was held at the Society's room, Education Buildings, Bridge Street, Sydney, on the 23rd of June, the Hon. John Lane Mullins, Vice-President, being in the Chair.

After the formal business the Chairman called upon Mr. W.A. Drury to read his paper entitled "Barter and Currency in West and Central Africa" which was followed by one by Mr. H.E. Parkes, entitled, "Black money and counters in Currency":

A short discussion followed both the papers. The special exhibits, were as usual of much interest.

- Seven specimens are known of this coin: (1) Kircheria-num; (2) Meynaert-Greau; (3) Berlin Mus.; (4) British Museum; (5) Weber (this coin); (6) Kircherianum; (7) Dans le commerce (Rome, 1920).

T. Louis Comparette, Aes Signatum, New York, 1919, disputes Haebler's attribution of these Bars, and suggests Venusia as the issue mint of the type described above. He is inclined to believe that it was produced by private enterprise soon after the political events of B.C. 279, and commemorates the conclusion of an Offensive and Defensive League between Rome and Carthage against Pyrrhus.

CONTORNIATES.

Pieces the size of medallions but with certain peculiar characteristics; a) I though of the size, they are less in weight and relief than the medallions; b) the edge is turned and therefore quite circular (this is never the case with coins or medallions); c) an incised trench all round the piece near the edge on both sides forms a frame to the type. It is generally agreed that they were not used as money, and the absence of historical records leaves a good opening to numismatists to debate on their use and origin. They probably had some connection with the games.

EDWARD I.

Edward I was in Palestine at the time of his father's death in 1272. The money struck under the new administration until 1279 was of the long-cross type and continued to bear the name of Henry III. These coins are distinguished by Edwardian type of hair and crown. Vide "The Long Cross Coinage of Henry III and Edward I", by L.A. Lawrence: Classes VI and VII. GEORGE IV.

Gold.

- 99104 Proof Set, 1826, in original case. Gold: £5, £2, £1, 10/-.
Silver: 5/-, 2/6, 1/-, 6 d. Copper: 1 d., 1/2 d., and 1/4 d.
Brilliant and beautifully toned. F. D. C. 25 " "
99105 Similar, as brilliant but not so much toned. F. D. C. 22 10 "
99106 Pattern Two Pounds, 1825, by W. Wyon. Obv. GEORGIUS IV DEI GRATIA. Bare head of the King, to left, neck also bare; below, the date 1825 between two small floral stops.
R. BRITANNIARUM REX FID: DEF: Crowned shield of arms upon a mantle of ermine. Edge, plain. Very rare with this edge, a perfect coin from the Montagu Cabinet. F. D. C. 8 10 "
99107 Proof Half Sovereign, 1821, by Pistrucci. Edge, grained. A perfect example of this rare coin, which was recalled the same year. F. D. C. 3 " "
99108 Proof Half Sovereign, 1825, by Wyon. Edge, plain. F. D. C. 2 10 "
99109 Proof Half Sovereign, 1826, by Wyon. Edge grained. The Marshall, Brice, Montagu and Murdoch specimen. F. D. C. 1 10 " 99110 Similar, but no pedigree. F. D. C. 1 5 "

Silver.

- 99111 Proof Crown, 1821, by Pistrucci. Edge, — SECVNDO. F. D. C. 1 15 " 99112 Proof Crown, 1822. Similar. Edge, — TERTIO. Very rare of this date as a proof and from the Wakeford and Montagu collections. Finely toned. F. D. C. 2 5 " 99113 Pattern Crown, 1826, by Wyon. Type as the current half-crown of this date. Beautifully toned. Rare. F. D. C. 2 10 "
99114 Similar not toned. F. D. C. 2 " "
99115 Proof Halfcrown, 1820, by Pistrucci. With artist's initials beneath bust. Edge, grained. F. D. C. 1 " "
99116 Proof Halfcrown, 1821. Similar. F. D. C. " 15 "
99117 Proof Halfcrown, 1824, by Wyon. Edge, grained. F. D. C. 1 10 "
99118 Proof Halfcrown, 1825, by Wyon. Last issue. Edge, grained. From the J. K. Ford and Montagu collections (We originally paid Mr. Montagu £5 for this coin); exceptionally rare with this edge. F. D. C. 3 " "
99119 Similar but plain edge. Rare proof. F. D. C. 2 " "
99120 Proof Halfcrown, 1826. Similar. Edge, grained.

Patterns for the Gold Coinage struck in lead.

- 99129 Two pounds (1823), by Merlin obverse only. Proof of the obverse of the well-known two pound piece of this date, before the artist's initials were added, and with single stops only after the abbreviated words of the legend. A curious and interesting piece, believed to be unique. The edge slightly broken, otherwise perfect. E. F. " 15 "

- 99130 Sovereign, 1821. Proof by the artist of the reverse only and exhibiting the central dot which nearly all Pistrucci's early proofs have. The grained border is also unusually pronounced. Unique. From Pistrucci's own collection. E. F. " 15 "
99131 Another, similar, but struck incusely and before the artist's initials were added. A remarkable proof by the artist of his unfinished die. Unique, and from Pistrucci's own collection. The horse and its rider are of course turned to left. F. D. C. " 17 6
99132 Another, similar, but struck, as usual, in relief. The date, however, is omitted or more probably has yet to be added. This piece omits the toothed border usually present and only gives the lined circumference of the coin. A unique pattern from Pistrucci's own collection. E. F. " 15 "
99136 Sovereign, undated, reverse only. A unique pattern by Pistrucci. Both St. George and the horse are differently treated, the horse's off hind-leg scarcely visible, the design struck upon a large flan, the outline of the coin shown by four concentric lines. A remarkable piece from the artist's own collection. E. F. " 15 "
99137 Sovereign, undated, by Pistrucci. A remarkable and unique pattern by this great artist, most distinctive but unfinished. Depicting very small figures of St. George and the horse, the former holding, not his short sword as usual, but a spear, broken off about the centre. The detached portion however is not shown upon the ground in the present coin. The horse's tail is extremely short, and there is scarcely any ground, thus almost eliminating the usual exergue. An exceedingly interesting piece of work from Pistrucci's own collection. Unique. F. D. C. 1 5 "

Patterns and Proofs of the Silver Coinage struck in Copper.

- 99138 Crown, 1821, by Pistrucci. Obv. GEORGIUS IIII D: G: BRITANNIAR: REX F: D: fine, laureated head by Pistrucci to left, the artist's initials B. P. beneath. R. St. George combating the Dragon; in the exergue, 1821 and B. P.; edge, plain. Of extraordinary rarity as these were struck by Pistrucci himself to prove his dies: only three are in existence. RRR. F. D. C. 8 8 " 99139 Crown, 1821 (?) Reverse only, from the die of Pistrucci's famous Pattern of 1820 which depicts St. George's helmet with a streamer of horsehair (See Marshall, p. 150, no. 22). The streamer has been partially erased by Pistrucci, but its course is still plainly visible: he has also erased the last numeral of the date (presumably O) from the die so that the date now reads 182 only; edge, plain. A most remarkable and interesting piece from the great artist's own collection. Only one other known. RRR. F. D. C. 6 6 "
99140 Crown (?) 1828, by D. Uhlhorn. Obv. As the reverse of the pattern crown by W. Wyon of 1826. R. FÜR LONDON, 1828. In centre, an eagle with outspread wings within a circle; edge, inscribed DECUS. & C. ANNO REGNI SEPTIMO. This curious and rare pattern, together with the following two pieces, are the result of the commission granted by the Royal Mint, London, to D. Uhlhorn in the year 1828 to test the working of his improved coining press which was adopted by both the Mints of London and Berlin the same year. This specimen is much rarer than some others and may be unique. F. D. C. 1 15 "
99141 Crown (?) 1828, by D. Uhlhorn. Obv. ZUM PROBIEN DES PRAEGEWERKES * Bust of Frederic William III of Prussia with a circle. R. 1828, FÜR LONDON. Eagle, as before; edge, DECUS & C. as before. R. F. D. C. 1 10 "
99142 Crown (?) 1828. Obv. 1828. FÜR LONDON, eagle, displayed, as before. R. In four lines ZUM | PROBIEN | DES | PRAEGEWERKES edge, inscribed as before. A rare variety. R. F. D. C. 1 10 "
99143 Crown (?) 1828, by Thos. Halliday. Obv. GEORGIUS IIII D. G. BRITANNIARUM REX F. D. Head, bare, to left, of the King; beneath T. H. F. R. In four lines within a wreath A SPECIMEN | OF IMPROVEMENT | IN THE ART OF | COINING; edge, TO FACILITATE LEGAL COINING AND DETER FROM FGERY. 1828. A beautiful piece, in most perfect condition and finely toned. RR. F. D. C. 1 5 "
99144 Crown (?) 1828, by Thos. Halliday. Obv. exactly as Obv. of the preceding. R. In three lines, within a wreath, PATRON | OF THE | ARTS; edge, plain. A fine piece. R. F. D. C. 1 1 "

Struck in Lead or Tin.

- 99145 Crown (?) undated, by Merlin (?) Obv. GEORGIUS IIII D: G: BRITANNIAR: REX F: D: Large finely executed bust of the King to left, uncrowned. R. No legend. The Royal Arms with supporters, lambrequins and Motto of the Garter; all beneath; edge plain. An interesting pattern in superb condition. RR. F. D. C. 1 1 " 99146 Crown (?) undated; exactly as the preceding pattern, but the initial letter is omitted beneath the shield on reverse. In most brilliant state. RR. F. D. C. 1 1 "

Struck in Copper Gilt.

- 99147 Halfcrown, 1824. Obverse only, by W. Wyon. GEORGIUS

IV DEI GRATIA. 1824. Bust to left, head bare; edge, plain. A brilliant piece, of extraordinary rarity of this date, from the late L.C. Wyon's mint collection. Only two are known. No specimen was known to the late Mr. Montagu. RRR. F. D. C. 3 » »

Struck in Copper.

- 99148 Halfcrown, 1824, by W. Wyon. Type etc. exactly as the Halfcrown in Silver (No. 32265) of the same date. Of highest rarity in this metal: none were known to the late Mr. Montagu. Only two specimens believed to exist. RRR. E. F. 4 4 »
- 99149 Halfcrown, 1826. Obv. as the preceding, but of inferior work. w beneath the bust. R. Broad engine-turned border enclosing roses. A curious piece, apparently the essay of some unknown artist. Unique (?). E. F. » 15 »

Proofs of the Copper Coinage.

- 99150 Mint Set, comprising Proof Penny, Halfpenny and Farthing, 1826, by W. Wyon. Brilliant preservation. Perhaps the most beautifully finished and struck pieces in bronzed copper ever turned out by the Royal Mint. Price for the set of 3. S. F. D. C. » 17 6
- 99151 Proof Penny, 1826, bronzed. S. F. D. C. » 8 6
- 99152 Proof Penny, 1826, unbronzed. R. F. D. C. » 12 6

- 99453 Naval Victoria Cross Group. Stoker W^m Johnstone 1854. Victoria Cross. Baltic Medal 1854-55. RR. V. F. 95 » »
- During the operations in the Baltic Sea information was obtained that despatches were about to be landed on the island of Wardo and forwarded to Bomarsund. Lieutenant Bythessa and STOKER JOHNSTONE landed and hid themselves for three days and nights, August 9-12, 1854, when they successfully intercepted the mail, taking its guard prisoner. Although offered and advised to take more men to accompany him in his daring enterprise, Lieut. Bythessa determined to go alone with JOHNSTONE, a larger party being more likely to attract attention and lead to failure. All arrangements being made the two were landed in a remote bay whence they made their way to a farm, JOHNSTONE entering into conversation with the farmer, being able to talk Swedish. Owing to the Russians having commandeered all his horses for war purposes, thereby preventing him from gathering his crops the farmer was only too willing to serve the Englishmen and offered them hospitality. Little by little they gleaned scraps of information, and when Bythessa referred to the mails, asking if they were valuable, their host replied that in all probability they were of considerable consequence to the Russians, seeing that they had repaired nine miles of road to enable them to be conveyed along it.
- Shortly after this, the enemy becoming suspicious, a close search was made of all the neighbourhood, the farmhouse itself being subjected to a very close scrutiny, but, disguised as natives, Bythessa and JOHNSTONE excited no suspicion.
- On one or two occasions, when Russians were about, they got into a small boat and anchored about half a mile off the coast, cautiously returning after dusk. On the morning of August 12 the farmer informed his guests that the mail had arrived and would be sent to the fort that night adding that great caution must be exercised as it was known to the Russians that someone from our fleet had landed. As soon as night fell, the two embarked in a small boat, changing into a larger and more serviceable one which was found on the way, and by midnight had arrived at the position they had chosen.

Landing very quietly at a point near the road, they went towards it, and had hardly taken up their respective positions when the men with the mails were upon them, Bythessa being concealed so close to the road that one of them almost touched him. JOHNSTONE, who was a few yards away in the direction in which they were making, jumped out into the road, putting his pistol to the head of the foremost man, Bythessa doing the same to one of the others. Taken so completely by surprise and imagining that the attacking party was much larger, they offered no resistance, and were promptly disarmed and bundled into the boat within a minute. The oars were given them and they were ordered to row, Bythessa steering, Johnstone sitting in the bows, both with their pistols ready. Telling the men that the first who stopped rowing would be shot, in a short time they reached their ship, handing the prisoners over to the guard and sending the valuable despatches to Sir Charles Napier and afterwards to General D'Hilliers, who wrote a very flattering letter to Bythessa's Commander, later on writing to Bythessa himself in acknowledgment of his and JOHNSTONE'S brave and invaluable action.

- 99563 SILVER-GILT DEFENCE OF KHARTOUM. ISSUED TO OFFICERS &c. BY GENERAL GORDON. RR. F. 18 » »
- The British Government having decided to abandon the Soudan, General Gordon C.B., R.E., of Chinese celebrity and who had been Governor of the equatorial provinces of Africa, under the Khedive, was sent to Khartoum to withdraw the Egyptian garrison from the country, and to make the best arrangement he could for its future government. . . . But General Gordon soon found that his mission to carry out the evacuation of the Soudan by the Egyptian garrison, numbering about thirty thousand men, was impracticable. In March, the whole country south of Berber declared for the Mahdi. . . . On December the 14th Gordon wrote in his diary. "Now mark this: If the Expeditionary Force — and I ask no more than 200 men — does not come in ten days, the town may fall and I have done my best for the honour of our country. Good bye. . . " Information was soon received that on the night of January 26th the place had fallen through treachery and the heroic Gordon, with many of his followers, had perished. . . Khartoum had fallen after a noble defence of over ten months, maintained by the pluck and endurance of a single Englishman, who scorned to desert his post, and the efforts and lives of his countrymen who bravely struggled in the face of countless perils and difficulties to effect his deliverance, were fruitlessly thrown away. As Gordon had written before, the expedition was "just too late".

 99586 Medals and relics of Colonel George Tovey, who joined the 20th Regt as Ensign in 1804 and served in the Regiment until 1837. He was the hero of the fight at Roncesvalles, and fought at Maida, Vimiera, Talavera, Vittoria, Pyrenees, St. Sebastian, Nivelle, Nive and Orthes : for which he received the Military General Service Medal with 9 bars for the above actions. With the medal are 3 miniatures of Colonel Tovey — two in uniforms of the 20th Foot and one in that of the 60th Foot — a silver-gilt snuff box, on the back of which is engraved "Maida 4th July 1806, Vimiera 21st Aug. 1808, Talavera 27th and 28th July 1809", and a Cross of the Legion of Honour of the 1st Napoleon, presumed to have been taken from one of the French officers who fell before Colonel Tovey at Roncesvalles. The Cross is somewhat knocked about but has the original riband and a gold buckle. The other relics are in fine condition, except one of the miniatures which the owner attempted to clean and destroyed part of the face, but the uniform was only touched a very little. The whole are mounted in a very handsome leather case, lined velvet. Sold.

SASSANIAN COINS

BY

WM. H. VALENTINE

"COPPER COINS OF INDIA".

The object of this work is to assist the numismatist in identifying and allocating any Sassanian coin he may possess. Every known work on this difficult subject has been consulted; but following M. Drouin's observation that any posterior work on the series must be founded on Mordtmann's essays combined with the plates of Bartholomaei, the author has laid heavy contribution on both and enriched it with remarks from Rawlinson. The result is remarkable, for by a little study any Sassanian coin can be at once attributed. The work is divided into three sections, viz: — Sassanian Kings, Arab Governors and Tabaristan Rulers; is illustrated by 80 coins drawn in the text; and accompanied with a reproduction of every known legend together with its transliteration and translation. Each type of coin is illustrated showing the distinctive head-dress of every ruler; and an alphabetical list of the mint abbreviations is included. These tables, together with those of the Pehlevi Alphabets and numerals the student will find of the utmost value and assistance in lifting this class of coin to the position to which it rightfully belongs.

Two hundred and fifty copies only are being printed, and early application should be made to Messrs. Spink and Son, Ltd., 17 and 18, Piccadilly, London. W. I.
